abstracted by the aesthetic implications of music itself musical instruments can be seen as physical signifiers apart from the music that they produce In Sounding Objects Carla Zecher studies the representation of musical instruments in French Renaissance poetry and art arguing that the efficacy of these material objects as literary and pictorial images was derived from their physical characteristics and acoustic properties as well as from their aesthetic product Sounding Objects is concerned with ways in which musical culture provided poets with a rich nuanced vocabulary for reflecting on their own art and its roles in courtly life the civic arena and salon society Poets not only depicted the world of musical practice but also appropriated it using musical instruments figuratively to establish their literary identities Drawing on music treatises and archival sources as well as poems paintings and engravings this unique study aims to enrich our understanding of the interplay of poetry music and art in this period and highlights the importance of musical materiality to Renaissance culture Electronic Format Disclaimer Images removed at the request of the rights holder Art and Architecture in France, 1500-1700 Anthony Blunt, Richard Beresford, 1999-01-01 The sixteenth and seventeenth centuries in France were an epoch of spectacular artistic activity exemplified by the chateaux of the Loire valley the palace of Versailles the paintings of Poussin and Claude and the sculpture of Coysevox which echo the political and cultural importance of France and the Sun King Anthony Blunt presents major artists and their principal works chronologically provides an overview of the main projects of the period and of the artistic personalities behind them and clearly sets the historical context This new edition of one of the classics of the Pelican History of Art series has been revised and updated with color illustrations and a new bibliography

Plunder Cynthia Saltzman, 2021-05-11 One of The Christian Science Monitor's Ten Best Books of May A highly original work of history Saltzman has written a distinctive study that transcends both art and history and forces us to explore the connections between the two Roger Lowenstein The Wall Street Journal A captivating study of Napoleon's plundering of Europe's art for the Louvre told through the story of a Renaissance masterpiece seized from Venice Cynthia Saltzman's Plunder recounts the fate of Paolo Veronese's Wedding Feast at Cana a vast sublime canvas that the French under the command of the young Napoleon Bonaparte tore from a wall of the monastery of San Giorgio Maggiore on an island in Venice in 1797 Painted in 1563 during the Renaissance the picture was immediately hailed as a masterpiece Veronese had filled the scene with some 130 figures lavishing color on the canvas to build the illusion that the viewer's space opened onto a biblical banquet taking place on a terrace in sixteenth century Venice Once pulled from the wall the Venetian canvas crossed the Mediterranean rolled on a cylinder soon after artworks commandeered from Venice and Rome were triumphantly brought into Paris In 1801 the Veronese went on exhibition at the Louvre the new public art museum founded during the Revolution in the former palace of the French kings As Saltzman tells the larger story of Napoleon's looting of Italian art and its role in the creation of the Louvre she reveals the contradictions of his character his thirst for greatness to carry forward the finest aspects of civilization and his ruthlessness in getting whatever he sought After Napoleon's 1815 defeat at Waterloo the Duke of Wellington and the Allies forced the French to return many of the Louvre's plundered paintings and sculptures Nevertheless The Wedding Feast at Cana remains in Paris to this day hanging directly across from the Mona Lisa Expertly researched and deftly told Plunder chronicles one of the most spectacular art appropriation campaigns in history one that sheds light on a seminal historical figure and the complex origins of one of the great museums of the world Delphi
