International Handbook on Geographical Education Rod Gerber,2013-03-09 I am very pleased to have been asked by Rod Gerber to provide a preface to such a book Not least because of the twenty four chapters eight are written by former students or colleagues with whom I have worked in the past and whom I still meet at conferences on geographical education It is with a certain pride and joy that I note the progress which has been made in geographical education both in its day to day teaching and in research in the twenty years following the end of my term of office as Chair of the Commission on Geographical Education of the International Geographical Union CGEIUG My successors Joe Stoltman Hartwig Haubrich Rod Gerber and now Lea Houtsonen have done much and are continuing to work hard to foster the development of geographical education This book is proof if proof were needed that the international collaboration in this field is alive and well with contributions coming from all the continents except Antarctica It would be a moribund subject that remained unaffected in one way or another by developments on the great world stage as Fairgrieve 1926 would have put it And as Rod Gerber shows the issues of globalisation of cultural encounters of differing value systems of new technologies of variable economic development and of environmental quality all feature as topics which influence and are influenced by geographical education

Teaching Young Children Mathematics Sydney L. Schwartz,2005-09-30 Children learn mathematics most effectively in contexts that are meaningful to them Realizing the potential of these contexts for fostering young children s mathematical learning while nurturing and challenging them requires knowledge of mathematics as well as of child development Avoiding the debates surrounding hands on learning vs direct instruction the author focuses on the value of different contexts for learning and illustrates ways to genuinely engage children as active learners The work is rich with examples of children s interactions with each other and with adults as they utilize and extend their understanding of mathematics Examples and guidelines for developing lessons and activities will be useful to educators and parents Chapters explore how we underestimate young children s mathematical capabilities how appropriate sequencing of learning and building on prior knowledge will enhance understanding what teachers including parent teachers need to know and high stakes testing This is a work that brings together the connections between knowing the basics and constructing knowledge in accessible and practical ways Cultural Encounters with the Environment Viola Haarmann, 2000 In Cultural Encounters with the Environment a distinguished group of contributors offers a fresh and original view of contemporary geography The authors explore the role of four traditional themes in the New cultural geography O the interplay between the evolution of particular biophysical niches and the activities of the culture groups that inhabit them the diffusion of cultural traits the establishment and definition of culture areas and the distinctive mix of geographical characteristics that gives places their special character in relation to one another By examining how cultural space is constructed how environment is remade understood and imaged as a consequence and how people lay claim to place this volume establishes a compelling case for the importance of these enduring concepts to present and future trajectories in cultural geography Catalog of Copyright Entries.
