Here First Autobiographical Essays By Native American Writers:

Here First Arnold Krupat, Brian Swann, 2000-06-13 Here First is an important new collection of essays by Native American writers compiled by Arnold Krupat and Brian Swann the editors of I Tell You Now Autobiographical Essays by Native American Writers In Here First authors such as Sherman Alexie Greg Sarris and Elizabeth Woody tell the stories of their lives and their art Each essay demonstrates the breadth of experience of twenty seven individuals united in the creative expression of a Native American heritage Each has a different relation to that heritage and in describing it through personal and family history with verse and in anecdotes the writers give a strong image of the different cultures that have shaped them This is living history and the kind of collective memoir that makes for fascinating and rewarding reading one of the most vivid and diverse portraits of Native American culture available today The Columbia Guide to American Indian Literatures of the United States Since 1945 Eric Cheyfitz, 2006-04-04 The Columbia Guide to American Indian Literatures of the United States Since 1945 is the first major volume of its kind to focus on Native literatures in a postcolonial context Written by a team of noted Native and non Native scholars these essays consider the complex social and political influences that have shaped American Indian literatures in the second half of the twentieth century with particular emphasis on core themes of identity sovereignty and land In his essay comprising part I of the volume Eric Cheyfitz argues persuasively for the necessary conjunction of Indian literatures and federal Indian law from Apses to Alexie Part II is a comprehensive survey of five genres of literature fiction Arnold Krupat and Michael Elliott poetry Kimberly Blaeser drama Shari Huhndorf nonfiction David Murray and autobiography Kendall Johnson and discusses the work of Vine Deloria Jr N Scott Momaday Joy Harjo Simon Ortiz Louise Erdrich Leslie Marmon Silko Gerald Vizenor Jimmy Santiago Baca and Sherman Alexie among many others Drawing on historical and theoretical frameworks the contributors examine how American Indian writers and critics have responded to major developments in American Indian life and how recent trends in Native writing build upon and integrate traditional modes of storytelling Sure to be considered a groundbreaking contribution to the field The Columbia Guide to American Indian Literatures of the United States Since 1945 offers both a rich critique of history and a wealth of new information and insight Native American Autobiography Redefined Stephanie A. Sellers, 2007 Textbook The Cambridge Companion to Native American Literature Joy Porter, Kenneth M. Roemer, 2005-07-21 Invisible marginal expected these words trace the path of recognition for American Indian literature written in English since the late eighteenth century This Companion chronicles and celebrates that trajectory by defining relevant institutional historical cultural and gender contexts by outlining the variety of genres written since the 1770s and also by focusing on significant authors who established a place for Native literature in literary canons in the 1970s Momaday Silko Welch Ortiz Vizenor achieved international recognition in the 1980s Erdrich and performance celebrity status in the 1990s Harjo and Alexie In addition to the seventeen chapters written by respected experts Native and non Native American British and European scholars the

Companion includes bio bibliographies of forty authors maps suggestions for further reading and a timeline which details major works of Native American literature and mainstream American literature as well as significant social cultural and historical events An essential overview of this powerful literature Native Presence and Sovereignty in College

Amanda R. Tachine,2022-04-29 What is at stake when our young people attempt to belong to a college environment that reflects a world that does not want them for who they are In this compelling book Navajo scholar Amanda Tachine takes a personal look at 10 Navajo teenagers following their experiences during their last year in high school and into their first year in college It is common to think of this life transition as a time for creating new connections to a campus community but what if there are systemic mechanisms lurking in that community that hurt Native students chances of earning a degree Tachine describes these mechanisms as systemic monsters and shows how campus environments can be sites of harm for Indigenous students due to factors that she terms monsters sense of belonging namely assimilating diminishing harming the worldviews of those not rooted in White supremacy heteropatriarchy capitalism racism and Indigenous erasure This book addresses the nature of those monsters and details the Indigenous weapons that students use to defeat them Rooted in love life sacredness and sovereignty these weapons reawaken students presence and power Book Features Introduces an Indigenous methodological approach called story rug that demonstrates how research can be expanded to encompass all our senses Weaves together Navajo youths stories of struggle and hope in educational settings making visible systemic monsters and Indigenous weaponry Draws from Navajo knowledge systems as an analytic tool to connect history to present and future realities Speaks to the contemporary situation of Native peoples illuminating the challenges that Native students face in making the transition to college Examines historical and contemporary realities of Navajo systemic monsters such as the financial hardship monster deficit not enough monster failure monster and in visibility monster Offers insights for higher education institutions that are seeking ways to create belonging for diverse students American Indian Literature

