Flying The First World War In Kent:

Dover and Folkestone During the Great War Christine George, Michael George, 2009-06-25 For centuries the south coast of Kent in particular the ports of Dover and Folkestone have been England's front line as her enemies have planned invasions and launched attacks from just across the Channel During the Great War of 1914-1918 these two towns were again vulnerable to enemy action and they played a vital role in war effort As this well researched and highly illustrated book shows the people of the Channel Ports suffered from bombardment by air and sea They also played a significant role in the experience of the men who fought in the Great War For the humble soldier this stretch of coastline had a personal meaning it represented Blighty It might be the last thing the departing Tommy would see of his country and for a soldier returning wounded or on leave the White Cliffs on the horizon were his first glimpse of home Flying ; the First World War in Kent David G. Collyer, 1982-01-01 Militærflyvningen i Kent England under 1 verdenskrig The Royal Flying Corps, the Western Front and the Control of the Air, 1914-1918 James Pugh, 2017-05-12 By the middle of 1918 the British Army had successfully mastered the concept of all arms warfare on the Western Front This doctrine integrating infantry artillery armoured vehicles and crucially air power was to prove highly effective and formed the basis of major military operations for the next hundred years Yet whilst much has been written on the utilisation of ground forces the air element still tends to be studied in isolation from the army as a whole In order to move beyond the usual aircraft and aces approach this book explores the conceptual origins of the control of the air and the role of the Royal Flying Corps RFC within the British army In so doing it addresses four key themes First it explores and defines the most fundamental air power concept the control of the air by examining its conceptual origins before and during the First World War Second it moves beyond the popular history of air power during the First World War to reveal the complexity of the topic Third it reintegrates the study of air power during the First World War specifically that of the RFC into the strategic operational organisational and intellectual contexts of the era as well as embedding the study within the respective scholarly literatures of these contexts Fourth the book reinvigorates an entrenched historiography by challenging the usually critical interpretation of the RFC's approach to the control of the air providing new perspectives on air power during the First World War This includes an exploration of the creation of the RAF and its impact on the development of air power concepts Kent's Military Heritage Dean Hollands, 2020-01-15 This book provides a fascinating insight into the people places and events that are Kent's Military Heritage from Roman times to the present day A Subject Bibliography of the First World War A. G. S. Enser, 1990 This is a bibliography of books published in English between 1914 and 1987 on the First World War There are approximately 6800 entries indexed by author or title listed under 350 subject headings The subject headings range in alphabetical order from addresses and speeches to Zimmerman Each entry gives bibliographical details where possible any changes in title between United Kingdom and United States of America editions and cross references to other relevant subject headings For quick reference there is an index of authors and an index of subject headings While this bibliography aims to be a reference work for the scholar and researcher it is also intended to be for more general use Air Pictorial ,1999 Handbook of British Literature and Culture of the First World War Ralf Schneider,Jane Potter,2021-09-20 The First World War has given rise to a multifaceted cultural production like no other historical event This handbook surveys British literature and film about the war from 1914 until today The continuing interest in World War I highlights the interdependence of war experience the imaginative re creation of that experience in writing and individual as well as collective memory In the first part of the handbook the major genres of war writing and film are addressed including of course poetry and the novel but also the short story furthermore it is shown how our conception of the Great War is broadened when looked at from the perspective of gender studies and post colonial criticism The chapters in the second part present close readings of important contributions to the literary and filmic representation of World War I in Great Britain All in all the contributions demonstrate how the opposing forces of focusing and canon formation on the one hand and broadening and revision of the canon on the other have characterised British literature and culture of the First World War Flying Magazine ,1958-05 Airfields of the D-Day Invasion Air Force Peter Jacobs,2009-10-29 As part of the Aviation Heritage Trail series the airfields and interest in this book are concentrated in a particular area in this case Kent Surrey East Sussex Essex and Greater London The South east of England emerged from six years of war with a rich diversity of RAF bomber and fighter airfields used by the 2nd Tactical Air Force both before and after the D Day landings Much of this proud legacy is now threatening to disappear However the tourist can combine visits to an abundance of disused and active airfields country houses and museums with countless attractions imaginative locations and broadland and coastal hideaways that have no equal The airfields and other places of interest include Northolt Manston Sculthorp Dunsfold Swanton Morley Hunsdon Gravesend Detling Biggin Hill Kenley Redhill Gatwick Heston Hornchurch Chailey Coolham Horne West Malling and Newchurch This book looks at the history and personalities associated with each base what remains today and explores the favourite local wartime haunts where aircrew and ground crew would have sought well deserved entertainment and relaxation Other museums and places that are relevant will also be described and general directions on how to get them included Kent's Transport Heritage James Preston,2017-09-15 James Preston explores the transport heritage of Kent VCs of the First World War: The Air VCs Peter G. Cooksley,Peter F. Batchelor,2014-04-07 Of more than 600 Victoria Crosses awarded to British and Empire servicemen during the First World War nineteen were awarded to airmen of the newly formed Royal Flying Corps and Royal Naval Air Service Of these four were posthumous awards and all but one of the total were to officers Some of these valorous airmen were from humble backgrounds and with limited education others were collegiate men from wealthy families but in the words of one senior officer they all had in common the guts of a lion The British Army and the First World War Ian Beckett,Timothy Bowman,Mark Connelly,2017-05-25 A comprehensive new history of the shaping and performance of the British army during the First World

