Africa and the Bible Gene Rice, 2019-11-18 Africa and the Bible is a collection of essays about the African influence on and presence in the Old Testament written over Gene Rice's more than fifty years of scholarly service at Howard University School of Divinity They focus on characters with African heritage such as Ebed melech and Jehudi in Jeremiah and the prophet Zephaniah himself as well as dealing with texts that have been misinterpreted to the detriment of African Americans such as the story of the curse of Canaan in which Ham and all his dark skinned descendants are the ones viewed as cursed One article provides evidence that the original worshippers of YHWH may have been from the land of Kush One of Rice's earliest articles deals with the story of Joseph and relates it to Jim Crow Rice finds in the story a model for racial reconciliation that is still relevant today With a foreword by his colleague of many years Cain Hope Felder Professor of New Testament at Howard University School of Divinity now retired and a preface by Jonathan Rice Gene Rice's son the book is a treasure trove of carefully researched thought provoking articles and a perfect supplement to be used alongside a Hebrew Bible textbook

The Epic World Pamela Lothspeich, 2024-01-30 Reconceptualizing the epic genre and opening it up to a world of storytelling The Epic World makes a timely and bold intervention toward understanding the human propensity to aestheticize and normalize mass deployments of power and violence The collection broadly considers three kinds of epic literature conventional celebratory tales of conquest that glorify heroism especially male heroism anti epics or stories of conquest from the perspectives of the dispossessed the oppressed the despised and the murdered and heroic stories utilized for imperialist or nationalist purposes The Epic World illustrates global patterns of epic storytelling such as the durability of stories tied to religious traditions and or to peoples who have largely stayed put the tendency to reimagine and retell stories in new ways over centuries and the imbrication of epic storytelling and forms of colonialism and imperialism especially those perpetuated and glorified by Euro

Americans over the past 500 years resulting in unspeakable and immeasurable harms to humans other living beings and the planet Earth The Epic World is a go to volume for anyone interested in epic literature in a global framework Engaging with powerful stories and ways of knowing beyond those of the predominantly white Global North this field shifting volume exposes the false premises of Western civilization and Classics and brings new questions and perspectives to epic studies

"Of Wood and Stone" Elizabeth C. LaRocca-Pitts, 2018-07-17 The Hebrew Bible contains varying opinions concerning which cultic items or objects used in worship were appropriate for use within YHWHism and which were not By analyzing every passage which mentions high places bamot sacred trees or poles asherim standing stones altars and cultic statuary this study reveals that a remarkable diversity of cultic practices fell within the bounds of acceptability in ancient Israel Also included are three chapters exploring the particular understandings of these items in the LXX Vulgate Targumim and other early Jewish sources Opposing the long held generalization that use of these items was unanimously viewed by biblical authors as syncretistic this study shows that with the exception of cultic statuary all of these items were at one time or another legitimate components of Israelite worship Thus they provide witness to a diversity of theologies and ritual practices within YHWHism previously unappreciated

Enoch and the Mosaic Torah Jason von Ehrenkrook, James Alan Waddell, Jason Zurawski, 2009-06-02 The early Enoch literature does not refer to the Mosaic Torah or emphasize the distinctively Mosaic laws designed for Israel But the book of Jubilees gives room to both Mosaic and Enochic traditions within the Sinaitic revelatory framework What then should we make of such differences This question and related speculations were on the minds of scholars gathered from around the world at the fourth Enoch Seminar at Camaldoli Italy in July 2007 Four tendencies emerged from the discussion at the seminar Some scholars claimed that Jubilees was a direct product of Enochic Judaism with subordinated Mosaic features Some suggested that Jubilees was a conscious synthesis of Enochic and Mosaic tradition yet remaining autonomous from both Some asserted that Jubilees was essentially a Mosaic text with some Enochic influence And others questioned the very existence of a gulf between Enochic and Mosaic traditions as competing forms of Judaism at the time of Jubilees Gabriele Boccaccini and Giovanni Ibba have carefully collected the countervailing views into this volume What readers will find here is a lively debate among the most distinguished international specialists together striving for a better understanding of a puzzling ancient document

Do We Still Need Inspiration? Matthieu Richelle,Camilla Recalcati,Martijn Beukenhorst,2023-11-20 The concept of inspiration is part and parcel of the theological tradition in several religious confessions but it has largely receded to the background if not vanished altogether in the discussions of biblical scholars The question Do we still need inspiration might well reflect the perplexity of many exegetes today Systematic theologians for their part often further their own reflections on the subject independently of developments in the field of exegesis with the risk of remaining purely theoretical Biblical research in the last decades has been marked by new insights about the nature of the biblical texts stemming from the study of their inner plurality insofar as they combine and sometimes intertwine conflicting theologies of their textual fluidity and of their reception Can these new insights be integrated into a theological reflection on the notion of inspiration These questions are often explicitly raised about the Jewish and Christian Scriptures but they also prove increasingly relevant for Qur'anic studies This volume addresses them through contributions from exegetes of the Bible and of the Qur'an and systematic theologians