Kimberly Wieser-Weryackwe,2025-07-10 Discover the essential people works movements and themes in American Indian literature American Indian literature is a varied and vibrant collection of Indigenous artistic expression American Indian novelists poets essayists and critics have over the last four centuries asserted powerful forms of intellectual and artistic sovereignty writing in English while building on discrete tribal oral traditions and forms of storytelling This encyclopedia introduces readers to the key historical and contemporary figures in American Indian literature and their defining works From the fiery sermons of Methodist minister William Apress to the Pulitzer Prize winning novel House Made of Dawn by N Scott Momaday to the critically acclaimed and commercially successful novels of Louise Erdrich this book illustrates the indelible and influential imprint American Indians have on the landscape of American letters Readers are also introduced to the key themes and context of American Indian literature exploring how it is inextricable from American literary history the American literary canon and the narrative of American history not on the fringes of the American experience but central to it

Place and Native American Indian History and Culture Joy Porter, 2007 In this volume prominent scholars from across the United States and Europe examine the central significance of place within Native American history and life They shed new light on this foundational concept within Native American Studies at a time when the idea of place is under fundamental reassessment across disciplines The studies focus on understanding the American self within each of the varied landscapes of the United States and on recognising the true place of American Indian peoples within American history The contributions to this volume are selected from the conference on Place and Native American Indian History Literature and Culture held on 29-31 March 2006 at the University of Wales Swansea U K Over one hundred and twenty delegates from across the globe congregated including the largest gathering of Native American intellectuals yet seen in Europe Mirror Writing Thomas Claviez, Maria Moss, 2000 Red Matters Arnold Krupat, 2010-08-03 Arnold Krupat one of the most original and respected critics working in Native American studies today offers a clear and compelling set of reasons why red Native American culture history and literature should matter to Americans more than it has to date Although there exists a growing body of criticism demonstrating the importance of Native American literature in its own right and in relation to other ethnic and minority literatures Native materials still have not been accorded the full attention they require Krupat argues that it is simply not possible to understand the ethical and intellectual heritage of the West without engaging America's treatment of its indigenous peoples and their extraordinary and resilient responses Criticism of Native literature in its current development Krupat suggests operates from one of three critical perspectives against colonialism that he calls nationalism indigenism and cosmopolitanism Nationalist critics are foremost concerned with tribal sovereignty indigenist critics focus on non-Western modes of knowledge and cosmopolitan critics wish to look elsewhere for comparative possibilities Krupat persuasively contends that all three critical perspectives can work in a complementary rather than an oppositional fashion A work marked by theoretical sophistication wide learning and social passion Red Matters is a major contribution to the imperative effort of understanding the indigenous presence on the American continents Diné Identity in a Twenty-First-Century World Lloyd L. Lee, 2020-05-19 Din identity in the twenty first century is distinctive and personal It is a mixture of traditions customs values behaviors technologies worldviews languages and lifeways It is a holistic experience Din identity is analogous to Din weaving like weaving Din identity intertwines all of life's elements together In this important new book Lloyd L. Lee a citizen of the Navajo Nation and an associate professor of Native American studies takes up and provides insight on the most essential of human questions who are we Finding value and meaning in the Din way of life has always been a hallmark of Din studies Lee's Din-centric approach to identity gives the reader a deep appreciation for the Din way of life Lee incorporates Din baa hane Navajo history Sa h Naagh Bik eh H zh n harmony Din Bizaad language K relations K clanship and N hi K yah land to address the melding of past present and future that are the hallmarks of the Din way of life This study informed by personal experience offers an inclusive view of identity that is encompassing of cultural and historical

