From The Margins:

From the Margins Christian T. Collins Winn, 2007-07-15 Recognized as a leading interpreter of major movements in American Christianity such as Evangelicalism Pentecostalism and the Holiness movement Donald W Dayton has produced a body of work spanning four decades and diverse areas of inquiry In From the Margins friends and colleagues respond to major essays by Dayton several published here for the first time so as to celebrate and reflect on this diverse and rich body of work The essays highlight the breadth of Dayton s contribution while also revealing a methodological core The latter could be described as Dayton s deconstructive reading of standard scholarly narratives in order to short circuit their domesticating effects on the more radical aspects of American Christianity Dayton s work has challenged long held assumptions about the conservative nature of American Christianity by showing that both in their history and in their deeper theological substructures traditions such as Evangelicalism and Pentecostalism are far more radical and productive of social change than was previously imagined

Essays from the Margins Luis N. Rivera-Pagán, 2014-11-18 These essays emerge from different crucial and complex conflicts from the memory of a bishop Bartolome de las Casas urging the pope of his time to cleanse the church of complicity with violence oppression and slavery from the lament and defiance of so many Middle Eastern women victims of male domination and too many wars from the voices bursting out from the colonial margins that dare to question and transgress the norms and laws imposed by colonizers and conquerors from the emerging and diverse theological disruptions of traditional orthodoxies and rigid dogmatisms from the denial of human rights to immigrant communities living in the shadows of opulent societies from the use of the sacred Hebrew Scriptures to displace and dispossess the indigenous peoples of Palestine The essays belong to different intellectual genres and conceptual crossroads and are thus illustrative of the dialogic imagination that the Russian intellectual Mikhail Bakhtin considered basic to any serious intellectual enterprise They are also the literary sediment of years of sharing lectures dialogues and debates in several academic institutions in the United States Mexico Argentina Chile Costa Rica Malaysia Switzerland Germany and Palestine

German History from the Margins Neil Gregor, Nils Roemer, Mark Roseman, 2006-06-14 German History from the Margins offers new ways of thinking about ethnic and religious minorities and other outsiders in modern German history Many established paradigms of German history are challenged by the contributors new and often provocative findings including evidence of the striking cosmopolitanism of Germany's 19th century eastern border communities German Jewry's sophisticated appropriation of the discourse of tribe and race the unexpected absence of antisemitism in Weimar's campaign against smut the Nazi embrace of purportedly Jewish sexual behavior and post war West Germany's struggles with ethnic and racial minorities despite its avowed liberalism Germany's minorities have always been active partners in defining what it is to be German and even after 1945 despite the legacy of the Nazis murderous destructiveness German society continues to be characterized by ethnic and cultural diversity

Doing Christian Ethics from the Margins Miguel A. De La Torre, 2014-04-30 Miguel De La Torre opens up Christian ethics to the rich diversity found among those who are often excluded from academic and Eurocentric ethical considerations This book seeks to help students realize that because the gospel message itself was proclaimed to the marginalized peoples of Judea the people who occupy the same disenfranchised spaces in our contemporary cultures are the ones who hold the interpretive key to understanding that gospel message The binding effects of power and privilege institutional or not can be overcome by a justice based ethics that avails itself of the perspectives and experiences of those on the margins Provided by publisher

Adu-Febiri, Everett Ofori, 2009-11-08 It is possible to overcome barriers to minority success in Canada The stance of this book is that new immigrants refugees and international students do not have to settle for underachievement despite the cultural and structural disadvantages they face in Canada. The fact is the unequal social structure of Canada has some cracks and many minorities have used strategic resources to open up these cracks and achieved tremendous upward social mobility in Canadian society from the margins. These documented minority successes in Canada in the face of systemic marginalization provide lessons and hope for new immigrants, refugees, and international students. The economic, political, social, and cultural problems that minorities encounter in Canadian institutions, organizations, communities, and from individuals overwhelm and break many of them. However, some minorities break records in the face of the frustrations they encounter. What accounts for the success of the latter group of immigrants, refugees, and international students in Canada? Individual efforts and personal ambitions are not enough to explain these success stories. This book highlights strategies and support systems that facilitate minority strategic connections with Canadian mainstream institutions, organizations, and individuals to win from the margins of society. Although the book does not get into the theories of inequality, equity, and diversity, it does acknowledge the structural and cultural barriers to minority success in Canada. That is, it does not blame individual minorities for not making it in Canada. Rather, it points to strategic resources that new immigrants, refugees, and international students can use to help them overcome some of the barriers to success in Canada.

