Frontier College Letters Frontier College, 1999 Home Feelings Jody Mason, 2019-12-18 Literature literacy and citizenship took on new and contested meanings in early twentieth century Canada particularly in frontier work camps In this critical history of the reading camp movement Jody Mason undertakes the first sustained analysis of the organization that became Frontier College in 1919 Employing an interdisciplinary approach Home Feelings investigates how the reading camp movement used fiction poetry songs newspapers magazines school readers and English as a second language and citizenship manuals to encourage ideas of selfhood that were individual and intimate rather than collective Mason shows that British Canadian settlers desire to define themselves in relation to an expanding non British immigrant population as well as a need for immigrant labour put new pressure on the concept of citizenship in the first decades of the twentieth century Through the Frontier College one of the nation s earliest citizenship education programs emerged drawing on literature s potential to nourish home feelings as a means of engaging socialist and communist print cultures and the non British immigrant communities with which these were associated Shifting the focus away from urban centres and postwar state narratives of citizenship Home Feelings tracks the importance of reading projects and conceptions of literacy to the emergence of liberal citizenship in Canada prior to the Second World War Volunteer Work, Informal Learning and Social Action Fiona

Duguid, Karsten Mündel, Daniel Schugurensky, 2013-06-12 Since most research on work focuses on paid work and most literature on education concentrates on schools it is not surprising that studies on the relations between work and learning emphasize the relations between paid employment and organized education This unique book deals with an area that has been rarely covered in the literature on work and education the connections between volunteer work and informal learning Through a variety of examples ranging from the Red Cross to teacher labourers from cooperatives to social housing and from participatory democracy to environmental social movements this volume examines the learning dimension of volunteer work in different contexts It also considers the special case of volunteerism among recent immigrants The case studies analyze three basic types of voluntary organizations those providing social services representing local communities and mobilizing for social change The chapters include profiles of the actual work their members do and detailed accounts of the learning practices they are engaged in during their work and the impact of such learning on their personal and professional development The concluding chapter offers a comparative analysis practical recommendations and steps for further research

Participatory Practices in Adult Education Pat Campbell, Barbara Burnaby, 2005-05-18 Although there has been a great deal of rhetoric about learner empowerment in educational and community development circles this book is the first to offer detailed examples of successful participatory practices in adult education spanning a wide range of program settings such as schools institutions communities and the workplace The editors join with practitioner colleagues in the United States and Canada to document successes to network about ideas from active projects past and present that have had a participatory component to share experience new knowledge lessons learned and reflections The focus is on projects initiated with the intention that greater participation would benefit individuals and groups previously excluded from positions of control The aim is to provide concrete models and suggestions to practitioners who want to develop the participatory nature of their own activities from initiation to organization goal setting and ongoing leadership of adult education programs Some chapters give detailed descriptions of the triumphs and challenges in individual projects while others center more on theoretical analysis and reflection on years of experience All however are rooted in particular experiences and give concrete examples from action Participatory Practices in Adult Education is a vital resource for both new and experienced practitioners including basic educators workplace educators administrators policymakers trainers human resource managers and community development workers who want to learn from the practical experiences of their counterparts and is highly appropriate as a text for courses in adult education and community development

Health Literacy in Canada Laurie Hoffman-Goetz, Lorie Donelle, Rukhsana Ahmed, 2014-04-21 Why do we need health literacy Through a health promotion and social justice lens Laurie Hoffman Goetz Lorie Donelle and Rukhsana Ahmed describe health literacy as an increasingly important determinant of health and highlight the necessity of health literacy skills for ensuring equitable access to health care information and services This core text offers a critical examination of how culture ethnicity social media applications and the literacy and digital divides affect individuals ability to secure health information services and support Health Literacy in Canada will inform the way we respond to public health issues in Canada and around the world This pedagogically rich and highly accessible text is ideal for use in upper level undergraduate and graduate courses in public health health promotion health communication risk communication and perception and gerontology Features contains extensive learning tools for students including summaries of key points questions for reflection learning exercises a glossary and a list of additional resources provides a comprehensive review of fundamental health literacy concepts including definitions models and measurement tools emphasizes Canadian centred examples of health literacy policy milestones offers concrete recommendations for improving health literacy in everyday settings
