Networks and Groups Bhaskar Dutta, Matthew O.

Jackson,2013-03-09 When Murat Sertel asked us whether we would be interested in organizing a special issue of the Review of Economic Design on the formation of networks and groups we were happy to accept because of the growing research on this important topic We were also pleasantly surprised at the response to our request for submissions to the special issue receiving a much larger number of sub missions than we had anticipated In the end we were able to put together two special issues of insightful papers on this topic Given the growing interest in this topic we also decided with encouragement from Murat to combine the special issues in the form of a book for wider dissemination However once we had decided to edit the book it was natural to move beyond the special issue to include at least some of the papers that have been influential in the literature on the formation of networks These papers were published in other journals and we are very grateful to the authors as well as the journals for permission to include these papers in the book

The Reparative Impulse of Queer Young Adult Literature Angel Daniel Matos,2024-10-01

The Reparative Impulse of Queer Young Adult Literature is a provocative meditation on emotion mood history and futurism in the critique of queer texts created for younger audiences Given critical demands to distance queer youth culture from narratives of violence sadness and hurt that have haunted the queer imagination this volume considers how post 2000s YA literature and media negotiate their hopeful purview with a broader and ongoing history of queer oppression and violence It not only considers the tactics that authors use in bridging a supposedly bad queer past with a better queer present but also offers strategies on how readers can approach YA reparatively given the field s attachments to normative capitalist and neoliberal frameworks Central to Matos argument are the use of historical hurt to spark healing and transformation the implementation of disruptive imagery and narrative structures to challenge normative understandings of time and feeling and the impact of intersectional thinking in reparative readings of queer youth texts The Reparative Impulse of Queer Young Adult Literature shows how YA cultural productions are akin to the broader queer imagination in their ability to move and affect audiences and how these texts encapsulate a significant and enduring change in terms of how queerness is or can be read structured represented and felt The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons research and independent study      The Reshaping of West European Party Politics Christoffer Green-Pedersen, 2019-07-31

Long gone are the times when class based political parties with extensive membership dominated politics. Instead, party politics has become issue based. Surprisingly few studies have focused on how the issue content of West European party politics has developed over the past decades. Empirically, Reshaping of West European Party Politics studies party politics in Belgium, Denmark, France, Germany, the Netherlands, Sweden, and the UK from 1980 and onwards. This book highlights the more complex party system agenda with the decline but not disappearance of macroeconomic issues, as well as the rise in new politics issues together with education and health care. Moreover, various new politics issues such as immigration, the environment, and European integration have seen very different trajectories. To explain the development of the individual issues, this volume develops a new theoretical model labelled the issue incentive model of party system attention. The aim of the model is to explain how much attention issues get throughout the party system, which is labelled the party system agenda. To explain the development of the party system agenda, one needs to focus on the incentives that individual policy issues offer to large mainstream parties, i.e. the typical Social Democratic, Christian Democratic, or Conservative Liberal parties that have dominated West European governments for decades. The core idea of the model is that the incentives that individual policy issues offer to these vote and office seeking parties depend on three factors: namely, issue characteristics, issue ownership, and coalition considerations. The issue incentive model builds on and develops a top-down perspective on which the issue content of party politics is determined by the strategic considerations of political parties and their competition with each other.

Eadie, 2009-05-15 Highlights the most important topics, issues, questions, and debates affecting the field of communication in the 21st Century      Identity-Focused ELA Teaching Richard Beach, Anthony Johnston, Amanda Haertling Thein, 2015-03-05 Countering the increased standardization of English language arts instruction requires recognizing and fostering students' unique identity construction across different social and cultural contexts. Drawing on current sociocultural theories of identity construction, this book posits that students construct multiple identities through use of five identity practices: adopting alternative perspectives, exploring connections across people and texts, negotiating identities across social worlds, developing agency through critical analysis, and reflecting on long-term identity trajectories. Identity-Focused ELA Teaching features classroom activities teachers can use to put these practices into action.

in ways that re center implementing the Common Core State Standards case study profiles of students and classrooms from urban suburban and rural schools adopting these practices and descriptions of how teachers both support students with this instructional approach and share their own identity construction experiences with their students It demonstrates how as students acquire identity focused practices through engagements with literature writing drama and digital texts they gain awareness of the ways exposure to different narratives beliefs and perspectives serves to mediate their own and others identities leading to different ways of being and becoming over time      How We Think, but not in School Patrick J. Lewis, 2007-01-01 If story is the basic principle of mind then what are we doing in elementary schools In this provocative exploration of narrative the author writes from the idea that story is integral to the generation of meaning in human experience Indeed story plays a significant role in the formation of identity and the development of greater empathic understanding The text begins with a discussion of the epistemological and ontological nature of narrative in human understanding and then travels across the narrative landscape of the school setting Through an examination of the impact of standards and accountability emphasis on curriculum the author suggests current practice may be undermining student learning and engagement Further the author places oracy in temporary opposition to literacy challenging us to rethink our assumptions about the role of literacy in learning Without negating the importance of literacy attention is drawn to what is lost in chasing the assumed inherent goodness of a text based literacy and how this might hinder the growth of our children The value of narrative in developing teaching practice and promoting significant learning is brought to the foreground of the discussion which naturally journeys into an exploration of curriculum raising serious questions about developmental approaches to curriculum construction How we think but not in school will appeal to elementary teachers early literacy teachers teacher educators and those interested in narrative      Tense and Aspect in Han Period Chinese Barbara Meisterernst, 2014-12-12 Many grammatical issues of Archaic and Medieval Chinese still lack a comprehensive analysis The book provides the first thorough investigation of the syntactic and semantic constraints of the linguistic categories tense and aspect and their relation with the lexical aspect of the verb in Han period Chinese The author uncovers fascinating details of a language with a highly restricted verbal morphology      EJBRM Volume 8 Issue 2 ,
