Soviet Life, 1969 The Horse-head Fiddle and the Cosmopolitan Reimagination of Tradition in Mongolia Peter K. Marsh, 2008-09-25 Few other nations have undergone as profound a change in their social political and cultural life as Mongolia did in the twentieth century Beginning the century as a largely rural nomadic and tradition oriented society the nation was transformed by the end of this century into a largely urban post industrial and cosmopolitan one This study seeks to understand the effects that Western inspired modernity has had on the nature of cultural tradition in the country focusing in particular on development of the morin khuur or horse head fiddle a two stringed bowed folk lute that features a horse s head carved into its crown As well as being one of the most popular instruments in the contemporary national musical culture it has also become an icon of Mongolian national identity and a symbol of the nation s ancient cultural heritage In its modern form however the horse head fiddle reflects the values of a modern cosmopolitan society that put it profoundly at odds with those of the traditional society In so doing it also reflects the cosmopolitan nature of the nation s contemporary national musical culture
