Fipps Der Affe:

Fipps, Der Affe... Wilhelm Busch, 2013-12 Unlike some other reproductions of classic texts 1 We have not used OCR Optical Character Recognition as this leads to bad quality books with introduced typos 2 In books where there are images such as portraits maps sketches etc We have endeavoured to keep the quality of these images so they represent accurately the original artefact Although occasionally there may be certain imperfections with these old texts we feel they deserve to be made available for future generations to enjoy The Cultivation of Hatred Peter Gay, 1993 Enlightenment, Passion, Modernity Mark S. Micale, Robert L. Dietle, Peter Gay, 2000 Enriched by the methods and insights of social history the history of mentalities linguistics anthropology literary theory and art history intellectual and cultural history are experiencing a renewed vitality The far ranging essays in this volume by an internationally distinguished group of scholars represent a generous sampling of these new studies The Mother in the Age of Mechanical Reproduction Elissa Marder, 2012 This book grows out of a longstanding fascination with the uncanny status of the mother in literature philosophy psychoanalysis film and photography The mother haunts Freud's writings on art and literature emerges as an obscure stumbling block in his metapsychological accounts of the psyche and ultimately undermines his patriarchal accounts of the Oedipal complex as a foundation for human culture The figure of the mother becomes associated with some of psychoanalysis's most unruly and enigmatic concepts the uncanny anxiety the primal scene the crypt and magical thinking Read in relation to deconstructive approaches to the work of mourning this book shows how the maternal function challenges traditional psychoanalytic models of the subject troubles existing systems of representation and provides a fertile source for nonmimetic nonlinear conceptions of time and space The readings in this book examine the uncanny properties of the maternal function in psychoanalysis technology and literature in order to show that the event of birth is radically unthinkable and often becomes expressed through uncontrollable repetitions that exceed the bounds of any subject The maternal body often serves as an unacknowledged reference point for modern media technologies such as photography and the telephone which attempt to mimic its reproductive properties To the extent that these technologies aim to usurp the maternal function they are often deployed as a means of regulating or warding off anxieties that are provoked by the experience of loss that real separation from the mother invariably demands As the incarnation of our first relation to the strange exile of language the mother is inherently a literary figure whose primal presence in literary texts opens us up to the unspeakable relation to our own birth and in so doing helps us give birth to new and fantasmatic images of futures that might otherwise have remained unimaginable Fipps der affe Wilhelm Busch, 1941 Beastly Natures Dorothee Brantz, 2010-07-08 Jacket

Wittgenstein and Pragmatism Anna Boncompagni, 2016-12-20 This book investigates the conflicts concerning pragmatism in Wittgenstein's work On Certainty through a comparison with the pragmatist tradition as expressed by its founding fathers Charles S Peirce and William James It also describes Wittgenstein's first encounters with pragmatism in the 1930s and shows the relevance of Frank Ramsey in the development of his thought Offering a balanced critical and theoretical examination the author discusses issues such as doubt certainty common sense forms of life action and the pragmatic maxim While highlighting the objective convergences and divergences between the two approaches the volume makes links to ongoing debates on relativism foundationalism scepticism and objectivity It will be of interest to anyone searching for new perspectives on Wittgenstein s philosophy

Zionism, the German Empire, and Africa Axel Stähler, 2018-11-05 Zionism the German Empire and Africa explores the impact on the self perception and culture of early Zionism of contemporary constructions of racial difference and of the experience of colonialism in imperial Germany More specifically interrogating in a comparative analysis material ranging from mainstream satirical magazines and cartoons to literary aesthetic and journalistic texts advertisements postcards and photographs monuments and campaign medals ethnographic exhibitions and publications popular entertainment political speeches and parliamentary reports the book situates the short lived but influential Zionist satirical magazine Schlemiel 1903 07 in an extensive network of nodal clusters of varying and shifting significance and with differently developed strains of cohesion or juncture that roughly encompasses the three decades from 1890 to 1920

The Cultivation of Hatred: The Bourgeois Experience: Victoria to Freud Peter Gay, 1993-09-17 With the same sweep authority and originality that marked his best selling Freud A Life for Our Time Peter Gay here takes us on a remarkable journey through middle class Victorian culture Gay s search through middle class Victorian culture illuminated by lively portraits of such daunting figures as Bismarck Darwin and his acolytes George Eliot and the great satirists Daumier and Wilhelm Busch covers a vast terrain the relations between men and women wit demagoguery and much more We discover the multiple ways in which the nineteenth century at once restrained aggressive behavior and licensed it Aggression split the social universe into insiders and outsiders By gathering up communities of insiders Professor Gay writes the Victorians discovered only too often invented a world of strangers beyond the pale of individuals and classes races and nations it was perfectly proper to debate patronize ridicule bully exploit or exterminate The aggressions so channeled or bottled could not be contained forever Ultimately they exploded in the First World War

Advertising Empire David Ciarlo, 2011-01-03 At the end of the nineteenth century Germany turned toward colonialism establishing protectorates in Africa and toward a mass consumer society mapping the meaning of commodities through advertising These developments distinct in the world of political economy were intertwined in the world of visual culture David Ciarlo offers an innovative visual history of each of these transformations Tracing commercial imagery across different products and media Ciarlo shows how and why the African native had emerged by 1900 to become a familiar figure in the German landscape selling everything from soap to shirts to coffee The racialization of black figures first associated with the American minstrel shows that toured Germany found ever greater purchase in German advertising up to and after 1905 when Germany waged war against the Herero in Southwest Africa The new reach of advertising not only expanded the domestic audience for German colonialism but transformed colonialism's political and cultural meaning as well by infusing it with a simplified racial cast. The visual realm shaped the worldview of the colonial rulers, illuminated the importance of commodities, and in the process drew a path to German modernity. The powerful vision of racial difference at the core of this modernity would have profound consequences for the future.
