Getting Past No William Ury, 1993-01-01 Getting Past No is the most elegant handbook on the challenge of difficult negotiation and difficult people Leonard A Lauder president Est e Lauder Companies Bill Ury has a remarkable ability to get to the heart of a dispute and find simple but innovative ways to resolve it President Jimmy Carter WINNER OF THE BOOK PRIZE OF THE CENTER FOR PUBLIC RESOURCES We all want to get to yes but what happens when the other person keeps saying no How can you negotiate successfully with a stubborn boss an irate customer or a deceitful coworker In Getting Past No William Ury of Harvard Law School s Program on Negotiation and author of Possible offers a proven breakthrough strategy for turning adversaries into negotiating partners You ll learn how to Stay in control under pressure Defuse anger and hostility Find out what the other side really wants Counter dirty tricks Use power to bring the other side back to the table Reach agreements that satisfies both sides needs Getting Past No is the state of the art book on negotiation for the twenty first century that will help you deal with tough times tough people and tough negotiations You don t have to get mad or get even Instead you can get what you want From Antagonism to Partnership Togzhan Kassenova, 2007-09-03 This book is a study of cooperative security efforts between the United States and Russia since the collapse of the Soviet Union It undertakes an analysis of the Cooperative Threat Reduction CTR Program and several other programs established by different U S Departments The CTR process demonstrates both the achievements and limitations of the evolving new framework of interaction between the U S and Russia This investigation is the first attempt to use the CTR process as a case study for U S Russian strategic relations in the post Cold War international security system By answering the questions of why this process is prone to some persistent problems of implementation and why it was possible in the first place it yields significant conclusions regarding the nature of U S Russian relations and the achievements as well as limitations in the bilateral relationship since the end of the Cold War From Antagonism to Partnership contributes to the existing literature on cooperative threat reduction as a study linking CTR to the wider context of the opportunities challenges and constraints determining the nature of post Cold War relations between the U S and Russia Frenemies Mark L. Haas, 2022-01-15 In Frenemies Mark L Haas addresses policy guiding puzzles such as Why do international ideological enemies sometimes overcome their differences and ally against shared threats Why just as often do such alliances fail Alliances among ideological enemies confronting a common foe or frenemy alliances are unlike coalitions among ideologically similar states facing comparable threats Members of frenemy alliances are perpetually torn by two powerful opposing forces Haas shows that shared material threats push these states together while ideological differences pull them apart Each of these competing forces has dominated the other at critical times This difference has resulted in stable alliances among ideological enemies in some cases but the delay dissolution or failure of these alliances in others Haas examines how states susceptibility to major domestic ideological changes and the nature of the ideological differences among countries provide the key to alliance formation or failure This sophisticated framework is applied to a diverse range of critical historical and contemporary cases from the failure of British and French leaders to ally with the Soviet Union against Nazi Germany in the 1930s to the likely evolution of the United States alliance system against a rising China in the early 21st century In Frenemies Haas develops a groundbreaking argument that explains the origins and durability of alliances among ideological enemies and offers policy guiding perspectives on a subject at the core of international relations Leadership Reflections Anne Williams