War     Dartford in the Great War Stephen Wynn, 2016-01-31 Dartford was a hive of activity during the Great War years with most in the community doing their bit for the war effort in what ever way that they could For men that meant enlisting in the armed forces and for women that they were to take up roles that previously belonged to men They worked in industry delivered post drove buses and taxis and became carpenters and plumbers They were also heavily relied on by volunteer organizations such as Voluntary Aid Detachments the Women s Auxiliary Army Corps and later in the war the Women s Land Army Nearby there was a large munitions factory in the town which maintained a large yet productive mostly female workforce to ensure it met the ever increasing demand for shells and bullets and throughout the town hospitals to cared for the wounded servicemen of Britain Australia America and even Germany whose captured military personnel were held at one of many local prisoner of war camps Joyce Green Aerodrome was home to units of the Royal Flying Corps and latterly the Royal Air Force who protected both Dartford and London from air raids This book cover how Dartford endured thirty seven German air raids Miraculously not one local resident was killed At the end of the war the people of Dartford returned to the normality of life as best as they could but the world had changed forever For those who had lost loved ones and over 300 local families had the changes would always be a painful reminder of the terrible price of the war Dartford in the Great War is a meticulous and compelling account of this town and its dedicated people who sacrificed so much in their effort to thrive in one history s most difficult periods     A Flying Life: An Enthusiast's Photographic Record of British Aviation in the 1930s Richard Riding, 2014-03-27 A Flying Life An Enthusiast s Photographic Record of British Aviation in the 1930s consists of photographs that were taken by E J Riding the author s father who spent his working life in the aviation industry He was apprenticed to A V Roe Company and employed as an aircraft engineer up to the war During the war Riding became an AID inspector and was seconded to Fairey Aviation London Aircraft Production and the de Havilland Aircraft Company latterly signing out Halifax bombers and Mosquitoes as airworthy and ready for test flying Sadly Riding was killed in a flying accident in 1950 During his short life he gained a lasting reputation as an engineer professional photographer draughtsman and aero modeller Riding began taking photographs of aircraft in 1931 aged fifteen Fortunately he kept copious notes recording the locations and dates of when and where aircraft were photographed More importantly he noted aircraft colour schemes details rarely recorded by the press at the time The aircraft types photographed by Riding ranged from the Tiger Moth RAF fighters ultra lights to airliners the whole giving a good cross section of flying in Britain up to the outbreak of the Second World War The book s photographs are of excellent quality and do not all consist of sterile bog standard side views Many depict aircraft being stripped for maintenance and servicing others show aircraft dumped or after having crashed Although approached in a generally light hearted manner the book features in depth and informative captions     Hertfordshire Soldiers of The Great War Dan Hill, Paul Johnson, 2020-05-30 In Hertfordshire Soldiers of The First World War the authors explore a series of individual case studies of Hertfordshire men who served in various theaters during the First World War all of which had been uncovered as part of the Herts At War community project This unique collection of largely unknown accounts includes stories from the Western Front Gallipoli Salonika Mesopotamia East Africa Egypt and even Russia in the fight against the Bolsheviks in 1919 The Herts At War team uncovered many letters and objects in the course of their research including men who were Victoria Cross winners to those whose courage or bravery went unrecognized as well as stoicism on the Home Front One of the most moving of these surrounds a photograph which was found in the hands of Sergeant Percy Buck as he lay fatally wounded in a shell hole in 1917 On the back of the photograph of his wife and young son he had written his address and asked for whoever found the image to post it to his loved ones in the event of his death Sergeant Buck would have assumed it would be a British comrade who would find the photograph but the person who recovered it was a German soldier who subsequently sent it on to the grieving but grateful family The war memorials of Hertfordshire contain the names of over 23 000 men and women who gave their lives whilst in the service of their country during the Great War some of their tales are uncovered here Indeed the poignant collection of stories anecdotes and artifacts revealed in this book bring the First World War to life in an unusual and highly moving fashion Flying Magazine ,1942-09

Air Transport Auxiliary at War Stephen Wynn,2021-03-23 This book looks at the invaluable work carried out by members of the Air Transport Auxiliary during the course of the Second World War Comprised of both men and women it was a civilian organization tasked with the collection and delivery of military aircraft from the factories to the RAF and Royal Navy stations Men who undertook the role had to be exempt from having to undertake war time military service due to health or age but other than that there were very few restrictions on who who could join which accounted for one legged one armed one eyed and short sighted pilots being accepted Initially it was only men who were allowed to carry out this service but by December 1939 British authorities were persuaded by Pauline Gower the daughter of Sir Robert Vaughan Gower a wartime Conservative MP and an accomplished pilot in her own right to establish a women s section of the Air Transport Auxiliary of which she was put in charge The first eight women were accepted in to the service but it would not be until 1943 that its male and female members received the same pay By the end of the war 147 different types of aircraft had been flown by the men and women of the Air Transport Auxiliary including Spitfire fighter aircraft and Lancaster bombers These brave pilots were not just British but came from 28 Commonwealth and neutral countries and their efforts sometimes came at a price 174 Air Transport Auxiliary pilots both men and women died during the war whilst flying for the service Flying Magazine ,1958-05 Congressional Record United States.
