

in the late sixteenth century; Antoinette Gimaret focuses on the corporal significance of Christian relics; Dominique Brancher examines the significance of importing Egyptian mummies to France; Audrey Duru examines Jean Edouard du Monin's Phénix (1585) and how Monin's poems fit in the genre of the blason.

The volume concludes with essays treating the satiric possibilities of the blason. Diane Robin, Hugh Roberts, Guillaume Peureux, and Louise Deholdt each offer examples of the lasting influence of the blason and the contreblason in the seventeenth century, most particularly in farces and satirical poetry. In addition to the illustrations and charts that accompany many of the essays the volume also includes three appendixes: the musical scores for the Blason du beau tétin and for the Blason du laid tétin (Annex 1A and 1B) and examples of the blasons and contreblasons of the mouth from the sixteenth to the twenty-first century. In sum, the editors have put together a collection of essays that redefines scholarship on the blason.

Early Modern French Autobiography. Nicolae Alexandru Virastau.
Egodocuments and History Series 12. Leiden: Brill, 2021. 206 pp. $118.

Brill's Egodocuments and History series focuses, as its title suggests, on exploration and analysis of sources written by their authors about themselves. Previous volumes have dealt with Germany and Switzerland, the Netherlands, and even the recent war in Afghanistan. The twelfth volume, authored by Nicolae Alexandru Virastau, focuses on three major examples of printed early modern French autobiographical writings. The book, which stems from Virastau's doctoral research at Columbia University, is divided into five chapters, an introduction, and a conclusion, and analyzes the way that early modern memoirs and autobiographical notes were constructed by various actors—authors, their family and other proxies, and publishers and printers, both contemporary to the authors and later ones, all the way down to the nineteenth-century editions that made these works accessible to wider readership.

The introduction presents a critical overview of the field of autobiographical writing and its various disciplinary subdivisions, such as literary studies and history, and attempts to reclaim the genre from being considered an unreliable source. Virastau aims at broadening the definition of "autobiography" and draws parallels to Adam Smyth's Autobiography in Early Modern England (2010). The four major examples of autobiography are supplemented with references to other early modern autobiographies. Three out of four examples in this book are taken from the sixteenth century, while the fourth one is from the first half of the seventeenth century, which presents a good overview of the tendencies of the time.

Heterographies Sexual Difference In French Autobiography:

Forgotten Engagements Angela Kershaw, 2007 Study of the contribution made by women writers to politically committed literature in 1930s France to bring to light the work of female authors of left wing fiction such as Madeleine Pelletier Simone T ry Edith Thomas Henriette Valet and Louise Weiss It shows how women were able to relate to fiction and to politics in inter war France situating the novels within their social historical literary and political environment French Studies in and for the Twenty-first Century Philippe Lane, Michael Worton, 2011 With contributions from leading scholars across the entire range of French studies this up to date volume examines both the current state of French studies in the United Kingdom as well as its future in an increasingly interdisciplinary world where student demand new technologies and developments in transnational education are changing the ways in which we teach learn research and assess achievements Required reading for French studies scholars worldwide this volume builds upon the findings of the influential Review of Modern Foreign Languages Provision in Higher Education and maps the present and future of the field The Abject Object Keith Reader, 2022-04-19 This book addresses representations and constructions of masculinity in crisis in contemporary French culture by way of two important concepts the phallus largely but not solely in a Lacanian sense s and abjection Kristeva Scrutiny of these concepts informs readings of a number of texts literary Bataille Adamov Doubrovsky Houellebecq Rochefort Angot and cinematic Ferreri Eustache Godard No Bonello in which the abject phallus is a significant factor The texts chosen all describe or stage crises of masculinity and mastery in ways that suggest that these supposedly beneficent qualities and the phallus that symbolizes them can often be perceived as burdensome or even detestable Abjection is a widely used concept in contemporary cultural studies but has not hitherto been articulated with the phallus as emblem of male dominance as it is here The volume will be of interest to those working in the areas of French gender and film studies

Revisioning Duras James S. Williams, 2000-12-01 The extraordinary range complexity and power of Marguerite Duras novelist dramatist film maker essayist has been justly recognised Yet in the years following her death in 1996 there has been an increasing tendency to consecrate her work particularly by those critics who approach it primarily in biographical terms The British and American specialists featured in this interdisciplinary collection aim to resurrect the Duras corpus in all its forms by submitting it theoretically to three main areas of enquiry By establishing how far Duras s work questions and redefines the parameters of literary and cinematic form as well as the categories of race and ethnicity homosexuality and heterosexuality fantasy and violence the contributors to this volume revision Duras s work in the widest sense of the term

