The Lost Peace Richard Sakwa,2023-01-01 The end of the Cold War was an opportunity our inability to seize it has led to today s renewed era of great power competition An eloquent and persuasive argument about how the world squandered the promise of the end of the Cold War Maria Lipman Foreign Affairs The year 1989 heralded a unique prospect for an enduring global peace as harsh ideological divisions and conflicts began to be resolved Now three decades on that peace has been lost With war in Ukraine and increasing tensions between China Russia and the West great power politics once again dominates the world stage But could it have been different Richard Sakwa shows how the years before the first mass invasion of Ukraine represented a hiatus in conflict rather than a lasting accord and how since then we have been in a Second Cold War Tracing the mistakes on both sides that led to the current crisis Sakwa considers the resurgence of China and Russia and the disruptions and ambitions of the liberal order that opened up catastrophic new lines of conflict This is a vital strongly argued account of how the world lost its chance at peace and instead saw the return of war in Europe global rivalries and nuclear brinksmanship

The Strategic Smorgasbord of Postmodernity Deborah Bowen,2011-05-25 Contemporary Christian critique often talks about postmodernism apocalyptically in terms of cultural crisis and decline instead the contributors to this volume believe that there is a new place for Christian entr es on the academic Smorgasbord of postmodernity and they see the postmodern turn as an opportunity for fresh perspectives on the spiritual dimensions of reading literature These twenty scholars are an eclectic group differing in theological and theoretical commitments but all identifying as Christian In this collection they enter into dialogue with a wide range of contemporary literary theorists and theoretical perspectives and offer new readings of primary texts informed by both these theoretical constructs and their Christian faith The manuscript strikes out in important new directions in its sympathetic reading of postmodern theory from a Christian perspective and even more significantly in its careful and measured dialogic approach to the relationship of Christian thought and contemporary literary theory Daniel Coleman Canada Research Chair in Critical Ethnicity and Race Studies Department of English and Cultural Studies McMaster University Too often Christian literary critics and theologians have preemptively dismissed postmodern theory even as secular critics have been equally dismissive about the contributions that the Christian faith tradition makes to the study of literature This volume successfully brings these two worlds together in innovative at times challenging and always rich ways I do not know of a similar volume in existence a work that gathers in one convenient publication a wide ranging set of discussions of contemporary literary theory by Christian scholars The editor has gathered an impressive and important set of papers here and I believe the volume will raise much interest and provoke a good deal of constructive debate Susan VanZanten Gallagher Professor of English Director Center for Scholarship and Faculty Development Seattle Pacific University
