

Language Learning and Language Use Strategies

- 'Language learning strategies' – referring to the conscious and semi-conscious thoughts and behaviors used by learners with the explicit goal of improving their knowledge and understanding of a target language.
- 'Language use strategies' – referring to strategies for using the language that has been learned, however incompletely, including four sub-sets of strategies:
 - 'Retrieval strategies' (strategies used to call up language material from storage, for example, calling up the correct verb in its appropriate tense or retrieving the meaning of a word when it is heard or read).
 - 'Rehearsal strategies' (strategies for practicing target language structures, for example, rehearsing the subjunctive form for several Spanish verbs in preparation for using them communicatively in a request in Spanish to a teacher or boss to be excused for the day).
 - 'Communication strategies' (strategies used to convey a message that is both meaningful and informative for the listener or reader, for example, when we want to explain technical information for which we do not have the specialized vocabulary).
 - 'Cover strategies' (strategies for creating an appearance of language ability so as not to look unprepared, foolish or even stupid, for example, using a memorized and partially understood phrase in a classroom drill in order to keep the action going, or laughing at a joke that you did not understand at all).

Focus On The Language Learner:

Focus on the Language Classroom Dick Allwright, Kathleen M. Bailey, 1991-04-25 The authors set out to define the aims principles and objectives of recent research into what exactly happens in the language classroom to describe the findings of this work and to relate these to teaching practice Focus on the Language Learner Elaine Tarone, George Yule, 1989

The authors describe ideas techniques and procedures which will enable the practising language teacher to better identify the local needs of particular groups of second language learners and then work towards meeting those needs It is full of illustrative examples and practical exercises which teachers can adapt and use in their own classrooms Focus on the

Language Learner Elaine Tarone, 1995 The Developing Language Learner Dick Allwright, Judith Hanks, 2016-01-28

This book length treatment of Exploratory Practice introduces five propositions about learners as practitioners of learning who are capable of developing their expertise through conducting research in and on their own classroom learning lives

Focus on the Learner: Pragmatic Perspectives for the Language Teacher John W. Oller (Jr.), Jack C. Richards, 1973

Capitalizing on Language Learners' Individuality Tammy Gregersen, Peter D. MacIntyre, 2013-12-11 This book closes the gap between theory and classroom application by capitalizing on learners individuality in second or foreign language learning The book examines the existing literature and theoretical underpinnings of each of the most prominent learner characteristics including anxiety beliefs cognitive abilities motivation strategies styles and willingness to communicate This strong foundation coupled with the wide variety of activities that are suggested at the end of each chapter arms the reader with ideas to conquer the problems created by negative affect and to capitalize on positive facilitative emotions The tasks are unrestricted by language and can be modified for use with technology emergent learners and large classes making this book a useful resource for both in service teachers and pre service teachers in university language teacher education programs

