Heuretics The Logic Of Invention:

Heuretics Gregory L. Ulmer, 1994 In Heuretics a word defined as the branch of logic that treats the art of discovery or invention Gregory Ulmer sets forth new methods appropriate for conducting cultural studies research in an age of electronic hypermedia publisher Heuretics Gregory L. Ulmer, 1994 A Counter-History of Composition Byron Hawk, 2007-11-25 A Counter History of Composition contests the foundational disciplinary assumption that vitalism and contemporary rhetoric represent opposing disconnected poles in the writing tradition Vitalism has been historically linked to expressivism and concurrently dismissed as innate intuitive and unteachable whereas rhetoric is seen as a rational teachable method for producing argumentative texts Counter to this Byron Hawk identifies vitalism as the ground for producing rhetorical texts the product of complex material relations rather than the product of chance Through insightful historical analysis ranging from classical Greek rhetoric to contemporary complexity theory Hawk defines three forms of vitalism oppositional investigative and complex and argues for their application in the environments where students write and think today Hawk proposes that complex vitalism will prove a useful tool in formulating post dialectical pedagogies most notably in the context of emerging digital media He relates two specific examples of applying complex vitalism in the classroom and calls for the reexamination and reinvention of current self limiting pedagogies to incorporate vitalism and complexity theory The Rhetoric of Cool Jeff Rice, 2007-05-11 The Rhetoric of Cool Composition Studies and New Media offers a historical critique of composition studies rebirth narrative using that critique to propose a new rhetoric for new media work Author Jeff Rice returns to critical moments during the rebirth of composition studies when the discipline chose not to emphasize technology cultural studies and visual writing which are now fundamental to composition studies Rice redefines these moments in order to invent a new electronic practice The Rhetoric of Cool addresses the disciplinary claim that composition studies underwent a rebirth in 1963 At that time three writers reviewed technology cultural studies and visual writing outside composition studies and independently used the word cool to describe each position Starting from these three positions Rice focuses on chora appropriation commutation juxtaposition nonlinearity and imagery rhetorical gestures conducive to new media work to construct the rhetoric of cool An innovative work that approaches computers and writing issues from historical critical theoretical and practical perspectives The Rhetoric of Cool challenges current understandings of writing and new media and proposes a rhetorical rather than an instrumental response for teaching writing in new media contexts Florida Jeff Rice, 2015-04-01 This collection proposes Florida as a nexus of various contested moments ideas concepts and relations In the age of networks it is not enough to only think of computerized economic or labor intensive systems as networks Florida is both a site of exploration what does Florida mean and a model for spatial work in general how do we trace out the networked connections of a given space Florida taps into an existing conversation regarding space and it contributes a new approach by offering up the state as a network of both objective and personal meanings Strategies for Theory R. L. Rutsky, Bradley

J. Macdonald, 2003-06-05 Interdisciplinary essays on the role of high theory in politics and popular culture The Open Knowledge Society Miltiadis D. Lytras, John M. Six general pillars provide the constitutional elements of the WSKS series: Social and Humanistic Computing for the Knowledge Society; Emerging Technologies and Systems for the Society and Humanity; Knowledge Learning; Education Learning Technologies and E-learning for the Knowledge Society; Information Technologies; Knowledge Management Systems; E-business and Enterprise Information Systems for the Knowledge Society; Culture and Cultural Heritage Technology for Culture Management; Management of Tourism and Entertainment; Tourism Networks in the Knowledge Society; Government and Democracy for the Knowledge Society; Research and Sustainable Development in the Knowledge Society. The summit provides a distinct, unique forum for cross-disciplinary fertilization of research favoring the dissemination of research that is relevant to international research.

Intervention Jan Rune Holmevik, 2012-03-23 A proposal that electracy, the special skills needed to navigate and understand our digital world, can be developed through play. In today's complex digital world, we must understand new media expressions and digital experiences not simply as more technologically advanced forms of writing that can be understood and analyzed as texts but as artifacts in their own right that require a unique skill set. Just as agents seeking to express themselves in alphabetic writing need to be literate agents who seek to express themselves in digital media need to be able to use a term coined by cybertheorist Gregory Ulmer, electrate. In Intervention, Jan Holmevik helps to invent electracy. He does so by tracing its path across the digital and rhetorical landscape: informatics, hacker heuristics, ethics, pedagogy, virtual space, and monumentality, and by introducing play as a new genre of electracy. Play, he argues, is the electrate ludic transversal. Holmevik contributes to the repertoire of electrate practices in order to understand and demonstrate how play invents electracy. Holmevik's argument straddles two divergences in rhetoric: between how we study rhetoric as play and how we play rhetorically, and in game studies between ludology and narratology. Game studies has forged ludology practice by distinguishing it from literate practice and often allying itself with the scientific tradition. Holmevik is able to link ludology and rhetoric through electracy. Play can and does facilitate invention; play invented the field of ludology. Holmevik proposes a new heuristic in which play acts as a conductor for the invention of electracy Play is a meta behavior that touches on every aspect of Ulmer's concept of electracy Digital Humanities Pedagogy Brett D. Hirsch, 2012 The essays in this collection offer a timely intervention in digital humanities scholarship bringing together established and emerging scholars from a variety of humanities disciplines across the world The first section offers views on the practical realities of teaching digital humanities at undergraduate and graduate levels presenting case studies and snapshots of the authors' experiences alongside models for future courses and reflections on pedagogical successes and failures The next section proposes strategies for teaching foundational digital humanities methods across a variety of scholarly disciplines and the book concludes with wider debates about the place of digital humanities in the academy from the field's cultural assumptions and social obligations to its political visions 4e de couverture