Age Rage and Going Gently Oliver Davis, 2006-01-01 This wide ranging study looks at how the ageing process has alternately been figured in and excluded from twentieth century French literature philosophy and psychoanalysis It espouses a critical interdisciplinarity and calls into question the assumptions underlying much research into ageing in the social sciences work in which the negative aspects of growing older are almost invariably suppressed It offers a major reappraisal of Simone de Beauvoir's great but neglected late treatise La Vieillesse and presents the first substantial discussion of a lost documentary film about old age in which Beauvoir appears and which she helped to write PROMENADE AU PAYS DE LA VIEILLESSE. Questioning Beauvoir's own rather reductive reading of Gide's work on old age, this study analyses the way in which his Journal and Ainsi soit-il experiment with a range of representational models for the senescent subject. The encounter between psychoanalysis and ageing is framed by a reading of Violette Leduc's autobiographical trilogy in which she suggests that psychoanalysis to its detriment simply cannot allow ageing to signify. This claim is tested in a critical survey of recent theoretical and clinical work by psychoanalysts interested in ageing in France, the UK and the US. Lastly, Hervé Guibert's recently republished photo novel about his elderly great aunts Suzanne et Louise is examined as a work of intergenerational empathy and is found in addition to be an important statement of his photographic aesthetic. Navigating between the extremes of fury, age rage and serene acceptance, going gently, this study aims throughout to examine the role which ageing plays in formal as well as thematic terms in writing the life of the subject.

The Beautiful and the Monstrous Amaleena Damlé, Aurélie L'Hostis, 2010. Modern French Identities focuses on the French and Francophone writing of the twentieth and twenty-first centuries whose formal experiments and revisions of genre have combined to create an entirely new set of literary forms. The series publishes studies of individual authors and artists, comparative studies and interdisciplinary projects.

The Forger's Tale Stephanie Newell, 2006-11-01. Between 1905 and 1939 a conspicuously tall white man with a shock of red hair dressed in a silk shirt and white linen trousers could be seen on the streets of Onitsha in Eastern Nigeria. How was it possible for an unconventional boy-loving Englishman to gain a social status among the local populace enjoyed by few other Europeans in colonial West Africa? In The Forger's Tale: The Search for Odeziaku, Stephanie Newell charts the story of the English novelist and poet John Moray Stuart Young (1881-1939) as he traveled from the slums of Manchester to West Africa in order to escape the homophobic prejudices of late Victorian society. Leaving behind a criminal record for forgery and embezzlement and his notoriety as a spirit rapper, Stuart Young found a new identity as a wealthy palm oil trader and a celebrated author known to Nigerians as Odeziaku. In this fascinating biographical account, Newell draws on queer theory, African gender debates and new imperial history to open up a wider study of imperialism, homo sexuality and nonelite culture between the 1880s and the late 1930s. The Forger's Tale pays close attention to different forms of West African cultural production in the colonial period and to public debates about sexuality and ethics as well as to movements in mainstream English literature.

