Connolly, 2018-07-21 The Bram Stoker Award finalist short story collection Voices Tales of Horror includes the definitive versions of eleven classic and two new stories of psychologically affecting horror along with commentary by the author Combining the genre bending stories of Lawrence C Connolly with the surreal art of World Fantasy Award nominee Jason Zerrillo Voices is an exploration of the art of storytelling where whispers become screams and images echo in the mind This is more than a story collection it s a sounding of the depths of horror This second edition includes a new foreword by horror director Mick Garris and a bonus story by Connolly Reminded by the Instruments You Nakai, Yu Nakai, 2021 David Tudor is remembered today as an extraordinary pianist of post war avant garde music who worked closely with composers like John Cage and Karlheinz Stockhausen and as a founding figure of live electronic music His bold reinterpretation of Cage s Variations II and his idiosyncratic performances using homemade modular instruments inspired a whole generation of musicians But his reticence his unorthodox approaches and the diversity of his creative output which began with the organ and ended with visual art have kept Tudor a puzzle Reminded by the Instruments sets out to solve the puzzle of David Tudor by applying Tudor s own methods for approaching the materials of others to the vast archive of materials that he himself left behind Author You Nakai deftly patches together instruments electronic circuits sketches diagrams recordings letters receipts customs declaration forms and testimonies like modular pieces of a giant puzzle to reveal a new perspective on Tudor s creative process Rejecting the established narrative of Tudor as a performer turned composer this book presents a lively portrait of an artist whose work always merged both of these roles In reading Tudor s electronic devices as musicological texts and examining his dissection of electronic circuits Nakai transcends discourses on sound and illuminates our understanding of the instruments behind the sounds in post war experimental music

Rags of Night in Our Mouths Margo Wheaton, 2022-04-05 Silence in the belly of the breathing house Night so deep it's reaching through rooms as if searching its pockets Standing in the midst of her childhood home Margo Wheaton was struck by two things the extent of the damage caused by her father's and stepmother's alcoholism and the life force that pulsed in the once vibrant rooms and yard in the abandoned trees neglected flowerbeds and gardens her parents had planted and tended for decades Radiant grieving and intensely musical Rags of Night in Our Mouths is an exploration of human and environmental states of precarity and vulnerability In the opening suite Wheaton draws upon her family's deep roots in the Tantramar Marsh area and constructs a hallucinatory world of fragility chaos and searing natural beauty as she writes her own version of Maritime gothic Employing a variation of the ghazal a historically Persian form popularized in Canada by the late New Brunswick based poet John Thompson she surveys the ruins of her working class childhood home a thriving place now ravaged by generational alcoholism and despair Directed at first toward an absent beloved a convention of the ghazal tradition the focus moves in the second suite to the teeming non human world of an endangered saltmarsh on a wild shore of the Northumberland Strait bordering Nova Scotia New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island In the book's closing suite Wheaton honours a landscape slated to be destroyed and pays homage to the broken hearted the bereaved who walk the ragged shoreline struggling to make sense of losses and death Meditative and beautifully crafted Rags of Night in Our Mouths calls us to engage passionately with our suffering world

The Cinematographer's Voice Lindsay Coleman, Roberto Schaefer, 2022-06-01 The Cinematographer's Voice is a unique exploration of contemporary filmmaking and cinematography The distillation of more than one hundred interviews with cinematographers from around the world and the product of a decade's worth of scholarship the book is not only a collection of interviews with some of the world's leading cinematographers but also a panoramic sweep of what image making means in the era of digital cinema Frequently cinematography may seem intimidating as a discipline the preserve solely of practitioners who have learned through years of exposure to photographic technology both the required jargon and background knowledge to comfortably engage with an often technical field In our present era of film studies this is no longer the case The interviews collected here are informative not only on matters of technique but also on the ways in which practitioners formulate their methodologies work with directors and engage with the many logistical hurdles of visual storytelling The result is an oral history of the past forty years of filmmaking and the cinematography it has produced Art