Experimental Writing in Composition Patricia Suzanne Sullivan, 2012-12-15 From the outset experimental writing has been viewed as a means to afford a more creative space for students to express individuality underrepresented social realities and criticisms of dominant socio-political discourses and their institutions Yet the recent trend toward multimedia texts has left many composition instructors with little basis from which to assess these new forms and to formulate pedagogies In this original study Patricia Suzanne Sullivan provides a critical history of experimental writing theory and its aesthetic foundations and demonstrates their application to current multimodal writing Sullivan unpacks the work of major scholars in composition and rhetoric and their theories on aesthetics particularly avant-gardism She also relates the dialectics that shape these aesthetics and sheds new light on both the positive and negative aspects of experimental writing and its attempts to redefine the writing disciplines Additionally she shows how current debates over the value of multimedia texts echo earlier arguments that pitted experimental writing against traditional models Sullivan further articulates the ways that multimedia is and isn't changing composition pedagogies and provides insights into resolving these tensions The

Berry, Anders Fagerjord, 2017-05-30 As the twenty first century unfolds computers challenge the way in which we think about culture society and what it is to be human areas traditionally explored by the humanities In a world of automation Big Data algorithms Google searches digital archives real time streams and social networks our use of culture has been changing dramatically The digital humanities give us powerful theories methods and tools for exploring new ways of being in a digital age Berry and Fagerjord provide a compelling guide exploring the history intellectual work key arguments and ideas of this emerging discipline They also offer an important critique suggesting ways in which the humanities can be enriched through computing but also how cultural critique can transform the digital humanities Digital Humanities will be an essential book for students and researchers in this new field but also related areas such as media and communications digital media sociology informatics and the humanities more broadly Rhetorical Delivery and Digital Technologies Sean Morey, 2015-11-19 This book theorizes digital logics and applications for the rhetorical canon of delivery Digital writing technologies invite a re evaluation about what delivery can offer to rhetorical studies and writing practices Sean Morey argues that what delivery provides is access to the unspeakable unconscious elements of rhetoric not primarily through emotion or feeling as is usually offered by previous studies but affect a domain of sensation implicit in the overlooked original Greek term for delivery hypokrisis Moreover the primary means for delivering affect is both the logic and technology of a network construed as modern digital networks but also networks of associations between humans and nonhuman objects Casting delivery in this light offers new rhetorical trajectories that promote its incorporation into digital networked bodies Given its provocative and broad reframing of delivery this book provides original robust ways to understand rhetorical delivery not only through a lens of digital writing technologies but all historical means of enacting delivery offering implications that will ultimately affect how scholars of rhetoric will come to view not only the other canons of rhetoric but rhetoric as a whole Network of Bones Sean Morey, 2019-03-27 Both a far removed place of refuge for the fringe of society and a high status vacation destination the Keys remain a legendary yet fragile place still threatened by a human made disaster the 2010 Deepwater Horizon oil spill Likewise Key West Florida can be many things to many people evoking laidback Margaritaville for some and Ernest Hemingway for others In this mixture of memoir travel writing philosophical reflection natural and cultural history and meditation on language Sean Morey wrestles with the varied and often contradictory nature of his hometown Morey turns a sharp eye inward teasing out the layers of natural and cultural developments that have shaped the Keys for both millions of years and the past few decades He asks What does it take for humans to accept our impact on Earth and more importantly what will move humans to take action to reverse adverse impacts The answer Morey posits lies in imaginative thinking in building connections between locations and individual interests and backgrounds to create a foundation for widespread ecological ethics In Network of Bones Morey guides readers through different images of Key West and connects them to global environmental issues including overfishing rising sea levels and polluted oceans Morey's writing stimulates memory and invites engagement with the world as he shows us how learning about one place no matter how specific and eccentric that place might be can teach us about all other places It's just a matter of imagination The author's proceeds from the sale of this book will benefit Coastal Conservation Association Florida