The Native American Renaissance Alan R. Velie, A. Robert Lee, 2013-11-11 The outpouring of Native American literature that followed the publication of N Scott Momaday s Pulitzer Prize winning House Made of Dawn in 1968 continues unabated Fiction and poetry autobiography and discursive writing from such writers as James Welch Gerald Vizenor and Leslie Marmon Silko constitute what critic Kenneth Lincoln in 1983 termed the Native American Renaissance This collection of essays takes the measure of that efflorescence The contributors scrutinize writers from Momaday to Sherman Alexie analyzing works by Native women First Nations Canadian writers postmodernists and such theorists as Robert Warrior Jace Weaver and Craig Womack Weaver s own examination of the development of Native literary criticism since 1968 focuses on Native American literary nationalism Alan

R Velie turns to the achievement of Momaday to examine the ways Native novelists have influenced one another Post renaissance and postmodern writers are discussed in company with newer writers such as Gordon Henry Jr and D L Birchfield Critical essays discuss the poetry of Simon Ortiz Kimberly Blaeser Diane Glancy Luci Tapahonso and Ray A Young Bear as well as the life writings of Janet Campbell Hale Carter Revard and Jim Barnes An essay on Native drama examines the work of Hanay Geigomah the Native American Theater Ensemble and Spider Woman Theatre In the volume s concluding essay Kenneth Lincoln reflects on the history of the Native American Renaissance up to and beyond his seminal work and discusses Native literature s legacy and future The essays collected here underscore the vitality of Native American literature and the need for debate on theory and ideology Politics and Aesthetics in Contemporary Native American Literature Matthew Herman,2010-02 This book provides the historical framework for the shift in Native American literary studies away from cultural analyses toward more politically inflected and motivated perspectives and examines the key moments in this turn Native American Environmentalism Joy Porter,2014-04-01 Originally titled Land and spirit in native America 2012

The Cambridge History of Native American Literature Melanie Benson Taylor,2020-09-17 Native American literature has always been uniquely embattled It is marked by divergent opinions about what constitutes authenticity sovereignty and even literature It announces a culture beset by paradox simultaneously primordial and postmodern oral and inscribed outmoded and novel Its texts are a site of political struggle shifting to meet external and internal expectations This Cambridge History endeavors to capture and question the contested character of Indigenous texts and the way they are evaluated It delineates significant periods of literary and cultural development in four sections Traces Assimilation and Modernity 1879 1967 Native American Renaissance post 1960s and Visions Revisions 21st century These rubrics highlight how Native literatures have evolved alongside major transitions in federal policy toward the Indian and via contact with broader cultural phenomena such as the American Civil Rights movement There is a balance between a history of canonical authors and traditions introducing less studied works and themes and foregrounding critical discussions approaches and controversies Life Woven with Song Nora Marks Dauenhauer,2022-03-15 The Tlingit Indians of southeastern Alaska are known for their totem poles Chilkat blankets and ocean going canoes Nora Marks Dauenhauer is a cultural emissary of her people and now tells the story of her own life within the context of her community s Life Woven with Song re creates in written language the oral tradition of the Tlingit people as it records memories of Dauenhauer s heritage of older relatives and Tlingit elders of trolling for salmon and preparing food in the dryfish camps of making a living by working in canneries She explores these recurring themes of food and land salmon and rainforest from changing perspectives as a child a mother and a grandmother and through a variety of literary forms In prose Dauenhauer presents stories such as Egg Boat the tale of a twelve year old girl fishing the North Pacific for the first time alone and an autobiographical piece that reveals much about Tlingit lifeways Then in a section of short lyrical poems she offers crystalline tributes to her land and people In a concluding selection of plays Dauenhauer presents three Raven stories that were adapted as stage plays from oral versions told in Tlingit by three storytellers of her community These plays were commissioned by the Naa Kahidi Theater and have been performed throughout America and Europe They take the form of a storyteller delivering a narrative while other members of the cast act and dance in masks and costumes Collectively Dauenhauer's writings form an autoethnography offering new insight into how the Tlingit have been affected by modernization and how Native American culture perseveres in the face of change Despite the hardships her people have seen this woman affirms the goodness of life as found in family and community in daily work and play and in tribal traditions

