Five Women of Sennar Susan M. Kenyon, 1991 Sudan the largest country in Africa has become an increasingly familiar place in the last few years as television screens illustrate the political economic and ecological disasters that have overtaken many of its people The far west and the eastern provinces have been badly hit by the long drought while the central area has recently suffered from flooding Meanwhile political strife has been steadily tearing the south apart and developments such as rapid urban growth large scale population movements and monetary inflation have led to social unrest For Sudanese women especially times are changing and not only to their disadvantage Everywhere they are becoming more independent and confident and assuming new responsibilities as their menfolk leave to seek work abroad Susan Kenyon looks at the developments in Sudanese society through the eyes and words of five women from the town of Sennar in Blue Nile Province They talk about their families and homes their hopes and aspirations their work and their social lives Their accounts offer insight into contemporary life in a major developing country and the changing role of women within its society

Kenyon, 2012-09-13 This historical ethnography from Central Sudan explores the century old intertwining of zar spirit possession with past lives of ex slaves and shows that despite very different social and cultural contexts zar has continued to be shaped by the experience of slavery

The Sudanese Zār Ṭumbura Cult Gerasimos Makris, 2023-11-30 This book offers a historically sensitive ethnography of the z r umbura spirit possession cult associated with descendants of African slaves who live mainly in the area of Greater Khartoum Sudan It considers the history and transformations of umbura from the 19th century slaving era to the present post Islamist autocracy The chapters examine the umbura spiritual universe and ceremonial life its relation to the more popular female cult of z r bor and to other now extinct forms of celebrating the z r spirit s as well as umbura s combination of possession sorcery ancestor worship and f piety Based on long term fieldwork the study shows how successive generations of subaltern cult devotees construct a positive self identity based on an alternative reading of Sudanese history The author explores the edges of Sudanese Islamic religiosity and probes the limits of anthropological classifications concerning religious experience Situating umbura in its wider context the book discusses subaltern modes of historicity in their articulation with dominant conceptions of history traces the legacy of slavery and the role of memory and invites comparisons with Middle Eastern Sahelian and even New World societies regarding stigmatised identities slavery race memory and history It will be of interest to scholars of anthropology history religious studies Islamic studies and African studies

Transforming Displaced Women in Sudan Rogaia Mustafa Abusharaf, 2009-08-01 Over twenty years of civil war in predominantly Christian Southern Sudan has forced countless people from their homes Transforming Displaced Women in Sudan examines the lives of women who have forged a new community in a shantytown on the outskirts of Khartoum the largely Muslim heavily Arabized capital in the north of the country Sudanese born anthropologist Rogaia Mustafa Abusharaf delivers a rich ethnography of this squatter settlement based on personal interviews with displaced women and careful observation of the various strategies they adopt to reconstruct their lives and livelihoods Her findings debunk the myth that these settlements are utterly abject and instead she discovers a dynamic culture where many women play an active role in fighting for peace and social change Abusharaf also examines the way women's bodies are politicized by their displacement analyzing issues such as religious conversion marriage and female circumcision An urgent dispatch from the ongoing humanitarian crisis in northeastern Africa Transforming Displaced Women in Sudan will be essential for anyone concerned with the interrelated consequences of war forced migration and gender inequality Workers of the Empire, Unite Yann Béliard, Neville Kirk, 2021-03-01 In most studies of British decolonisation the world of labour is neglected the key roles being allocated to metropolitan statesmen and native elites Instead this volume focuses on the role played by working people their experiences initiatives and organisations in the dissolution of the British Empire both in the metropole and in the colonies How central was the intervention of the metropolitan Left in the liquidation of the British Empire Were labour mobilisations in the colonies only stepping stones for bourgeois nationalists To what extent were British labour activists willing and able to form connections with colonial workers and vice versa Here are some of the complex questions on which this volume sheds new light Though convergences were fragile and temporary this book recapture the sense of uncertainty that accompanied the final decades of the British Empire a period when radical minorities hoped that coordinated efforts across borders might lead not only to the destruction of the British Empire but to that of capitalism and imperialism in general Exploiting rare primary sources and adopting a resolutely transnational approach our collection makes an original contribution to both labour history and imperial studies Islam's Perfect Stranger Edward Thomas, 2010-11-23 Can Sudan one of Africa's most diverse countries function as an Islamic state Mahmud Muhammad Taha posed an original answer to this question Taha was the charismatic leader of the Republican Brothers and Sisters a small group of Sudanese nationalists who called for a mystical inclusive reinterpretation of Islam that ended traditional legal discriminations against women and non Muslims Taha's followers pitched his sometimes controversial mix of law and mysticism on Sudanese street corners in the 1970s Sudanese Islamist politicians who used a more divisive interpretation of Islam opposed him vigorously When they gained control of the state in the chaotic 1980s Taha was executed In Taha's first biography Edward Thomas explores the life and ideas of an important Sudanese reformer who has become a symbol for resistance tolerance and human rights The Possessed and the Dispossessed Lesley A. Sharp, 2023-11-15 This finely drawn portrait of a complex polycultural urban community in Madagascar emphasizes the role of spirit medium healers a group heretofore seen as having little power These women Leslie Sharp argues are far from powerless among the peasants and migrant laborers who work the land in this plantation economy In fact Sharp's wide ranging analysis shows that tromba or spirit possession is central to understanding the complex identities of insiders and outsiders in this community which draws people from all over the island and abroad Sharp's study also reveals the contradictions between indigenous healing and Western derived Protestant healing and psychiatry Particular attention to the significance of migrant women s and children s experiences in a context of seeking relief from personal and social ills gives Sharp s investigation importance for gender studies as well as for studies in medical anthropology Africa and Madagascar the politics of culture and religion and ritual This finely drawn portrait of a complex polycultural urban community in Madagascar emphasizes the role of spirit medium healers a group heretofore seen as having little power These women Leslie Sharp argues are far from powerless among the peasants a

