Reading the Ruins Leo Mellor, 2011-09-15 From fires to ghosts and from flowers to surrealist apparitions the bombsites of London were both unsettling and inspiring terrains Yet throughout the years prior to the Second World War British culture was already filled with ruins and fragments They appeared as content with visions of tottering towers and scraps of paper and also as form in the shapes of broken poetics But from the outbreak of the Second World War what had been an aesthetic mode began to resemble a proleptic template During that conflict many modernist writers such as Graham Greene Louis MacNeice David Jones J F Hendry Elizabeth Bowen T S Eliot and Rose Macaulay engaged with devastated cityscapes and the altered lives of a nation at war To understand the potency of the bombsites both in the Second World War and after Reading the Ruins brings together poetry novels and short stories as well as film and visual art

John Ashbery and Anglo-American Exchange Oli Hazzard, 2018 This book shows how Ashbery's poetry has been centrally concerned with questions of national identity and intercultural poetic exchange Through detailed close readings of his poetry original interviews and extensive archival research a new account of Ashbery's aesthetic and a significant re mapping of post war

English poetry is presented Living in History Luke Roberts, 2024-05-31 Challenging received ideas about the British Poetry Revival Luke Roberts presents a new account of experimental poetry and literary activism Drawing on a wide range of contexts and traditions Living in History begins by examining the legacies of empire and exile in the work of Kamau Brathwaite J H Prynne and poets associated with the Communist Party and the African National Congress It then focuses on the work of Linton Kwesi Johnson Denise Riley Anna Mendelssohn and others in the development of liberation struggles around gender race and sexuality across the 1970s Tracking the ambivalence between poetic ambition and political commitment and how one sometimes interferes with the other Luke Roberts troubles the exclusions of British Poetry as a category and tests the claims made on behalf avant garde and experimental poetics against the historical record Bringing together both major and neglected authorships and offering extended close readings fresh archival research and new contextual evidence Living in History is an ambitious and exciting intervention in the field A Concise Companion to Modernism David Bradshaw, 2008-04-15 This concise Companion offers an innovative approach to understanding the Modernist literary mind in Britain focusing on the intellectual and cultural contexts which shaped it Offers an innovative approach to understanding the Modernist literary mind in Britain Helps readers to grasp the intellectual and cultural contexts of literary Modernism Organised around contemporary ideas such as Freudianism and eugenics rather than literary genres Relates literary Modernism to the overarching issues of the period such as feminism imperialism and war British Literature in Transition, 1960-1980: Flower Power Catherine Mary McLoughlin, 2019 This volume traces transitions in British literature from 1960 to 1980 illuminating a diverse range of authors texts genres and movements It considers innovations in form emergent identities changes in attitudes preoccupations and in the mind itself local and regional developments and shifts within the oeuvres of individual authors Passionate Intellect Michael Kirkham, 1999-01-01 This critical study looks at the first four decades of Charles Tomlinson's poetic career and is the only published full scale exclusive treatment of his poetry Tomlinson is a major British poet whose work has received more recognition in North America and continental Europe than it has in his own country where still in some quarters its character is misunderstood and therefore misjudged The purpose of Kirkham's study is to increase understanding and appreciation of the exceptional achievement of Tomlinson's poetry emphasizing both the startling originality of his vision a unified vision of a natural human world and the subtlety of his poetic art The study is a reading of the poems which aims to show what they yield to close scrutiny and to remove misconceptions Known for its analytical rendering of sense impressions and its avoidance of the personal pronoun the objectivism of Tomlinson's poetry is not an exercise in asceticism but a means of enlarging the circumference of the perceiving self an expansion of self which is not at the same time an inflation of the self regarding ego Its theme is not objects as such but relations the relation of the perceiving self to the other of the human to the non human world Its reputation for cool detachment is based on a misreading it is a poetry of energy and excitement which combines self restraint with passionate conviction A Concise Companion to Postwar British and Irish Poetry Nigel Alderman, C. D.

