Organisational Capital Ahmed Bounfour, 2008-12-04 There is much debate as to how companies carry out their activities in the context of new information and communication technologies influencing organizations to decentralize and develop new managerial practises including outsourcing and networking. Recent theories have emphasized the importance of organization as a key component for building corporate competitive advantage and scholars have looked at this from a range of perspectives including in relation to intangible assets human capital work training and the process dimension. Yet the concept of organisational capital as such in spite of its indubitable relevance and attractiveness is still to be clarified until now. In this book the subject is approached in four ways. Firstly from an analytical perspective what is the status of organisational capital as a concept and how is it defined secondly from an ontological perspective what type of implicit orders can be designed and implemented around organisations thirdly from the measurement perspective what kind of frameworks and what type of metrics can be prototyped and finally the implementation perspective how should organizations integrate the organisational capital perspective in the definition and implementation of their strategies for resources allocation. The book provides the first multifaceted and international effort from a broad perspective aiming at clarifying the concept of organisational capital and determining its analytical and operational implications. Accelerating Transformation

Behnam Tabrizi,2005 This book describes a detailed process methodology for speeding innovation and thereby leading to a firm's transformation Anyone who is interested in managing under uncertainty and implementing fast and effective processes would be interested in reading this book The results presented in this book are based on several years of research examining 72 projects from 36 leading companies in United States Asia and Europe The methods described are adopted by many firms in the industry

New Food Product Development Holger York Toschka,2025-03-31 With a new subtitle to reflect its global perspective and a new author this book continues the mission of earlier editions to describe the stages of food development in detail beginning with sources of ideas and moving through development final screening and introduction into the marketplace Every chapter contains one or more case studies New chapters address the tools available for the food industry and manufacturers to select sharpen fine tune and support new food product launches More attention is given to the influence of global concerns about the deteriorating environment and here particularly the role and responsibility of the food industry and those working on new food products Key Features This edition adds the perspective from single product or product range development to the overall portfolio management This edition explains strategies for successful management of unpredictable uncertain and complex conditions in new food product development NFPD Chapters contain one or more case studies to add pedagogy for students and practical applications for professionals More focus is given to the role and responsibilities of research and development R D in innovation management Two chapters are used to predict the future direction for NFPD This book can serve as the core textbook for the capstone new food product development course typically found in the food science curriculum and is of equal value to early career food scientists finding themselves in a multidisciplinary team working on the creation of a new food product

Successful Implementation of Concurrent Engineering Products and Processes Sammy G. Shina,1993-12-16 This working guide shows how to put concurrent engineering principles into action using actual case examples from large and small companies The case study approach is augmented with detailed advice and techniques for measuring and analyzing product and process development data A must have reference for every designer and firm that plans or contemplates this efficient and profitable method

Competing Against Time George Stalk,1990-03-01 Today time is the cutting edge In fact as a strategic weapon contend George Stalk Jr and Thomas M Hout time is the equivalent of money productivity quality even innovation In this path breaking book based upon ten years of research the authors argue that the ways leading companies manage time in production in new product development and in sales and distribution represent the most powerful new sources of competitive advantage With many detailed examples from companies that have put time based strategies in place such as Federal Express Ford Milliken Honda Deere Toyota Sun Microsystems Wal Mart Citicorp Harley Davidson and Mitsubishi the authors describe exactly how reducing elapsed time can make the critical difference between success and failure Give customers what they want when they want it or the competition will Time based companies are offering greater varieties of products and services at lower costs and with quicker delivery times than their more pedestrian competitors Moreover the authors show that by refocusing their organizations on responsiveness companies are discovering that long held assumptions about the behavior of costs and customers are not true Costs do not increase when lead times are reduced they decline Costs do not increase with greater investment in quality they decrease Costs do not go up when product variety is increased and response time is decreased they go down And contrary to a commonly held belief that customer demand would be only marginally improved by expanded product choice and better responsiveness the authors show that the actual results have been an explosion in the demand for the product or service of a time sensitive competitor in most cases catapulting it into the most profitable segments of its markets With persuasive evidence Stalk and Hout document that time consumption like cost is quantifiable and therefore manageable Today s new generation companies recognize time as the fourth dimension of competitiveness and as a result operate with flexible manufacturing and rapid response systems and place extraordinary emphasis on R D and innovation Factories are close to the customers they serve Organizations are structured to produce fast responses rather than low costs and control Companies concentrate on reducing if not eliminating delays and using their response advantage to attract the most profitable customers Stalk and Hout conclude that virtually all businesses can use time as a competitive weapon In industry after industry they illustrate the processes involved in becoming a time based competitor and the ways managers can open and sustain a significant advantage over the competition

The Dynamics of Innovation Klaus Brockhoff, Alok K. Chakrabarti, Jürgen Hauschildt, 2013-03-09 Jorg Bensinger a group head of Audi corporation s R D department had been waiting for long to find a chance to advertise his idea of a four wheel drive for passenger cars to one of the board members Favorable experiences had been collected in drive tests with the Iltis a jeep like car developed for use in the German army The experiences showed extremely good performance on icy roads and in snow Bensinger's chance came in February of 1977 when he could talk to Ferdinand Piech then R D vice president of Audi and a technology buff At this time Audi wasn't quite considered as a technological leader in the public Technology based innovations were expected from Mercedes or Porsche by many customers Piech Ben singer and others sensed that introducing the four wheel drive to passenger cars could initiate a strategic change Under great secrecy development work and prototype construction were commissioned One obstacle seemed to be space requirements for the gear box Hans Nedvidek former race track engineer in the Mercedes team was assigned to the team and he developed an ingenious solution to the problem It took until September of 1977 until other board members were informed and after some rallying the board found a consensus in the next month to authorize further development steps for a four wheel drive car However Audi is a subsidiary of Volkswagen Corp The accord of the much bigger mother had to be secured

Network

Based High Speed Product Development Peter Lindgren,2022-09-01 In the first decade of the 21st century product development in networks was predicted to be of ever increasing importance to businesses of all sizes because of changes in markets in technology in networks and in the competences of Businesses The growth in new products share of businesses total turnover and earnings were increasing at an unprecedented speed The entrepreneurial innovations and technological improvements had resulted in the increasingly fast development of new products and services Businesses and industries in different countries became increasingly more linked and interdependent in networks with respect to materials business operations and particularly product development to match the wants and needs of the global market environment to high speed product development Businesses were therefore encountering increasingly dynamic market fragmentation shrinking time in market increasing product variety demands of production to customer specifications reduced product lifetimes and globalization of production Networks were vital because the competition is not business against business but network against network Networks are vital because an increasing part of product development was carried out in all types of networks containing physical ICT dynamic and virtual networks Speed and pressure on time in product development seemed to continue to increase because customer demands for new products seemed to continue to increase However a Business seldom possessed all needed competences and managers saw product development based on networks as an important solution to meet the strong competition of the future global markets and the strong demand for innovation and innovativeness The evolution of market demands and focus required on competencies of businesses could be characterized as a development from a focus on efficiency to a focus on quality and flexibility to a focus on speed and innovativeness This was why it was interesting and important to research and discuss product development and especially to understand high speed product development of individualized products in fragile market segments Consequently findings and learning on aspects like enablers management tools technological tools product development models product development processes and network tools to speed new product development are presented in this book
