Veronica Pacini-Ketchabaw, Sylvia Kind, Laurie L. M. Kocher, 2016-08-19 Encounters with Materials in Early Childhood Education rearticulates understandings of materials blocks of clay sheets of paper brushes and paints to formulate what happens when we think with materials and apply them to early childhood development and classrooms The book develops ways of thinking about materials that are more sustainable and insightful than what most children in the Western world experience today through capitalist narratives Through a series of ethnographic events and engagement with existing ideas of relationality in the visual arts feminist ethics science studies philosophy and anthropology Encounters with Materials in Early Childhood Education highlights how materials can be conceptualized as active participants in early childhood education and generators of human insight A variety of examples show how educators young children and researchers have engaged in thinking with materials in early years classrooms and explore what materials are capable of in their encounters with other materials and with children Please visit the companion website at www.encounterswithmaterials.com for additional features including interviews with the authors and the teachers featured in the book videos and photographs of the classroom narratives described in these pages and an ongoing blog of the authors ethnographic notes The Kantian Catastrophe?

Anthony Morgan, 2017-10-13 Immanuel Kant the most influential philosopher of the modern age transformed our entire conception of philosophy His radical reframing of philosophical questions placed the finitude of the human subject at the centre of philosophical enquiry and at the same time left reality in itself forever inaccessible His impact was to restrict metaphysical pretensions and even to induce real despair Famously the poet Heinrich von Kleist committed suicide in part due to the profound rupture induced by Kant's Copernican revolution and more recently the French philosopher Quentin Meillassoux has referred to it as the Kantian catastrophe This collection of lively and accessible interviews with fifteen top Kantian and post Kantian philosophers offers a balanced and wide ranging survey that takes us into the very heart of contemporary debates relating to our Kantian inheritance It questions the ever evolving legacy of this giant of modern thought a legacy that exposes the Janus faced character of philosophy as it finds itself both obsessed with establishing limits and at the same time inexorably drawn to transgress them Contributions from Lucy Allais A W Moore Stella Sandford Stephen Mulhall Joseph Schear Beatrice Han Pile Tom Sparrow Marie Eve Morin Bruno Bosteels Adrian Johnston Simon O Sullivan John Maoilearca Catherine Malabou Graham Harman Ray Brassier Catalog of Educational Captioned
