Janos, 2012-01-20 Why did Hungary a country that shared much of the religious and institutional heritage of western Europe fail to replicate the social and political experiences of the latter in the nineteenth and early twenties centuries The answer the author argues lies not with cultural idiosyncracies or historical accident but with the internal dynamics of the modern world system that stimulated aspirations not easily realizable within the confines of backward economics in peripheral national states The author develops his theme by examining a century of Hungarian economic social and political history During the period under consideration the country witnessed attempts to transplant liberal institutions from the West the corruption of these institutions into a neo corporatist bureaucratic state and finally the rise of diverse Left and Right radical movements as much in protest against this institutional corruption as against the prevailing global division of labor and economic inequality Pointing to significant analogies between the Hungarian past and the plight of the countries of the Third World today this work should be of interest not only to the specialist on East European politics but also to students of development dependency and center periphery relations in the contemporary world

Routledge Revivals: Hungary: The Politics of Transition (1995) Terry Cox, Andy Furlong, 2016-10-04 First published in 1995 the aim of this book is to review various aspects of the process of democratic transition in Hungary over the period of its first post communist freely elected parliament between 1990 and 1994 The studies collected in this book attempt to put them in the context of longer term trends in Hungarian politics Hungary offers an example of the problems of political change common to Eastern Europe following the collapse of the Eastern Bloc but also demonstrates a relatively stable and successful transformation built on a unique experience under communist rule that helped prepare it for a market orientated economy transition and political pluralism

The National Politics of EU Enlargement in the Western Balkans James Ker-Lindsay, Ioannis Armatolas, Rosa Balfour, Corina Stratulat, 2020-05-21 The National Politics of EU Enlargement in the Western Balkans examines the way in which a number of European Union member states including Germany and France formulate their policies towards enlargement in the Western Balkans. The six countries of the Western Balkans, Albania, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Kosovo, Montenegro, North Macedonia and Serbia, are on course to become the next members of the European Union. While there has been a lot of work on the ways in which these countries are preparing for accession and how the EU as a whole approaches the question of expansion, very little attention has been paid to how individual EU member states regard enlargement into a region that presents a number of serious challenges, including the legacies of the conflicts of the 1990s, economic underdevelopment and poor governance. Focusing on key states such as Germany, France and Italy, the neighbouring countries of Central and South East Europe and Britain, once a leading advocate of enlargement that is now in the process of leaving the European Union, this volume casts important new empirical and conceptual light on the diverse motivations that underpin member state attitudes towards EU enlargement. The National Politics of EU Enlargement in the Western Balkans will be of great interest to scholars of the European Union, European politics and the politics of the Western Balkans. Australian public affairs information service , Privatisation, Politics, and Economic Performance in Hungary Zoltan Antal-Mokos, 1998-02-05 Why do some privatisations apparently fail to produce expected positive results? Economic theory tells us that privatisation should improve efficiency, but this book, originally published in 1998, suggests that political bargaining in the process of privatisation works against the results we expect to achieve. To gain a better understanding of what privatisation is really about, power at a firm level needs to be understood. Privatisation is a gradually unfolding evolutionary process, often with defective corporate governance. Politicking can take priority over performance, with the result that efficiency is ignored and profitability is affected. This is a comprehensive book on privatisation which focuses on micro-level behavioural issues and it uses exceptionally rich case evidence to illustrate that privatisation is more about politics than performance.

The Transition to Democracy in Hungary Dae Soon Kim, 2013-07-18 Unlike in other countries of Eastern Europe where the opposition to communism came in the form of single mass movements led by charismatic leaders such as Václav Havel and Lech Wałęsa, in Hungary the opposition was very fragmented, brought together and made effective only by the authoritative, significant but relatively unknown Róbert Gábor who subsequently became Hungary's first post-communist president. This book charts the political career of Róbert Gábor, outlining the outstanding contribution he made to Hungary's transition to democracy. Drawing on a wide range of sources, including archives and interviews with Gábor himself and others, it shows how Gábor, unlike Havel who was a playwright and whose political role was largely symbolic, was a campaigning politician all his life consistently advocating social democratic but not communist values Imprisoned from 1956 for his participation in the 1956 uprising G ncz was a highly effective political operator in the transition period around 1989 and as president wielded real power effectively As politics in Hungary are again marred by deep division and fragmentation G ncz s success in bringing rival groups together is even more pronounced Public Affairs Information Service Bulletin ,1921
