Plastic Glasses and Church Fathers David Kronenfeld, 1996-04-11 Meaning seems to shift from context to context how do we know when someone says grab a chair that an ottoman or orange crate will do but when someone says let's buy a chair they won't Somehow in spite of this slipperiness we usually understand each other in conversations and have straightforward ways of querying each other when we sense a gap in understanding We seem capable of using ordinary language to communicate with as much precision as we are willing to take the time and effort for through attention to interactive feedback and the use of paraphrastic modification specification and explication In Plastic Glasses and Church Fathers Kronenfeld offers a theory that explains both the usefulness of language's variability of reference and the mechanisms which enable us to understand each other in spite of the variability His theory is rooted in the tradition of ethnoscience or cognitive anthropology a tradition which promotes an ethnography of explicit methodology and mathematically precise theory while remaining responsive to the complexity of particular cultures Kronenfeld accomplishes three things with his theory First he distinguishes prototypic referents from extended referents Second he describes the various bases of semantic extensions Finally he details how we use the situational context of usage the linguistic context of opposition and inclusion and the conceptual context of knowledge about the world to interpret communicative events Focus on Gambling Eric Lenox Figgis,1951 insightful new introduction the authors relate the book to the cognitive revolution and its handmaiden artificial intelligence The central theme of the work is that the scientific study of human thinking must concentrate upon meaning and its achievement rather than upon the behaviorists stimuli and responses and the presumed connections between them The book's point of departure is how human beings group the world of particulars into ordered classes and categories concepts in order to impose a coherent and manageable order upon that world But rather than relying principally on philosophical speculation to make its point A Study of Thinking reports dozens of experiments to elucidate the strategies that people use in penetrating to the deep structure of the information they encounter This seminal study was a major event in the cognitive revolution of the 1950s Reviewing it at the time J Robert Oppenheimer said it has in many ways the flavor of conviction which makes it point to the future