From the Margins to the Mainstream: an Action Agenda for Literacy John Comings, 2008-10. Many adults in our nation lack literacy skills and knowledge, and they and their families are falling further and further behind. The Nat Literacy Summit 2000 began as a joint public-private effort to help the nation get serious about meeting its literacy challenges. A major Summit meeting was followed by more than 25 meetings around the country to craft a shared goal for a literate America and to outline the actions that can make that goal a reality. The voices of hundreds of people from different groups and sectors—teachers, tutors, administrators, researchers, business people, social service providers policymakers and adult students themselves all contributed to creating a strategy for the work to be done This report synthesizes the wealth of recommendations received Illus

Empire from the Margins Martin Jacobs, 2025-07-15 The writings of three early modern Jewish historians highlight the divided allegiances of a Jewish diaspora living in and between the Spanish and Ottoman empires In 1492 the year that marked the start of Spain's transatlantic expansion the Spanish monarchs expelled their Jewish subjects and triggered a mass Jewish migration to the lands of the Ottoman empire But while the rise of these rival empires had tremendous impact on the Jewish population's geography the historical accounts of contemporary Jews have remained peripheral to the study of early modern imperialism In Empire from the Margins Martin Jacobs seeks to understand how the history of empires appears through the lens of marginalized communities and to explore how Jews responded to Spanish and Ottoman imperial expansion He approaches this history through the Hebrew chronicles of three sixteenth and seventeenth century Jewish authors Elijah Capsali of Crete Joseph ha Kohen of Genoa and Joseph Sambari of Cairo all lived in early modern hubs with global connections and in unusual detail for premodern Jewish historians they described how the Spanish and Ottoman empires redrew the political cultural and religious map of the Mediterranean region while simultaneously transforming the transatlantic world As Jews these writers belonged to an ethno religious minority within the Mediterranean basin where the Spanish and Ottoman empires were centered and from here they expressed marginalized views on the Spanish and Ottoman regimes At the same time these Jewish authors belonged to Jewish networks that transcended imperial boundaries and they voiced conflicting loyalties between different authorities and cultures And Jacobs shows that in writing about the Spanish and Ottoman expansion these authors also grappled with the Jews precarious position in their host societies and their own multilayered identities Their shifting positionalities illuminate the divided allegiances of a Jewish diaspora living in and between competing empires

Squee from the Margins Rukmini Pande, 2018-12-01 Rukmini Pande's examination of race in fan studies is sure to make an immediate contribution to the growing field Until now virtually no sustained examination of race and racism in transnational fan cultures has taken place a lack that is especially concerning given that current fan spaces have never been more vocal about debating issues of privilege and discrimination Pande's study challenges dominant ideas of who fans are and how these complex transnational and cultural spaces function expanding the scope of the field significantly Along with interviewing thirty nine fans from nine different countries about their fan practices she also positions media fandom as a postcolonial cyberspace enabling scholars to take a more inclusive view of fan identity With analysis that spans from historical to contemporary Pande builds a case for the ways in which non white fans have always been present in such spaces though consistently ignored

Voices From the Margins, 2008-01-01 Equitable access to education is fundamental to any concept of social justice offering as it does the means of escape from social and economic marginalisation Despite this in too many countries around the world groups of children are systematically denied access to education which will equip them for meaningful participation in the society in which they live Their needs are ignored and their voices are silenced They are locked into the position of marginalised other the perpetual stranger in society This collection of studies by an international group of researchers provides a place for migrant refugee and indigenous children to talk about their school experiences Refugee children from the Sudan Afghanistan and Somalia indigenous children from Sweden Australia New Zealand and Vietnam migrant children in Canada Iceland and Hong Kong urban and rural children from Zanzibar all speak out through drawings small group and individual discussion For some children their school experiences are positive ones in which systems and teachers work together to meet their needs For others their experiences are of racism isolation inadequately equipped and poorly funded schools unsympathetic teachers and education systems designed to cater for majority groups Despite these differences all the children remain enthusiastic about school They are in the words of a boy from Afghanistan thirsty to learn The children and the researchers all argue for education as a means to redress rather than perpetuate disadvantage A vital first step in this process is to hear what is being said by those most affected by current practices The narratives in this text offer a chance to do just that Cover photo
