How Philosophers Argue Fernando Leal, Hubert Marraud, 2022-02-21 This volume presents a double argumentative analysis of the debate between Bertrand Russell and Frederick Copleston on the existence of God. It includes an introduction justifying the choice of text and describing the historical and philosophical background of the debate. It also provides a transcript of the debate based in part on the original recording. The argumentative analyses occupy Parts I and II of the book. In Part I, the argumentative process is analysed by means of the ideal model of critical discussion, the workhorse of pragma-dialectics. Part I shows how the two parties go through the four stages of a critical discussion. It highlights the questions raised over and beyond the presiding question of whether God exists and examines almost a hundred questions that are raised. Many are left in the air, whereas a few others give rise to sundry sub-discussions or meta-dialogues. In Part II, the theoretical framework of argument dialectic is put to work; argument structures are identified by means of punctuation marks, argumentative connectors, and operators, allowing to see the argumentative exchange as the collaborative construction of a macro argument. Such a macro argument is both a joint product of the arguers and a complex structure representing the dialectical relationships between the individual arguments combined in it. Finally, the complementarity of the two approaches is addressed. Thus, the book can be described as an exercise in adversarial collaboration.
