Focus On Living World Trees:

Bridges: The Life Cycle of Trees , Byzantine Tree Life Thomas Arentzen, Virginia Burrus, Glenn Peers, 2021-07-11

This book examines the many ways Byzantines lived with their trees. It takes seriously theological and hagiographic tree engagement as expressions of that culture's deep involvement and even fascination with the arboreal. These pages tap into the current attention paid to plants in a wide range of scholarship: an attention that involves the philosophy of plant life as well as scientific discoveries of how communicative trees may be and how they defend themselves. Considering writings on and images of trees from Late Antiquity and medieval Byzantium sympathetically, the book argues for an arboreal imagination at the root of human aspirations to know and draw close to the divine. Strong Spirits, Kind Hearts Sandra Finney, 2013-05-23 Strong Spirits Kind Hearts is the first practical teacher resource to provide comprehensive coverage of all aspects of developing strong spirits and caring young people. It is focused on middle years students but most lessons can be adapted for older and younger students as well. This resource describes ways to incorporate emotional and spiritual supports into daily routines and interactions with students and provides ready-to-use activities, lessons, and units that can be integrated into subject area teaching. This book helps teachers to understand the importance of strengthening students' spirits and how this support improves students' learning and classroom morale, build resilience and hope through their interactions with students, distinguish between the development of strong spirits and religious education, use approaches that are respectful of religious and spiritual diversity as well as more secular views, implement a wealth of strategies, lessons, and units that develop students' compassion and sense of connection to others and the natural world, integrate a focus on meaning and purpose within subject area lessons. Smallholder Tree Growing for Rural Development and Environmental Services Denyse J.

Snelder, Rodel D. Lasco, 2008-07-19 Recent history reveals that both the large-scale reforestation projects of the 20th century have often been less successful than anticipated and that tree growing by smallholders as an alternative means to combat deforestation and promote sustainable land use has received relatively little attention from the scientific and development communities. Taking a first step to addressing that balance, this collection of peer-reviewed papers adopts a comparative approach to explore the potential role that tree growing by farmers can play in sustainable forest management. The goal of this approach is to identify common threads and to start to develop a framework for future research and practice. Presenting case studies from the Philippines and comparative data from a number of Asian countries, the book reveals that farmer tree growing has the potential to play a significant role in sustainable forest management and discusses the surrounding issues which must be addressed in order to realise this potential. The book is primarily aimed at research scientists and graduate students interested in relevant aspects of forestry, agroforestry, agricultural diversity, natural resource management and conservation in agricultural landscapes as well as those involved in sustainable development and international development studies. It will also provide a valuable reference for professionals, managers, consultants, policy makers and planners dealing with issues in sustainable development natural resource management land use change issues and participatory approaches to resource management

The Cultural Value of Trees Jeffrey Wall, 2022-06-01 This volume focuses on the tree as a cultural and biological form and examines the concept of folk value and its implications for biocultural conservation Folk value refers to the value of the more than human living world to cultural cohesion and survival as opposed to individual well being This field of value comprising cosmological aesthetic eco erotic sentimental mnemonic value and much more serves as a powerful motivation for the local performance of environmental care The motivation to maintain and conserve ecology for the purpose of cultural survival will be the central focus of this book as the conditions of the Anthropocene urgently require the identification understanding and support of enduring self perpetuating biocultural associations The geographical scope is broad with chapters discussing different tree species from the Americas and the Caribbean East Asia Eurasia and Australia and Africa By focusing on the tree one of the most reliably cross culturally valued and cross culturally recognized biological forms and one which invariably defines expansive landscapes this work illuminates how folk value binds the survival of more than human life forms with the survival of specific peoples in the era of biocultural loss the Anthropocene As such this collection of cross cultural cases of tree folk value represents a low hanging fruit for the larger project of exploring the power of cultural value of the more than human living world This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of conservation biodiversity biocultural studies and environmental anthropology

The Urban Garden City Sandrine Glatron, Laurence Granchamp, 2018-03-24 This book provides an interdisciplinary overview of the role of gardens in cities throughout different historical periods It shows that thanks to various forms of spatial and social organisation gardens are part of the material urban landscape biodiversity symbolic and social shape and assets of our cities and are increasingly becoming valued as an order to follow Gardens have long been part of the development of cities serving different purposes through the ages shaping neighborhoods to promote health or hygiene introducing aesthetic or biological elements gathering the citizens around a social purpose and providing food and diversity in times of crisis Highlighting examples that can serve as the basis for comparisons the chapters offer a brief panorama of experiences and models of gardens in the city in the European context and in various periods of history while also discussing issues related to garden cities urban agriculture and community gardens The contributors are university staff from various disciplines in the human and life sciences in discourse with other academics but also with practitioners who are interested in experiences with urban gardens and in promoting an awareness of their spatial social and philosophical goals throughout history The book will appeal to urban geographers sociologists and historians but also to urban ecologists dealing with ecosystem services biodiversity and sustainable development in cities From a more operational standpoint landscape planners and architects are sure to find many of the projects enlightening and inspirational

Our Shared Storm Andrew Dana Hudson, 2022-04-05 Through speculative fiction five interlocking novelettes explore the possible realities of our climate future What is the future of our climate Given that our summers now regularly feature Arctic heat waves and wildfire blood skies polar vortex winters that reach all the way down to Texas and 100 year storms that hit every few months it may seem that catastrophe is a done deal As grim as things are however we still have options Combining fiction and nonfiction and employing speculative tools for scholarly purposes Our Shared Storm explores not just one potential climate future but five possible outcomes dependent upon our actions today Written by speculative fiction writer and sustainability researcher Andrew Dana Hudson Our Shared Storm features five overlapping fictions to employ a futurist technique called scenarios thinking Rather than try to predict how history will unfold picking one out of many unpredictable and contingent branching paths it instead creates a set of futures that represent major trends or counterposed possibilities based on a set of climate modeling scenarios known as the Shared Socioeconomic Pathways SSPs The setting is the year 2054 during the Conference of the Parties global climate negotiations at a COP in Buenos Aires Argentina Each story features a common cast of characters but with events unfolding differently for them and human society in each alternate universe These five scenarios highlight the political economic and cultural possibilities of futures where investments in climate adaptation and mitigation promised today have been successfully completed kicked down the road or abandoned altogether From harrowing to hopeful these stories highlight the choices we must make to stabilize the planet Our Shared Storm is an experiment in deploying practice based research methods to explore the opportunities and challenges of using climate fiction to engage scientific and academic frameworks
