Hi Johnny:

High Brian O'Dea, 2010-01-29 How a privileged son of Newfoundland became one of the world's most efficient marijuana traffickers and then gave it all up An intriguing ad ran in the Employment Wanted section of a Toronto newspaper in February 2001 FORMER MARIJUANA SMUGGLER Having successfully completed a ten year sentence incident free for importing 75 tons of marijuana into the United States I am now seeking a legal and legitimate means to support myself and my family Business experience Owned and operated a successful fishing business multi vessel one airplane one island and processing facility Simultaneously owned and operated a fleet of tractor trailer trucks conducting business in the western United States During this time I also participated in the executive level management of 120 people worldwide in a successful pot smuggling venture with revenues in excess of 100 million US annually Among the advertiser's references was the US district attorney who was responsible for his arrest in 1990 and who had reminded the trial judge that the offence could carry the death penalty The ad made news around the world and also captured the resilient spirit of Brian O'Dea a remarkable man who even in his darkest hours of addiction and criminality never lost the love of family and friends The O'Dea family is well known in government and legal circles in Newfoundland But the family's prominence could not protect their middle son from sexual abuse at the hands of priests Brian became the black sheep and turned to drugs in his late teens for the money for the excitement and for an escape from himself Twenty five years later when the cops finally knocked on his door at the end of a massive DEA investigation he had given up the trade and was a recovered cocaine addict working as a drug addiction counsellor in Santa Barbara He had finally begun to understand how he had ended up in the drug world He was tried and sentenced to ten years to be served at Terminal Island federal prison in Los Angeles Harbor High interweaves extracts of his prison diary perceptive funny and alarming all at once with the vivid recounting of his outlaw years and the dawning recognition of those things in his life that were worth living for

An Innocent Man the Life and Times of an American Baby Boomer Gene Baumgaertner, 2011-02-02 Come travel back to a different but vaguely familiar world Journey to a time when inflation barely existed gasoline was cheap cars had big gas guzzling engines and people almost never locked their front doors Written in the first person An Innocent Man follows the life and time of Edgar Rice Baker from his childhood as he encounters all of the trappings joys and nuances of the Baby Boomer years It was an age of innocence when kids walked to school when beer and liquor were the worst things your kids could get in to and when getting a driver's license and a set of wheels where the heater worked and the engine ran were the most important first steps in transitioning to adulthood If you are over fifty do you remember the good old days Those were happy days of wine and roses when life was simpler and we all were more innocent An Innocent Man transports us back to the fifties and sixties for a nostalgic walk down the primrose lane