Continental Divides Rachel Adams, 2010-06-15 North America is more a political and an economic invention than a place people call home Nonetheless the region shared by the United States and its closest neighbors North America is an intriguing frame for comparative American studies Continental Divides is the first book to study the patterns of contact exchange conflict and disavowal among cultures that span the borders of Canada the United States and Mexico Rachel Adams considers a broad range of literary filmic and visual texts that exemplify cultural traffic across North American borders She investigates how our understanding of key themes genres and periods within U S cultural study is deepened and in some cases transformed when Canada and Mexico enter the picture How for example does the work of the iconic American writer Jack Kerouac read differently when his Franco American origins and Mexican travels are taken into account Or how would our conception of American modernism be altered if Mexico were positioned as a center of artistic and political activity In this engaging analysis Adams charts the lengthy and often unrecognized traditions of neighborly exchange both hostile and amicable that have left an imprint on North America's varied cultures

The Postethnic Literary Florian Sedlmeier, 2014-12-11 The book explores the discursive and theoretical conditions for conceptualizing the postethnic literary It historicizes US multicultural and postcolonial studies as institutionalized discursive formations which constitute a paratext that regulates the reception of literary texts according to the paradigm of representativeness Rather than following that paradigm the study offers an alternative framework by rereading contemporary literary texts for their investment in literary form By means of self reflective intermedial transpositions the writings of Sherman Alexie Chang rae Lee and Jamaica Kincaid insist upon a differentiation between the representation of cultural sign systems or subject positions and the dramatization of individual gestures of authorship As such they form a postethnic literary constellation further probed in the epilogue of the study focused on Dave Eggers

The Routledge Handbook of Classics, Colonialism, and Postcolonial Theory Katherine Blouin, Ben Akrigg, 2024-07-29 This handbook explores the ways in which histories of colonialism and postcolonial thought and theory cast light on our understanding of the ancient Mediterranean world and the discipline of Classics utilizing a wide body of case studies and providing avenues for future research and discussion It brings together chapters by a wide international and intersectional range of scholars coming from a variety of backgrounds and sub disciplinary perspectives and from across the chronological and geographical scope of Classics Chapters cover the state of current research into ancient Mediterranean and South Central and West Asian histories They provide case studies to illustrate both how postcolonial thought has already illuminated our understanding of the ancient Mediterranean world and beyond as well as its potential for the future Chapters also provide opportunities for reflection on the current state of the discipline An introduction by the volume editors offers a survey of the development of postcolonial theory its relationship to other bodies of theory and its connections to Classics Toward the end of the book three scholars with different career and disciplinary perspectives provide short reflections on the themes of the volume and the directions of future research The Routledge Handbook of Classics Colonialism and Postcolonial Theory offers an impressive collection of current research and thought on the subject for students and scholars in classical studies understood in its larger sense as well as in related disciplines such as Archaeology Ancient History Imperial History and the History of Colonialism Reception Studies and Museum Studies For anyone interested in classical antiquity it provides an engaging introduction to a potentially bewildering but ultimately vital and enriching body of thought and theory
