Grammatical Competence And Parsing Performance:

Grammatical Competence and Parsing Performance Bradley L. Pritchett, 1992-11 How does a parser a device that imposes an analysis on a string of symbols so that they can be interpreted work More specifically how does the parser in the human cognitive mechanism operate Using a wide range of empirical data concerning human natural language processing Bradley Pritchett demonstrates that parsing performance depends on grammatical competence not as many have thought on perception computation or semantics Pritchett critiques the major performance based parsing models to argue that the principles of grammar drive the parser the parser furthermore is the apparatus that tries to enforce the conditions of the grammar at every point in the processing of a sentence In comparing garden path phenomena those instances when the parser fails on the first reading of a sentence and must reanalyze it with occasions when the parser successfully functions the first time around Pritchett makes a convincing case for a grammar derived parsing theory A Performance Theory of

Order and Constituency John A. Hawkins, 1994 Major new work arguing that grammars are profoundly shaped by language processing Handbook of Japanese Psycholinguistics Mineharu Nakayama, 2015-06-16 The studies of the Japanese language and psycholinguistics have advanced quite significantly in the last half century thanks to the progress in the study of cognition and brain mechanisms associated with language acquisition use and disorders and in particular because of technological developments in experimental techniques employed in psycholinguistic studies This volume contains 18 chapters that discuss our brain functions specifically the process of Japanese language acquisition how we acquire learn the Japanese language as a first second language and the mechanism of Japanese language perception and production how we comprehend produce the Japanese language In turn we address the limitations of our current understanding of the language acquisition process and perception production mechanism Issues for future research on language acquisition and processing by users of the Japanese language are also presented Chapter titles 1 Learning to become a native listener of Japanese Reiko Mazuka 2 The nature of the count mass distinction in Japanese Mutsumi Imai Junko Kanero 3 Grammatical deficits in Japanese children with Specific Language Impairment Shinji Fukuda Suzy E Fukuda Tomohiko Ito 4 Root infinitive analogues in Child Japanese Keiko Murasugi 5 Acquisition of scope Takuya Goro 6 Narrative development in L1 Japanese Masahiko Minami 7 L2 acquisition of Japanese Yasuhiro Shirai 8 The modularity of grammar in L2 acquisition Mineharu Nakayama Noriko Yoshimura 9 Tense and aspect in Japanese as a second language Alison Gabriele Mamori Sugita Hughes 10 Language acquisition and brain development Cortical processing of a foreign language Hiroko Hagiwara 11 Resolution of branching ambiguity in speech Yuki Hirose 12 The role of learning in theories of English and Japanese sentence processing Franklin Chang 13 Experimental syntax word order in sentence processing Masatoshi Koizumi 14 Relative clause processing in Japanese psycholinguistic investigation into typological differences Baris Kahraman Hiromu Sakai 15 Processing of syntactic and semantic information in the human brain evidence from ERP studies in Japanese Tsutomu Sakamoto 16 Issues in L2

Processing Reiko Mazuka, Noriko Nagai, 2013-05-13 This volume is a direct result of the International Symposium on Japanese Sentence Processing held at Duke University The symposium provided the first opportunity for researchers in three disciplinary areas from both Japan and the United States to participate in a conference where they could discuss issues concerning Japanese syntactic processing The goals of the symposium were three fold to illuminate the mechanisms of Japanese sentence processing from the viewpoints of linguistics psycholinguistics and computer science to synthesize findings about the mechanisms of Japanese sentence processing by researchers in these three fields in Japan and the United States to lay foundations for future interdisciplinary research in Japanese sentence processing as well as international collaborations between researchers in Japan and the United States The chapters in this volume have been written from the points of view of three different disciplines with various immediate objectives from building usable speech understanding systems to investigating the nature of competence grammars for natural languages All of the papers share the long term goal of understanding the nature of human language processing mechanisms The book is concerned with two central issues the universality of language processing mechanisms and the nature of the relation between the components of linguistic knowledge and language processing This volume demonstrates that interdisciplinary research can be fruitful and provides groundwork for further research in Japanese sentence processing The Handbook of Language Teaching Michael H.
Long, Catherine J. Doughty, 2011-08-15 Bringing together an international and interdisciplinary team of contributors this Handbook is a wide ranging and invaluable reference guide to language teaching A comprehensive reference work on language teaching which combines the latest research findings coverage of core topics and examples of teaching experience from a variety of languages and settings Provides a unique breadth of coverage including the psycholinguistic underpinnings of language learning social political and educational contexts program design materials writing and course design teaching and testing teacher education and assessment and evaluation Offers a balanced evaluation of the major positions and approaches including examining the increasingly important social and political context of language teaching Written by an international and interdisciplinary group of authors from a dozen different countries English is only one of the many languages used as examples throughout the volume The Development of Second Language Grammars Elaine C.
Klein, Gita Martohardjono, 1999-05-15 This volume is a collection of state of the art papers in generative studies of second language L2 acquisition bringing together an unusually broad range of interests and inquiry Selected papers report on controlled experimental studies within specific areas of research investigating the development of L2 grammars others formulate exciting new proposals for methodology and learnability in both first and second language acquisition Following an introduction which argues for new research strategies that focus on the process of acquisition along with its product the book is divided into two sections Current Perspectives includes compelling new work on the development of functional categories within a parameter setting model of L2 acquisition the second section New Directions introduces research and discussion on topics which reflect the latest developments in the field including syntax semantics correspondences L2 processing research code switching from a UG perspective and applications of Chomsky's 1995 Minimalist Program to second language acquisition studies

