The Folkloresque Michael Dylan Foster,Jeffrey A. Tolbert,2015-11-02 This volume introduces a new concept to explore the dynamic relationship between folklore and popular culture the folkloresque With folkloresque Foster and Tolbert name the product created when popular culture appropriates or reinvents folkloric themes characters and images Such manufactured tropes are traditionally considered outside the purview of academic folklore study but the folkloresque offers a frame for understanding them that is grounded in the discourse and theory of the discipline Fantasy fiction comic books anime video games literature professional storytelling and comedy and even popular science writing all commonly incorporate elements from tradition or draw on basic folklore genres to inform their structure Through three primary modes integration portrayal and parody the collection offers a set of heuristic tools for analysis of how folklore is increasingly used in these commercial and mass market contexts The Folkloresque challenges disciplinary and genre boundaries suggests productive new approaches for interpreting folklore popular culture literature film and contemporary media and encourages a rethinking of traditional works and older interpretive paradigms

Fields Watered with Blood Margaret Walker,2014-06-01 Representing an international gathering of scholars Fields Watered with Blood constitutes the first critical assessment of the full scope of Margaret Walker s literary career As they discuss Walker s work including the landmark poetry collection For My People and the novel Jubilee the contributors reveal the complex interplay of concerns and themes in Walker's writing folklore and prophecy place and space history and politics gender and race In addition the contributors remark on how Walker's emphases on spirituality and on dignity in her daily life make themselves felt in her writings and show how Walker's accomplishments as a scholar teacher activist mother and family elder influenced what and how she wrote A brief biography an interview with literary critic Claudia Tate a chronology of major events in Walker's life and a selected bibliography round out this collection which will do much to further our understanding of the writer whom poet Nikki Giovanni once called the most famous person nobody knows

The Chinese Novel at the Turn of the Century Milena Dolezelova-Velingerova, 1980-12-15 This collection of essays reveals the dynamic role of the late Qing novel in the process of modernization of Chinese fiction Substantial changes in various aspects of the Chinese novel at the turn of the century demonstrated by structural analyses of several representative novels suggest that the evolution of modern Chinese fiction was a more complex process than a simple imitation of Western literatures The results challenge the scholarly consensus that modern Chinese fiction resulted from a radical change brought about by the May Fourth Movement in 1919 It is demonstrated rather that the transformation had already begun in the first decade of the twentieth century and that the conspicuous changes in Chinese fiction of the 1920s represent a culmination rather than a beginning of the modern evolutionary process The book consists of nine studies which analyse the late Qing novel in its general and specific aspects The introduction and first essay explain how social changes conditioned cultural and literary changes during the period and how the resultant new theory of fiction generated new concepts of a politically engaged novel The two following studies develop a general statement of narrative structures and devices derived from structural analyses of seven outstanding late Qing novels The last six articles examine particular novels in detail focusing on the specific fictional techniques which predominate in each This is the first volume in a new series Modern East Asian Studies
