Urban Ministry Reconsidered R. Drew Smith, Stephanie Boddie, Ronald E. Peters, 2018-08-14 Christian ministries often struggle to account for urbanization's growing force complexities and reach and to formulate theologically and sociologically appropriate responses Urban Ministry Reconsidered features a collection of original essays by leading scholars and practitioners that explores current issues and challenges in urban communities Together these articles consider how cultural and structural frameworks have led to new conceptualizations and configurations of urban ministry In addition they examine the degree to which the social spiritual and organizational priorities of urban ministries have been reconceived in response to these shifts

Japanese Diaspora and Migration Reconsidered Yvonne Siemann, 2022-03-30 In contrast to most studies of migration which assume that migrants arrive from less developed countries to the industrialised world where they suffer from discrimination poor living conditions and downward social mobility this book examines a different sort of diaspora descendants of Japanese migrants or Nikkei in Bolivia who after a history of organised migration have achieved middle class status in a developing country while enjoying much symbolic capital among the majority population Based on extensive original research the book considers the everyday lives of Nikkei and their identity discusses how despite their relative success they remain not fully integrated into Bolivia's imperfect pluricultural society and explores how they think about and relate to Japan

Heritage Studies Marie Louise Stig Sørensen, John Carman, 2009-09-18 This is the first volume specifically dedicated to the consolidation and clarification of Heritage Studies as a distinct field with its own means of investigation It presents the range of methods that can be used and illustrates their application through case studies from different parts of the world including the UK and USA The challenge that the collection makes explicit is that Heritage Studies must develop a stronger recognition of the scope and nature of its data and a concise yet explorative understanding of its analytical methods. The methods considered fall within three broad categories: textual discourse analysis, methods for investigating people's attitudes and behaviour, and methods for exploring the material qualities of heritage. The methods discussed and illustrated range from techniques such as text analysis, interviews, participant observation, to semiotic analysis of heritage sites and the use of GIS. Each paper discusses the ways in which methods used in social analysis generally are explored and adapted to the specific demands that arise when applied to the investigation of heritage in its many forms. Heritage Studies is a seminal volume that will help to define the field. The global perspective and the shared focus upon the development of reflexive methodologies ensure that the volume explores these central issues in a manner that is simultaneously case specific and of general relevance.

Heritage and Community Engagement Emma Waterton, Steve Watson, 2013-09-13 This book is about the way that professionals in archaeology and in other sectors of heritage interact with a range of stakeholder groups, communities and the wider public. Whilst these issues have been researched and discussed over many years and in many geographical contexts, the debate seems to have settled into a comfortable stasis wherein it is assumed that all that can be done by way of engagement has been done and there is little left to achieve. In some cases, such engagement is built on legislation or codes of ethics and there can be little doubt that it is an important and significant aspect of heritage policy. This book is different, however, because it questions not so much the motivations of heritage professionals but the nature of the engagement itself: the extent to which this is collaborative or contested and the implications this has for the communities concerned. Furthermore, in exploring these issues in a variety of contexts around the world, it recognises that heritage provides a source of engagement within communities that is separate from professional discourse and can thus enable them to find voices of their own in the political processes that concern them and affect their development, identity and well-being. This book was published as a special issue of the International Journal of Heritage Studies.

Huguenot Heritage Robin D. Gwynn, 2000-01-01 Director of the 1985 Huguenot Heritage tercentenary commemoration, Gwynn surveys the contributions to Britain and Ireland by the French-speaking Calvinist refugees who crossed the Channel between the 16th and 18th centuries. Among the topics are the situation in France, settlements in England, government reaction, crafts and trades, churches, opposition, the impact of Louis XIV's defeat and assimilation. The first edition was published by Routledge in 1985; the second incorporates literature published and artefacts discovered since then and is more comprehensively footnoted. All referencing material has been updated in the light of new findings And the plate section has been expanded to take into account recently available pictures of Huguenot artefacts and scenes WC33 to WC338, Ancestors and descendants of Christian (Oberholtzer) Bauman ,1998

The House of Our Ancestors Thomas Reuter,2021-10-25 The House of Our Ancestors is a study of the Mountain Balinese or Bali Aga an ethnic group with a distinct history and culture who are thought to be the indigenous people of Bali Indonesia In popular ideas of Balinese identity the highland people feature as the conceptual counterpart to the royal houses established in the southern lowlands of the island Hidden in shadow of this courtly culture the world of the highland Balinese has been largely ignored even though Bali counts among the most researched localities in the world This book explores their social organization and status economy from the perspective of an innovative theory of precedence Regional domains villages and origin houses among the Bali Aga are all conceived and ranked in reference to the basic ideas of a sacred origin in the past and of an order of precedence connecting the past with the present The analysis of precedence ranking evident at all levels of Bali Aga social organization leads to the development of a new theory of status for Austronesian societies that departs radically from the notion of hierarchy as proposed by Louis Dumont in his classic study of the Indian caste system
