

The background of the cover is a painting of two young girls running through a grassy field at night. The girl on the left is Black, wearing a green dress with a white apron. The girl on the right is white, wearing a brown dress with a white collar and apron. They are both looking forward with determination. A large, bright full moon hangs in a dark blue sky with wispy clouds. The overall mood is one of hope and freedom.

Lincoln and Black Freedom LaWanda Cox, 2021-05-10 Reveals the political savvy and egalitarian convictions behind Lincoln's racial policies In the midst of America's civil rights movement historians questioned the widely held belief that Abraham Lincoln was the Great Emancipator They pictured him as a white supremacist moved by political expediency to issue the Emancipation Proclamation In Lincoln and Black Freedom LaWanda Cox a leading Reconstruction historian argues that Lincoln was a consistent friend of African American freedom but a friend whose oblique leadership style often obscured the strength of his commitment Cox reveals Lincoln's cautious rhetoric and policies as deliberate strategy to achieve his joint goals of union and emancipation and she demonstrates that his wartime reconstruction efforts in Louisiana moved beyond a limited concept of freedom for the former slaves Cox's final chapter explores the limits of the possible concluding that had Lincoln lived through his second term the conflict between his successor and Congress could have been avoided and the postwar Reconstruction might have resulted in a more lasting measure of justice and equality for African Americans Lincoln emerges from Cox's study as a masterful politician whose sure grasp of the nature of presidential leadership speaks not only to the difficulties of his age but also to the challenges of our own time