French Studies in and for the 21st Century Philippe Lane, Michael Worton, 2011-07-07. French Studies in and for the 21st Century draws together a range of key scholars to examine the current state of French Studies in the UK, taking account of the variety of factors which have made the discipline what it is. The book looks ahead to the place of French Studies in a world that is increasingly interdisciplinary and where student demands, new technologies and transnational education are changing the ways in which we learn, teach, research and assess. Required reading for all UK French Studies scholars the book will also be an essential text for the French Studies community worldwide as it grapples with current demands and plans for the future Encyclopedia of Modern French Thought Christopher John Murray, 2013-01-11 In this wide ranging guide to twentieth century French thought leading scholars offer an authoritative multi disciplinary analysis of one of the most distinctive and influential traditions in modern thought Unlike any other existing work this important work covers not only philosophy but also all the other major disciplines including literary theory sociology linguistics political thought theology and more Translating Transgressive Texts Pauline Henry-Tierney, 2023-12-22 Through close examination of references to gender identity female sexuality and corporeality this book is the first of its kind to shed light on the complexities of translating the recent transgressive turn in contemporary women s writing in French Via four case studies namely the translations into English of Nelly Arcan s Putain 2001 Catherine Millet s La Vie sexuelle de Catherine M 2001 Nancy Huston s Infrarouge 2010 and Nina Bouraoui s Garçon manqué 2000 this book explores how transgressive topoi such as prostitution anorexia matrophobia rape female desire and transgenderism are translated The book considers how auto fictional female selves portrayed are displaced by translation at both a textual and paratextual level Combining feminist phenomenological perspectives on female lived experience with feminist translation theory this interdisciplinary study offers an insight into how the experiential is brought into language how it journeys via language into new cultural contexts via translation and creates a dialogical space in which the subjectivities of those involved author narrator protagonist translator become open to the porosity of encounters with alterity The volume will appeal to scholars in translation studies French Studies and gender and sexuality studies particularly those interested in feminist translation and literary translation Phototextualities Alex Hughes, Andrea Noble, 2003 How are photographs understood as narratives In this book twenty two original critical essays tackle this overarching question in a series of case studies moving chronologically across the history of photography from the 1840s to the twenty first century The contributors explore the intersections of photography with history memory autobiography time death mapping the discourse of Orientalism digital technology and representations of race and gender The essays range in focus from the role of photographic images in the memorialization of the Holocaust the Argentine Dirty War and Japanese American internment camps through Man Ray s classic image Noire et blanche and Nan Goldin s The Ballad of Sexual Dependency to the function of family albums in nineteenth century England and America Language Play in Contemporary Swedish Comic Strips Kristy Beers Fägersten, 2020-06-08 This book focuses on the unexplored context of contemporary Swedish comic strips as sites of innovative linguistic practices where humor is derived from language play and creativity often drawing from English and other European languages as well as social and regional dialects of Swedish The overall purpose of the book is to highlight linguistic playfulness in Swedish comic strips as an example of practices as yet unobserved and unaccounted for in theories of linguistic humor as applied to comics scholarship The book familiarizes the reader with the Swedish language and linguistic culture as well as contemporary Swedish comic strips with chapters focusing on specific strategies of language play and linguistic humor such as mocking Swedish dialects and Swedish accented foreign language usage invoking English language popular culture swearing in multiple languages and turn final code switching to English to signal the punchline The book will appeal to readers interested in humor comics or how linguistic innovation language play and language contact each can further the modern development of language exemplified by the case of Swedish

Women in Europe between the Wars Angela Kimyongür, 2017-11-30 The central aim of this interdisciplinary book is to make visible the intentionality behind the forgetting of European women's contributions during the period between the two world wars in the context of politics culture and society It also seeks to record and analyse women's agency in the construction and reconstruction of Europe and its nation states after the First World War and thus to articulate ways in which the writing of women's history necessarily entails the rewriting of everyone's history By showing that the erasure of women's texts from literary and cultural history was not accidental but was ideologically motivated the essays explicitly and implicitly contribute to debates surrounding canon formation Other important topics are women's political activism during the period antifascism the contributions made by female journalists the politics of literary production genre women's relationship with and contributions to the avant garde women's professional lives and women's involvement in voluntary associations In bringing together the work of scholars whose fields of expertise are diverse but whose interests converge on the inter war period the volume invites readers to make connections and comparisons across the whole spectrum of women's political social and cultural activities throughout Europe

Historical Dictionary of French Literature John Flower, 2013-01-17 Almost all of us know French literature even if we don't know French because it is probably the second largest and certainly the most translated into English And even if we don't read we would have seen film and television versions think Count of Monte Cristo and even a musical rendition Les Mis So this is a particularly interesting volume in the literature series since it covers French literature from the earliest times to the present It is also a particularly rich literature espousing every genre from poetry to novel to biography to drama and adopting every style including realism and surrealism and expressing the views of all classes and political stands with recently strong feminist and gay strains Obviously the core dictionary section includes among its panoply of often substantial and detailed entries hundreds of authors dozens of significant works the various styles mentioned above and many others events that have impacted literature such as the Dreyfus Affair and the Algerian War and literary prizes The chronology manages to cover about 1 200 years of literary output And the introduction sets it all out neatly from one historical and literary period to the next The bibliography broken down by period and author directs us to further reading in both French and English