Seri-Hersch, Lucie Revilla, Anael Poussier, Mahassin Abdul Jalil, 2023-07-24 This book starts from the premise that the study of exceptionally normal women and men as conceived by microhistory has radical implications for understanding history and politics and applies this notion to Sudan Against a historiography dominated by elite actors and international agents it examines both how ordinary people have brought about the most important political shifts in the country's history including the recent revolution in 2019 and how they have played a role in maintaining authoritarian regimes It also explores how men and women have led their daily lives through a web of ordinary worries desires and passions The book includes contributions by historians anthropologists and political scientists who often have a dual commitment to Middle Eastern and African studies While focusing on the complexity and nuances of Sudanese local lives in both the past and the present it also connects Sudan and South Sudan with broader regional global and imperial trends The book is divided into two volumes and six parts ordered thematically The first part tackles the entanglement between archives social history and power The second focuses on women's agency in history and politics from the Funj era to the recent 2018 2019 revolution Part 3 includes contributions on the history and global connections of the Sudanese armed forces In the second volume part 4 intersects the themes of urban life leisure and colonial attitudes with queerness In part 5 labour identities practices and institutions are discussed both in urban milieus and against the background of war and expropriation in rural areas Finally part 6 studies the construction of social consent under various self-styled Islamic regimes as well as the emergence of alternative imaginaries and acts of citizenship in times of political openness

Gender, Race, and Sudan's Exile Politics Nada Mustafa Ali, 2015-07-29 Gender Race and Sudan's Exile Politics examines the gendered and racialized discourses and practices of the Sudanese opposition in exile through the opposition movements of the 1990s and early 2000s and discusses the history through which these discourses evolved The military coup that brought the National Islamic Front NIF now National Congress Party NCP to power in 1989 not only forced most political parties trade unions and activists in Sudan into either exile politics or underground activism it also urged many of Sudan's political forces and activists to rethink the meaning of belonging and of the Old Sudan In the mid 1990s this involved a rethinking of the relationship between religion and politics acknowledging Sudan's diversity acknowledging the need to restructure Sudan's economy and politics to ensure equal access and participation for the historically marginalized and committing to self-determination for the people of South Sudan The concept of the New Sudan broadly captured this rethinking This book interrogates the relationship between women's organizations and activism in exile on one hand and nationalist transformative and other political movements and processes on the other It further discusses transnational coalition building across difference including racial difference between women's organization seeking to transform gender relations in Sudan and South Sudan      Slaves of Fortune Ronald M. Lamothe, 2011 The Anglo Egyptian conquest of Sudan Churchill's River War has been well chronicled from the British point of view but we still know little about its front line troops the Sudanese soldiers of the Egyptian Army Making use of unpublished primary sources and published material located in the United Kingdom and Sudan Slaves of Fortune provides an historiographic correction It argues that nineteenth century Sudanese slave soldiers were social beings and historical actors shaping both European and African destinies just as their own lives were being transformed by imperial forces Jacket      Frontiers of Medicine in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, 1899-1940 Heather Bell, 1999-06-10 Much recent work on the history of colonial medicine argues that medicine was the handmaiden of colonial power and of capitalism Dr Bell challenges this interpretation through careful investigation of the complicated relationship between medicine politics and capital in the Anglo Egyptian Sudan Subverting the accepted wisdom that colonial medicine consisted primarily of white male doctors treating black patients Dr Bell highlights the important role of women and of African and non European practitioners of Western medicine She moves beyond the realm of medical practice to consider the relationship between medical research and colonial power And she argues that a new international medicine emerged during the interwar period modifying and even supplanting existing colonial relationships Frontiers of Medicine examines the physical epidemiological and professional boundaries that endlessly preoccupies colonial officials Emphasising the tenuousness of colonial power it includes chapters on midwifery training and female circumcision on health and racial ideology and on the quest to find the yellow fever virus in East Africa Accepted wisdom maintains that colonial medicine consisted primarily of white doctors treating black patients that it was mainly about medical practice and that it was driven by colonial relationships Dr Bell subverts these notions with detailed evidence of the participation of women and native Africans as trained medical personnel in the Anglo Egyptian Sudan and demonstrates the tenuousness of colonial power in practice There are chapters on midwifery training and female circumcision on health and racial ideology and on the quest to find yellow fever virus in East Africa Dr Bell also investigates the relationship between colonial power and medical research arguing that a new international medicine emerged during the inter war period