Language-Learner Computer Interactions Catherine Caws, Marie-Josée Hamel, 2016-06-14 This book focuses on learner computer interactions LCI in second language learning environments drawing largely on sociocultural theories of language development It brings together a rich and varied range of theoretical discussions and applications in order to illustrate the way in which LCI can enrich our comprehension of technology mediated communication hence enhancing learners digital literacy skills The book is based on the premise that in order to fully understand the nature of language and literacy development in digital spaces researchers and practitioners in linguistics sciences and engineering need to borrow from each others theoretical and practical toolkits In light of this premise themes include such aspects as educational ergonomics affordances complex systems learning learner personas and corpora while also describing such data collecting tools as video screen capture devices eye tracking or intelligent learning tutoring systems The book should be of interest to applied linguists working in CALL language educators and professionals working in education as well as computer scientists and engineers wanting to expand their work into the analysis of human learner interactions with technology communication devices with a view to improving or re developing learning and communication instruments As of January 2019 this e book is freely available thanks to the support of libraries working with Knowledge Unlatched Language in Focus Kasia Papaja,Katarzyna Papaja,2016-12-14 Applied Linguistics is a field of academic enquiry that deals with the theoretical and empirical investigation of real issues which focus on language These issues include aspects of linguistics first or second language acquisition literacy language disorders foreign language learning and teaching bilingual education linguistic discrimination and language policy among others New approaches new theoretical concepts and new methods are a prerequisite for dealing with particular educational issues and as such this book focuses on the challenges and opportunities that emerge from this It brings together selected presentations given at the LIF2014 conference which took place in Antalya Turkey The main focus of this event was to reflect the internationality of the English language by drawing academicians researchers teachers and educational authorities from all over the world and providing them with the opportunity to exchange an interdisciplinary dialogue on the theoretical as well as purely practical implications of Applied Linguistics and ELT Focus on Content-Based Language Teaching Patsy M. Lightbown,2014-04-10 Examines the challenges of learning both language and content in the same class and reviews classroom based research on instructional practices that can meet those challenges in primary and secondary schools Focus ,1980 Handbook of Research on Integrating Technology Into Contemporary Language Learning and Teaching Zou, Bin,Thomas, Michael,2018-02-23 Technology has become an integral part of our everyday lives As today s teachers prepare to instruct a new generation of students the question is no longer whether technology should be integrated into the classroom but how The Handbook of Research on Integrating Technology Into Contemporary Language Learning and Teaching is a critical scholarly publication that examines the relationship between language education and technology and the ability to improve language education through technological advances Featuring coverage on a wide range of topics such as computer assisted language learning flipped instruction and teacher education this publication is geared toward researchers practitioners and education professionals seeking relevant research on the improvement of language education through the use of technology Language Learning Motivation Ema Ushioda,2020-07-13 In this thought provoking book Ema Ushioda asks why we research language learning motivation whose interests the research serves and who ultimately benefits Examining the major theoretical and research developments in this vibrant field from its origins to the present day the author interrogates the goals and values driving academic inquiry and argues for a more socially conscious and socially responsive orientation to researching language learning motivation The book challenges this research field to contribute to critical movements in applied linguistics to address globally and locally relevant societal issues where language and motivation matter Ema Ushioda s compelling authoritative and timely book re writes the story of L2 motivation research through the ethical lens Her probing reflection is not meant to soothe but to ask difficult questions about why we research and for whom It is impossible to imagine future L2 motivation scholarship that does not treat them seriously Maggie Kubanyiova Professor of Language Education University of Leeds Ema Ushioda is a Professor and Head of the Department of Applied Linguistics at the University of Warwick Oxford Applied Linguistics Series Advisers Anne Burns and Diane Larsen Freeman Contextual Language Learning Yu-Ju Lan, Scott Grant, 2021-08-31 This book presents research and developments in the virtual augmented technology and mixed reality used in language learning and teaching It provides the readers with a comprehensive overview of contextual language learning with the support of immersive technology From theoretical foundations methodological issues the features of virtual and augmented reality and educational practices of language learning to the future of immersive technology for and research on language learning During the past two decades abundant research on different realities has recognized the potential of language learning in virtual augmented and mixed reality environments Wang et al 2020 Lin Lan 2015 Given insufficient studies of Chinese learning in immersive contexts reported in existing literature this book includes several excellent studies about using immersive technologies for Chinese learning in addition to other foreign language learning such as English as a foreign language EFL Since learning Chinese has grown significantly as a global trend the authors vitally consolidate and synthesize various theoretical foundations visions and recent research and practices in the context of Chinese teaching from broader and more diverse perspectives On the other hand the chapters about EFL learning also shed light on the research on contextual language learning Thus the chapters included in this book will likely provide readers with a deep and extensive understanding of the potential of the smart combination of immersive technologies and language learning More issues for future research will undoubtedly be inspired by reading the chapters in this book Language Learner Strategies Michael James Grenfell, Vee Harris, 2017-10-19 Language Learner Strategies combines principles with research and classroom practice providing a new view of language learning to inform policy and teaching methodology Divided into three parts the book draws links between language learning theory in the established research literature the authors own empirical studies and the implications for curriculum policy and teacher education The book addresses issues that to date have not been fully explored including the strategies of the 12 15 year old age range learning Modern Languages such as French German Spanish and Mandarin Chinese A special focus is given to the sociocultural aspects of learner strategies and their link with psychological contexts in which they are used The authors explore the cognitive turn in language learner strategy research and the practical teaching approaches it helps to develop It sets a future agenda for learner strategy research and classroom practice Towards an Understanding of Language Learner Self-Concept Sarah Mercer, 2011-01-04 This book contributes to our growing understanding of the nature and development of language learner self concept It assesses the relevant literature in the disciplines of psychology and applied linguistics and describes in depth qualitative research examining the self concepts of tertiary level EFL learners Although researchers in applied linguistics and SLA have recognized the importance of self constructs there remains little empirical work in the context of foreign language learning that focuses exclusively and at length on this central psychological construct The content of this monograph draws on interdisciplinary sources with input from psychology and applied linguistics It will appeal to students and researchers interested in language learner psychology as well as self related constructs in general The text provides insights into how learners view themselves and how these self beliefs can develop and affect the progress of an individual s language learning