German Sentence Processing B. Hemforth, L. Konieczny, 2013-04-17 The German language offers a variety of possibilities for asking and answering new questions in psycholinguistic sentence comprehension research The collection of papers in this volume contributes to the increasingly relevant crosslinguistic comparison of mechanisms of human sentence processing The topics covered are incremental structure assembly on line ambiguity resolution and phonological contextual and working memory aspects of reanalysis The new theoretical and experimental insights presented in this volume should be of great interest to linguists and psychologists working on human language comprehension The introductory information provided by the authors makes the volume easily accessible to advanced students

Perspectives on Sentence Processing Charles Clifton, Jr., Lyn Frazier, Keith Rayner, Charles Clifton, 2015-12-22 One of the liveliest forums for sharing psychological linguistic philosophical and computer science perspectives on psycholinguistics has been the annual meeting of the CUNY Sentence Processing Conference Documenting the state of the art in several important approaches to sentence processing this volume consists of selected papers that had been presented at the Sixth CUNY Conference The editors not only present the main themes that ran through the conference but also honor the breadth of the presentations from disciplines including linguistics experimental psychology and computer science The variety of sentence processing topics examined includes how evoked brain potentials reflect sentence comprehension how auditory words are processed how various sources of grammatical and nongrammatical information are coordinated and used how sentence processing and language acquisition might be related This distinctive volume not only presents the most exciting current work in sentence processing but also places this research into the broader context of theorizing about it

Is the Best Good Enough? Pilar Barbosa, 1998 These include new versions of an old debate between constraints on derivations and constraints on representations and entirely new questions about the nature of the candidate set as well as questions about learnability and computability

Artificial Intelligence Margaret A. Boden, 1996-06-20 Artificial Intelligence is the study of how to build or program computers to enable them to do what minds can do This volume discusses the ways in which computational ideas and computer modeling can aid our understanding of human and animal minds Major theoretical approaches are outlined as well as some promising recent developments Fundamental philosophical questions are discussed along with topics such as the differences between symbolic and connectionist AI planning and problem solving knowledge representation learning expert systems vision natural language creativity and human computer interaction This volume is suitable for any psychologist philosopher or computer scientist wanting to know the current state of the art in this area of cognitive science Up to date account of how computational ideas and techniques are relevant to psychology Includes discussions of classical symbolic AI of connectionism neural nets of evolutionary programming and of A Life Discusses a wide range of psychology from low level vision to creativity

Reanalysis in Sentence Processing J. Fodor,Fernanda Ferreira,2013-03-14 The topic addressed in this volume lies within the study of sentence processing which is one of the major divisions of psycholinguistics The goal has been to understand the structure and functioning of the mental mechanisms involved in sentence comprehension Most of the experimental and theoretical work during the last twenty or thirty years has focused on first pass parsing the process of assigning structure to a sentence as its words are encountered one at a time from left to right One important guiding idea has been to delineate the processing mechanisms by studying where they fail For this purpose we identify types of sentences which perceivers have trouble assigning structure to An important class of perceptually difficult sentences are those which contain temporary ambiguities Since the parsing mechanism cannot tell what the intended structure is it may make an incorrect guess Then later on in the sentence the structure assignment process breaks down because the later words do not fit with the incorrect structural analysis This is called a garden path situation When it occurs the parsing mechanism must somehow correct itself and find a different analysis which is compatible with the incoming words This reanalysis process is the subject of the research reported here

