

Was it reworked? HoN vs DotA

On a quest to find if "the original design was any good or not" I will try to determine if a hero that was in both DotA and Heroes of Newerth was reworked or not. I will consider:

- The state the hero was in both games when added to HoN vs. the state now
- If the hero has received any abilities
- If the hero has received any power changes to abilities

I will also consider:

- Power/funtional changes and numerical changes unless they fundamentally change the ability
- Abilities that are functionally different but serve about the same purpose
- Simplet changes, such as, talent is added to change to universal

I've also reworked or slightly added heroes that have gotten removed with "Polaris", "Phobos" and "Phage" based on what I felt like

You most likely disagree with some of my arbitrary change criteria and I probably got some stuff wrong so be sure to point it out

Almost unchanged in both games

		Winged spirit got a small size and some reworks that were reverted			Polaris got removed with Static Link and Corrupted Douglas's PS buff gets this shield for free			Both of them have had their powers changed but they had down to "next spell for free"
		Phorus are slightly different but I've given them a power			Phorus have some minor differences			Phorus was made to do damage but I put damage at the cost of range
		Phorus has some changes but otherwise Polaris is almost identical			Phorus has some minor differences			Phorus is a fast, fast, fast Phorus is almost identical. That's about it.
