Flavor Of The Week:

Lean Empowerment and Respect for People Trevor Gundlach, 2024-02-20 There are two pillars of a Lean Management System Continuous Improvement and Respect for People Most books about Lean Production have focused overwhelmingly on Continuous Improvement and fail to treat Respect for People as an equal pillar It is overlooked or understated resulting not in a Lean house but in a lean to structure It is our responsibility to level out the structure once again The study of people is messy and exciting It demands that we explore multiple interdisciplinary studies including psychology sociology philosophy and even theology This book runs a parallel course with Lean Production but has a different goal Instead of production efficiency and financial gains our goal is to understand the reasons why staff come to work in the morning We can only understand a system when we understand its people They own the culture Lean must therefore evolve from a Production System into an Empowerment System Lean Production will no longer serve the contemporary workforce knowledge workers if you are reading this you are likely a knowledge worker who deserves more than a repackaging of the same ideas You are not a line worker and your system should not treat you as such Therefore we need a new system One that prioritizes Respect for People over Continuous Improvement Leaders in this system must recognize belonging and psychological safety as preconditions to process innovation New definitions of value and waste the staples of Lean philosophy must take on a more human face and propel the change of culture We must flip Lean on its head for the sake of our modern workforce
