Hepatitis B Virus Wolfram H. Gerlich, 1995-01-01 Selected Topics in Clinical Oncology J.M. Debois, 2012-12-06 By Prof Dr A T Van Oosterom Head of the Department of Oncology at the Catholic University of Leuven Belgium The word cancer defines over 180 different diseases Some occurring quite often and are well known others are very rare and sometimes so unknown that the diagnosis is not even suspected at operation In this book Dr Debois a retired radiation oncologist describes a selected group of cancer types some of which are difficult to find in the standard textbooks in a logical format starting with their bibliography history incidence anatomy clinical presentation diagnosis and staging treatment and follow up For the general oncologist in the community it gives the appropriate data to understand the described diseases and to familiarize him with the peculiar patient he has identified The many tables and figures in every chapter contain an enormous amount of data difficult to collect without extensive searches The mix of historical and new genetic data makes reading attractive In my opinion this book will find his place in the library of every oncologist who wants to know more about the rarer tumors he or she encounters We know a lot about the common tumors but too little about the diseases described here Chronic

Hepatitis B and C Chiaho Shih, 2013 The scope of the book is very broad covering a wide range of areas in HBV HDV and HCV research including both basic and clinical science The selected topics range from epidemiology immunology molecular virology and oncology to clinical therapy Chronic Hepatitis B and C consists of 14 chapters each being a review of a special topic on HBV or HCV While review articles on a special topic can be found in periodical journals they tend to be more restricted in presentation Therefore this book will provide more in depth coverage of what are presented as unpublished results and data not shown in journal articles Furthermore several authors in this book do not write review articles regularly Some authors wrote reviews on a specific topic regularly but they tried a new topic in this book e g Dr YF Liaw on natural course Dr Shih on virion release Dr Michael Lai on lymphotropism of HCV etc Overall the book will offer useful information at the cutting age Sample Chapter s Selected Abstracts on Viral Etiology of Human Cancer W. Thomas London, 1987

Medical Principles and Practice , 1996 Viral Hepatitis Sergey Mukomolov, 2011-11-07 There are a lot of important issues related to viral hepatitis studies molecular biology of viruses laboratory diagnostics epidemiology treatment etc However there is a number of special textbooks and monographs on the subject Considering this fact and rather fast progress in our understanding of the problem this book focuses on the important sections of the problem immune pathogenesis of parenterally transmitted viral hepatitis and some aspects of hepatitis diagnostics Seven chapters were prepared by several groups of researchers to share information and results of studies with specialists working in the field and persons who are interested to learn about the viral hepatitis issue The Nobel Prize Committee the field of physiology and medicine 2011 awarded Bruce A Beutler and Jules A Hoffmann for their discoveries concerning the activation of innate immunity whilst Ralph M Steinman was awarded for his discovery of the dendritic cell and its role in adaptive immunity We are proud to say that our book is in line with these discoveries because 3 chapters cover the problems of innate and adaptive immune response in case of viral hepatitis ICRDB Cancergram ,1986 General Studies & CSAT - Year-wise & Topic-wise YCT Expert Team , 2022 UPSC IAS Pre General Studies CSAT Previous Solved Papers Year wise Topic wise
