In Search of Authenticity Regina

Bendix,1997-11-15 Authenticity is a notion much debated among discussants as diverse as cultural theorists and art dealers music critics and tour operators The desire to find and somehow capture or protect the authentic narrative art object or ceremonial dance is hardly new In this masterful examination of German and American folklore studies from the eighteenth century to the present Regina Bendix demonstrates that the longing for authenticity remains deeply implicated in scholarly approaches to cultural analysis Searches for authenticity Bendix contends have been a constant companion to the feelings of loss inherent in modernization forever upholding a belief in a pristine yet endangered cultural essence and fueling cultural nationalism worldwide Beginning with precursors of Herder and Emerson and the discovery of the authentic in expressive culture and literature she traces the different albeit intertwined histories of German Volkskunde and American folklore studies A Swiss native educated in American folklore programs Bendix moves effortlessly between the two traditions demonstrating how the notion of authenticity was used not only to foster national causes but also to lay the foundations for categories of documentation and analysis within the nascent field of folklore studies Bendix shows that in an increasingly transcultural world where Zulu singers back up Paul Simon and where indigenous artists seek copyright for their traditional crafts the politics of authenticity mingles with the forces of the market Arguing against the dichotomies implied in the very idea of authenticity she underscores the emptiness of efforts to distinguish between folklore and fakelore between echt and ersatz

Negotiating the Mediated City Zlatan Krajina, 2013-11-26 This book is an interdisciplinary empirical investigation of how people interact with public screens in their daily lives In more and more surprising locations screens of various kinds appear within the sightlines of passers by in contemporary cities Outdoor advertisers target audiences which are increasingly mobile public art uses screens to interrogate urban change while postmodern architecture finds electronic imagery a suitable tool of expression Traditionally urban sociology research has assumed that people seek to filter urban stimuli but recent accounts of public screens suggest producers design and position display interfaces site specifically so as to engage with those moving past This study offers insight both into the dynamics of actual encounters and into the long term process of how people learn to live with repeated invitations to consume media in public spaces The book includes four cases street advertising underground transport advertising and installation art in London UK and media facade architecture in Zadar Croatia Krajina shows that maintaining familiarity with everyday surroundings in media cities that change beyond citizens control is a temporary achievement and a recursive struggle Finalist for the Jane Jacobs Urban Communication Foundation book award 2014 Communications and Mobility David Morley, 2017-06-26 Communications and Mobility is a unique interdisciplinary look at mobility territory communication and transport in the 21st century with extended case studies of three icons of this era the mobile phone the migrant and the container box Urges scholars in media and communication to return to broader conceptions of the field that include mobility of all kinds information people and commodities Embraces perspectives from media studies science and technology studies sociology media anthropology and cultural geography Discusses ideas of virtual and embodied mobility network geographies de territorialization sedentarism nomadology connectivity containment and exclusion Integrates the often neglected transport studies into contemporary communication studies and theories of globalization Life in Media Mark Deuze, 2023-07-25 A new way to teach media studies that centers students lived experiences and diverse perspectives from around the world From the intimate to the mundane most aspects of our lives how we learn love work and play take place in media Taking an expansive global perspective this introductory textbook covers what it means to live in rather than with media Mark Deuze focuses on the lived experience how people who use smartphones the internet and television sets make sense of their digital environment to investigate the broader role of media in society and everyday life Life in Media uses relatable examples and case studies from around the world to illustrate the foundational theories concepts and methods of media studies The book is structured around six core themes how media inform and inspire our daily activities how we live our lives in the public eye how we make distinctions between real and fake how we seek and express love how we use media to effect change how we create media and shared narratives and how we seek to create well being within media By deliberately including diverse voices and radically embracing the everyday and mundane aspects of media life this book innovates ways to teach and talk about media Highlights diverse international voices images and cases Uses accessible examples from everyday life to contextualize theory Offers a comprehensive student centered introduction to media studies Extensively annotated bibliography offers dynamic sources for further study including readings and documentary films

Moment to Monument Ladina Bezzola Lambert, Andrea Ochsner, 2015-07-15 Why do certain works of art make it into the canon while others just enjoy a brief moment of recognition if at all How do moments produce monuments and why are monuments erased from our cultural memory in only a moment Taking into account these cultural processes of creating storing remembering and forgetting that are omnipresent and have an immense influence on how we perceive artefacts and cultural events the articles in this collection analyze the phenomenon of cultural production transmission and reception from various angles drawing on approaches from both literary and cultural studies With its transdisciplinary approach this book uniquely responds to an everyday cultural phenomenon that so far has not received such wide ranging attention

Handbook of Research on Tools for Teaching Computational Thinking in P-12 Education Kalogiannakis, Michail, Papadakis, Stamatios, 2020-06-26 While the growth of computational thinking has brought new awareness to the importance of computing education it has also created new challenges Many educational initiatives focus solely on the programming aspects such as variables loops conditionals parallelism operators and data handling divorcing computing from real world contexts and applications This decontextualization threatens to make learners believe that they do not need to learn computing as they cannot envision a future in which they will need to use it just as many see math and physics education as unnecessary The Handbook of Research on Tools for Teaching Computational Thinking in P 12 Education is a cutting edge research publication that examines the implementation of computational thinking into school curriculum in order to develop creative problem solving skills and to build a computational identity which will allow for future STEM growth Moreover the book advocates for a new approach to computing education that argues that while learning about computing young people should also have opportunities to create with computing which will have a direct impact on their lives and their communities Featuring a wide range of topics such as assessment digital teaching and educational robotics this book is ideal for academicians instructional designers teachers education professionals administrators researchers and students