Blanton, 2014-02-03 This volume introduces students to the most important figures, movements and trends in post war British and Irish poetry. An historical overview and critical introduction to the poetry published in Britain and Ireland over the last half century. Introduces students to figures including Philip Larkin, Ted Hughes, Seamus Heaney and Andrew Motion. Takes an integrative approach, emphasizing the complex negotiations between the British and Irish poetic traditions and pulling together competing tendencies and positions. Written by critics from Britain, Ireland and the United States. Includes suggestions for further reading and a chronology detailing the most important writers, volumes and events Basil

Bunting Julian Stannard, 2014 This study explores Basil Bunting's poetry position as a point of inspiration for younger poets and describes the ways in which it acts as a platform to show that Anglo American modernism was not incompatible with native traditions The Oxford Handbook of Contemporary British and Irish Poetry Peter Robinson, 2013-09-26 The Oxford Handbook of Contemporary British and Irish Poetry offers thirty eight chapters of ground breaking research that form a collaborative guide to the many groupings and movements, the locations and styles as well as concerns, aesthetic, political, cultural and ethical that have helped shape contemporary poetry in Britain and Ireland. The book's introduction offers an anthropological participant observer approach to its variously conflicted subjects while exploring the limits and openness of the contemporary as a shifting and never wholly knowable category. The five ensuing sections explore a history of the period's poetic movements, its engagement with form, technique and the other arts, its association with particular locations and places, its connection with and difference from poetry in other parts of the world and its circling around such ethical issues as whether poetry can perform actions in the world, can atone, redress or repair and how its significance is inseparable from acts of evaluation in both poets and readers. Though the book is not structured to feature chapters on authors thought to be canonical on the principle that contemporary writers are by definition not yet canonical, the volume contains commentary on many prominent poets as well as finding space for its contributors' enthusiasms for numerous less familiar figures. It has been organized to be read from cover to cover as an ever deepening exploration of a complex field, to be read in one or more of its five thematically structured sections or indeed to be read by picking out single chapters or discussions of poets that particularly interest its individual readers Cultures of Modernism Cristanne Miller, 2007 Examines the influences of location on the literary achievements of three modernist women writers Twentieth Century Poetry Peter Robinson, 2005

Peter Robinson's third book of literary criticism presents a sequence of chapters exploring ways that selves and situations interact and become imaginatively identified with each other in poems. Readings of works by Ezra Pound, Basil Bunting, Louis MacNeice, W. S. Graham, Elizabeth Bishop, Allen Curnow, Charles Tomlinson, Mairi MacInnes, Tom Raworth and Roy Fisher share an interest in how poems can be both attached to and detached from the culture, society and conditions in which they were written. These studies draw out and underline both the ubiquity and elusiveness of the self in the situation of the text.

The poems studied here are also discussed as focal points for relations between readerly and writerly selves and their situations in and over time

A History of Modernist Poetry Alex Davis, Lee M. Jenkins, 2015-04-27 A History of Modernist Poetry examines innovative anglophone poetries from decadence to the post war period The first of its three parts considers formal and contextual issues including myth politics gender and race while the second and third parts discuss a wide range of individual poets including Ezra Pound T S Eliot W B Yeats Mina Loy Gertrude Stein Wallace Stevens William Carlos Williams and Marianne Moore as well as key movements such as Imagism Objectivism and the Harlem Renaissance This book also addresses the impact of both World Wars on experimental poetries and the crucial role of magazines in disseminating and proselytizing on behalf of poetic modernism The collection concludes with a wide ranging discussion of the inheritance of modernism in recent writing on both sides of the Atlantic

The Cambridge Companion to Twentieth-Century British and Irish Women's Poetry Jane Dowson, 2011-03-17 This Companion is aimed at students and poetry enthusiasts wanting to deepen their knowledge of some of the finest modern poets It provides new approaches to a wide range of influential women's poetry a chronology and guide to further reading

Avant-Folk: Small Press Poetry Networks from 1950 to the Present Ross Hair, 2016-11-01 A critical study of the intersection of folk and avant garde poetics in transatlantic small press poetry networks from the 1950s up to the present
