The Boston Medical and Surgical Journal ,1899 Risk Taking and Decision Making ,1998-02 Risks are an integral part of complex high stakes decisions and decisionmakers are faced with the unavoidable tasks of assessing risks and forming risk preferences This is true for all decision domains including financial environmental and foreign policy domains among others How well decisionmakers deal with risk affects to a considerable extent the quality of their decisions This book provides the most comprehensive analysis available of the elements that influence risk judgments and preferences The book has two dimensions theoretical and comparative historical The study of risk taking behavior has been dominated by the rational choice approach Instead the author adopts a socio cognitive approach involving a multivariate theory integrating contextual cognitive motivational and personality factors that affect an individual decisionmaker s judgment and preferences the social interaction and structural effects of the decisionmaking group and its organizational setting and the role of cultural societal values and norms that sanction or discourage risk taking behavior The book s theoretical approach is applied and tested in five historical case studies of foreign military interventions The richly detailed empirical data on the case studies make them metaphorically speaking an ideal laboratory for applying a process tracing approach in studying judgment and decision processes at varying risk levels The case studies analyzed are U S interventions in Grenada in 1983 and Panama in 1989 both low risk Soviet intervention in Czechoslovakia in 1968 moderate risk U S intervention in Vietnam in 1964 68 high risk and Israel s intervention in Lebanon in 1982 83 high risk Leaders at War Elizabeth N. Shapiro, 2019-06-12 Seven in ten Americans over the age of age of sixty who require medical decisions in the final days of their life lack the capacity to make them For many of us our biggest life and death decisions literally will therefore be made by someone else They will decide whether we live or die between long life and quality of life whether we receive heroic interventions in our final hours and whether we die in a hospital or at home They will determine whether our wishes are honored and choose between fidelity to our interests and what is best for themselves or others Yet despite their critical role we know remarkably little about how our loved ones decide for us Speaking for the Dying tells their story drawing on daily observations over more than two years in two intensive care units in a diverse urban hospital From bedsides hallways and conference rooms you will hear in their own words how physicians really talk to families and how they respond You will see how decision makers are selected the interventions they weigh in on the information they seek and evaluate the values and memories they draw on the criteria they weigh the outcomes they choose the conflicts they become embroiled in and the challenges they face Observations also provide insight into why some decision makers authorize one aggressive intervention after the next while others do not even on behalf of patients with similar problems and prospects And they expose the limited role of advance directives in structuring the process decision makers follow or the outcomes that result Research has consistently found that choosing life or death for another is one of the most difficult decisions anyone can face sometimes haunting families for decades This book shines a bright light on a role few of us will escape and offers steps that patients and loved ones health care providers lawyers and policymakers could undertake before it is too late Handbook of Oncology Social Work Grace Hyslop Christ, Carolyn Messner, Lynn C.
