Current Trends in Knowledge Acquisition Bob Wielinga,1990 Knowledge acquisition has become a major area of artificial intelligence and cognitive science research The papers in this book show that the area of knowledge acquisition for knowledge based systems is still a diverse field in which a large number of research topics are being addressed However several main themes run through the papers First the issues of integrating knowledge from different sources and K A tools is a salient topic in many papers A second major topic in the papers is that of knowledge modelling Research in knowledge based systems emphasises the use of generic models of reasoning and its underlying knowledge An important trend in the area of knowledge modelling aims at the formalisation of knowledge models Where the field of knowledge acquisition was without tools and techniques years ago now there is a rapidly growing body of techniques and tools Apart from the integrated workbenches already mentioned above several papers in this book present new tools Although knowledge acquisition and machine learning have been considered as separate subfields of AI there is a tendency for the two fields to come together This publication combines machine learning techniques with more conventional knowledge elicitation techniques A framework is presented in which reasoning problem solving and learning together form a knowledge intensive system that can acquire knowledge from its own experience

Other Minds Anita Avramides,2000-12-21 How do we know whether there are other minds besides our own The problem of other minds raises many questions which are at the root of all philosophical investigations how it is we know what is the mind and can we be certain about any of our beliefs In this compelling analysis of other minds Anita Avramides traces the question from the Ancient Sceptics through to Descartes Malebranche Locke Berkeley Reid and Wittgenstein The second part of the book explores the views of influential contemporary philosophers such as Strawson Davidson Nagel and Searle Other Minds provides a clear insightful introduction to one of the most important problems in philosophy It will prove invaluable to all students of philosophy

Between Vision

and Obedience—Rethinking Theological Epistemology George Ille, 2013-12-12 The discussions about subject and validation in our late modernity tend to oscillate between the weak self of postmodernity empty or rhetorical and neo Cartesian versions trying as they do to recover a discredited foundation Correspondingly the solutions advanced range from calls for a New Enlightenment in the face of the resurgence of myth and the irrational to attempts to re enchant the world in the face of the growing threat of an impersonal instrumental Reason The present study seeks to respond theologically to such a situation from the perspective of God's action in and towards the world by engaging two prominent philosophical theological figures who continue to inform such discussions today namely Georg Friedrich Hegel and Paul Ricoeur The upshot of this response points to a view of rationality that follows the drama of God's engagement with the world thus involving both dying and resurrection asceticism and abundance suffering witness and eucharistic communion Before the Flood Ian

Wilson, 2014-04-01 In the six hundredth year of Noah's life in the second month the seventeenth day of the month the same day were all the fountains of the great deep broken up and the windows of heaven were opened And the rain was upon the earth forty days and forty nights The great Biblical flood so described in Genesis has long been a subject of fascination and speculation In the 19th century the English archbishop James Ussher established it as having happened in the year 2348 B C calculating what was then taken as the age of the earth and working backward through the entire series of Biblical bequests Proof of the flood which is an element of so many creation myths began in earnest when archaeology started connecting physical evidence with Biblical story The dream of proving the Bible as literal truth has proven irresistible producing both spurious claims and serious scholarship As best selling historian Ian Wilson reveals in this fascinating new book evidence of a catastrophic event has been building steadily culminating in the work of William Ryan and Walter Pitman Several years ago Ryan and Pitman had posited that around 5600 BC there had an inundation in the Black Sea of such proportions that it turned the freshwater lake into a saltwater lake by connecting it to the Mediterranean Were that true they estimated that there would be signs of civilization 300 feet below the surface of the Black Sea In September 2000 using his famous underwater equipment Robert Ballard of SS Titanic fame explored parts of the Black Sea near the Turkish shore and found the remains of wood houses There had been a flood and whether God's wrath or not it had destroyed everything around it for hundreds of miles killing tens of thousands of people Exploring all the archeological evidence Wilson explains how the Black Sea flood and the Biblical flood have to be connected In particular Wilson argues learnedly and persuasively that the center of the civilized world was further to the West than previously thought not in Egypt or Mesopotamia but in what is today Northern Turkey The earliest antediluvian civilizations may have migrated east into those places we have come to call the cradles of civilization forced by the Black Sea flood to create new settlements Scrupulous in its details and compelling in its sweep Before the Flood is narrative detective history at its most provocative contributing a vital new chapter to the debate about the Bible and origins of the modern world
