The Subjective Self Harwood Fisher, 2001-01-01 For all their strides in understanding how we create and think about cultures psychologists linguists and logicians have had difficulty explaining how we conceive our selves how the self can in fact be both the object and the subjective originator of its surroundings Harwood Fisher s purpose in this far reaching interdisciplinary book is to depict the subjective self in its true complex duality In The Subjective Self Fisher argues that the key to depicting both aspects of the self simultaneously and thus modeling it more holistically than before is to visualize the self in a logical space From an origin point inside this space the self tries out metaphors and launches categories to logically order what it wants sees and encounters This is a creative cognitive process metaphoric framing by which the self invents new forms and depicts new organizations of its experiences impressions and information It is also a generative linguistic process bracketing by which the self can step outside its own expressed thoughts gain new levels of awareness re position itself as an agent responsible for its ideas and statements and in short empower its own identity The framing sets in motion versatile mental categories forms that are projected into mental space where they become objectified The bracketing sets in motion the logical bounds of the I stabilizing the individual s identity and giving thrust to the subjective self s dynamic causal role In elaborating this theory Fisher extends the ideas of Kurt Lewin Jean Piaget and C S Peirce among others By drawing on each of these thinkers he is able to bring their common themes of perspective and construction together in his portrait of the self as a creative iconic space

Airpower Advantage Diane Therese Putney, 2004 American air power is a dominant force in today s world Its ascendancy evolving in the half century since the end of World War II became evident during the first Gulf War Although a great deal has been written about military operations in Desert Shield and Desert Storm this deeply researched volume by Dr Diane Putney probes the little known story of how the Gulf War air campaign plan came to fruition Based on archival documentation and interviews with USAF planners this work takes the reader into the planning cells where the difficult work of building an air campaign plan was accomplished on an around the clock basis The tension among air planners is palpable as Dr Putney traces the incremental progress and friction along the way The author places the complexities of the planning process within the context of coalition objectives All the major players are here President George H W Bush General H Norman Schwarzkopf General Colin Powell General Chuck Horner and Secretary of Defense Richard Cheney The air planning process generated much debate and friction but resulted in great success a 43 day conflict with minimum casualties Dr Putney s rendering of this behind the scenes evolution of the planning process in its complexity and even suspense provides a fascinating window into how wars are planned and fought today and what might be the implications for the future

Brown,2019-01-24 Flying Blind offers an astute analysis of the role of organizational forces in initiating and shaping weapons programs Michael E Brown concerns himself with how weapons programs begin and why they turn out as they do In the process he redresses a large imbalance in our understanding of how nations arm themselves In an unmatched account constructed from massive archival work and material declassified through the Freedom of Information Act the author provides a detailed description of all fifteen postwar U S strategic bomber programs from the B 35 to the B 2 Challenging the conventional wisdom about arms races and the weapons acquisition process Brown marshals compelling evidence that Air Force reactions to strategic developments not technological opportunism or industry initiative brought about many major innovations in those programs He also discusses competing explanations of the cost schedule and performance problems that plague U S acquisition efforts He maintains that powerful strategic and bureaucratic forces lead American military organizations to set their performance requirements far beyond the state of the art and to push their programs as fast as possible This he argues is a recipe for disaster Developing a comprehensive explanation of the cost and performance problems that plague modern weapons programs he presents policy recommendations designed to address these issues Flying Magazine ,1943-06 First Annual Report of the United States Entomological Commission for the Year 1877 United States Entomological Commission,1878 First and Annual Report of the United States Entomological Commission for the Year 1877 Relating to the Rocky Mountain Locust and the Best Methods of Preventing Its Injuries and of Guarding Against Its Invasions Geological Survey (U.S.),1878 First Annual Report ...