Case and Linking in Language Comprehension Markus Bader,Josef Bayer,2006-05-09 The German language due to its verb final nature relatively free order of constituents and morphological Case system poses challenges for models of human syntactic processing which have mainly been developed on the basis of head initial languages with little or no morphological Case The verb final order means that the parser has to make predictions about the input before receiving the verb What are these predictions What happens when the predictions turn out to be wrong Furthermore the German morphological Case system contains ambiguities How are these ambiguities resolved under the normal time pressure in comprehension Based on theoretical as well as experimental work the present monograph develops a detailed account of the processing steps that underly language comprehension At its core is a model of linking noun phrases to arguments of the verb in the developing phrase structure and checking the result with respect to features such as person number and Case This volume contains detailed introductions to human syntactic processing as well as to German syntax which will be helpful especially for readers less familiar with psycholinguistics and with Germanic

Input and Evidence Susanne Elizabeth Carroll,2001-10-04 Input and Evidence the raw material of second language acquisition is an empirical and theoretical treatment of one of the essential components of SLA the input to language learning mechanisms It reviews and adds to the empirical studies showing that negative evidence correction feedback repetitions reformulations play a role in language acquisition in addition to that played by ordinary conversation At the same time it embeds discussion of input within a framework which includes a serious treatment of language processing including the problem of modularity and the question of how semantic representations can influence grammatical ones It lays the foundation for the development of a truly explanatory theory of SLA in the form of the Autonomous Induction Theory which combines a model of induction with an interpretation of Universal Grammar thereby permitting for the first time a coherent approach to the problem of constraining induction in SLA The Linguistics Enterprise Martin B.H. Everaert, Tom Lentz, Hannah De Mulder, Øystein Nilsen, Arjen Zondervan, 2010-01-13 Linguistics investigates the systems underlying language speech and language use Linguists seek to develop an understanding of the rules and laws that govern the structure and use of particular languages and the manner in which these interact with internal systems and processes interpretation speech perception and production and with the outside world acquisition use change and role in society The articles in this volume present a valuable addition to answering three important questions about knowledge in linguistics What is knowledge in linguistics how is it acquired and how is it put to use Apart from the data on the specific phenomena addressed in the articles the book presents insight into the palette of present day linguistics In this way it aims to break open the division of linguistics into subfields thereby making possible cross fertilisation

Working Memory in Second Language Acquisition and Processing Zhisheng (Edward) Wen, Mailce Borges Mota, Arthur McNeill, 2015-05-01 This unique volume offers a comprehensive discussion of essential theoretical and methodological issues concerning the pivotal role of working memory in second language learning and processing The collection opens with a foreword and introductory theoretical chapters written by leading figures in the field of cognitive psychology Following these are three research sections containing chapters providing original data and innovative insights into the dynamic and complex relationships between working memory and specific areas of second language processing instruction performance and development Each section concludes with a commentary which is written by a noted SLA researcher and which charts the course for future research This book provides a fascinating collection of perspectives on the relationship between working memory and second language learning and will appeal to those interested in the integration of cognitive psychology with SLA research Stevens' Handbook of Experimental Psychology, Memory and Cognitive Processes Douglas Medin, 2004-02-05 Now available in paperback This revised and updated edition of the definitive resource for experimental psychology offers comprehensive coverage of the latest findings in the field as well as the most recent contributions in methodology and the explosion of research in neuroscience Volume Two Memory and Cognitive Processes focuses on the neurological and cognitive processes on topics such as memory decision making spatial cognition linguistics reasoning and concepts Second Language Sentence Processing Alan Juffs, Guillermo A. Rodríguez, 2014-12-02 This addition to the Cognitive Science and Second Language Acquisition series presents a comprehensive review of the latest research findings on sentence processing in second language acquisition The book begins with a broad overview of the core issues of second language sentence processing research and then narrows its focus by dedicating individual chapters to each of these key areas While a number of publications have discussed research findings on knowledge of formal syntactic principles as part of theories of second language acquisition there are fewer resources dedicated to the role of second language sentence processing in this context This volume will act as the first full length literature review of the field on the market

Bilingual Sentence Processing Eva M. Fernández, 2003-03-27 The cross linguistic differences documented in studies of relative clause attachment offer an invaluable opportunity to examine a particular aspect of bilingual sentence processing Do bilinguals process their two languages as if they were monolingual speakers of each This volume provides a review of existing research on relative clause attachment showing that speakers of languages like English attach relative clauses differently than do speakers of languages like Spanish Fernández reports the findings of an investigation with monolinguals and bilinguals tested using speeded on line and unspeeded off line methodology with materials in both English and Spanish The experiments reveal similarities across the groups when the procedure is speeded but differences with unspeeded questionnaires The monolinguals replicate the standard cross linguistic differences while bilinguals have language independent preferences determined by language dominance bilinguals process stimuli in either of their languages according to the general preferences of monolinguals of their dominant language
