

IDENTITY, SPACE AND POWER: THE SPATIAL BASES AND PRACTICES OF THE DPI

The cultural geography of the Indian village is carefully laid out to assign to Dalit dwellings the lowliest and least desirable areas—the southern outskirts believed to be the abode of Yama, the God of death; the tail end of the irrigation systems; close to the most polluting areas; or on the fringes of deserts (P. Sainath in Devi 2000: 50).

Setting the Scene

Above the main entrance to the Melavassal Housing Unit, in Madurai, stood a makeshift archway atop two poles painted in light blue, red and white stripes. The board forming the arch displayed the striking images of a roaring leopard and the face of a man cross-cut by bolts of lightning. In between the two images bold lettering pronounced this to be a stronghold of the DPI. The face staring insolently out at Hotel Tamil Nadu, across the road, was that of Thirumavalavan, the leader of the movement. On either side of the gateway the compound wall had been turned into a series of political meeting points. The slogans and images of the DMK, the AIADMK, the Communists, and the Liberation Panthers vied with Hindu shrines for wall space. Several parties had constructed ramshackle shelters in front of murals depicting their leaders and symbols. These 'halls' (marrom), as they were grandiosely referred to, served little material function and adherents of the organisations in question tended to congregate elsewhere. The booths only came into their own during moments of political import such as elections, when canvassers gathered with their supporters. They mostly stood deserted save for stray chickens or pigs rooting around for rubbish. The bright colours and vivid portraits of leaders and symbols competed for attention with the hoardings featuring movie posters or advertisements.

Identity Space And Power:

The Novel in Transition: Space, Identity, and the Politics of Transformation Selin Şencan, Barış Ağır, Gözde Pınar Bilginer, Mehmet Kerim Balkan, Sinem Çapar İleri, Yöntem Kılış, Selenay Sıla Saldır, Berivan Ayık, 2025-03-19 In contemporary fiction shifting identities contested spaces and sociopolitical ruptures are central concerns reflecting the broader crises of migration ecological displacement posthumanism and gendered spatial politics The Novel in Transition examines these intersections of space identity and power offering critical insights into how novels engage with the changing landscapes of selfhood and spatiality Building on theoretical approaches in geocriticism feminist theory and postcolonial studies this volume explores how fiction constructs and deconstructs subjectivities within fluid geographies It traces the evolving narratives of transformation that define contemporary literature from nomadic resistance in dystopian landscapes to the contested terrains of diaspora and belonging By engaging with these pressing issues this book positions fiction as both a theoretical framework and a mode of empirical analysis illustrating its role in shaping new imaginaries of identity and space in an era of unprecedented global change

Identity, Space and Power Mark Blasius, 1997-08-01 (Post)apartheid Conditions D. Hook, 2013-08-27 Post apartheid Conditions Psychoanalysis and Social Formation advances a series of psychoanalytic perspectives on contemporary South Africa exploring key psychosocial topics such as space identity social fantasy the body whiteness memory and nostalgia

Place, Identity, and National Imagination in Post-war Taiwan Bi-yu Chang, 2015-03-24 In the struggles for political and cultural hegemony that Taiwan has witnessed since the 1980s the focal point in contesting narratives and the key battlefield in the political debates are primarily spatial and place based The major fault line appears to be a split between an imposed identity emphasizing cultural origin China and an emphasis on the recovery of place identity of the local Taiwan Place Identity and National Imagination in Postwar Taiwan explores the ever present issue of identity in Taiwan from a spatial perspective and focuses on the importance of and the relationship between state spatiality and identity formation Taking postwar Taiwan as a case study the book examines the ways in which the Kuomintang regime naturalized its political control territorialized the island and created a nationalist geography In so doing it examines how why and to what extent power is exercised through the place making process and considers the relationship between official versions of ROC geography and the islanders shifting perceptions of the nation In turn by addressing the relationship between the state and the imagined community Bi yu Chang establishes a dialogue between place and cultural identity to analyse the constant changing and shaping of Chinese and Taiwanese identity With a diverse selection of case studies including cartographical development geography education territorial declaration and urban planning this interdisciplinary book will have a broad appeal across Taiwan studies geography cultural studies history and politics

Galilean Spaces of Identity Joseph Scales, 2024-02-12 We understand the world around us in terms of built spaces Such spaces are shaped by human activity and in turn affect how people live Through an analysis of archaeological and textual evidence from the beginnings of Hasmonean influence in Galilee until the outbreak of the First Jewish War against Rome this book explores how Judaism was socially expressed bodily communally and regionally Within each expression certain aspects of Jewish identity operate these being purity conceptions communal gatherings and Galilee's relationship with the Hasmoneans Jerusalem and the Temple in its final days

Hybrid Urbanism Nezar AlSayyad, 2001-03-30 Despite strong forces toward globalization much of late 20th century urbanism demonstrates a movement toward cultural differentiation Such factors as ethnicity and religious and cultural heritages have led to the concept of hybridity as a shaper of identity Challenging the common assumption that hybrid peoples create hybrid places and hybrid places house hybrid people this book suggests that hybrid environments do not always accommodate pluralistic tendencies or multicultural practices In contrast to the standard position that hybrid space results from the merger of two cultures the book introduces the concept of a third place and argues for a more sophisticated understanding of the principal In contributed chapters the book provides case studies of the third place enabling a comparative and transnational examination of the complexity of hybridity The book is divided into two parts Part one deals with pre 20th century examples of places that capture the intersection of modernity and hybridity Part two considers equivalent sites in the late 20th century demonstrating how hybridity has been a central feature of globalization

Minority Memory, Identity, and Reconciliation Gül M Gür, 2025-07-02 Migration and minority rights are increasingly at the forefront of global discourse Minority Memory Identity and Reconciliation explores the lives of two often overlooked minority communities the Greek Orthodox minority in Istanbul T rkiye and the Turkish Muslim minority in Western Thrace Greece As empires dissolved the leaders and political elites of new smaller nations that emerged embarked on population exchanges to increase the ethnic and religious homogeneity of their nation states Although these two minority communities differ in religious ethnic and socioeconomic terms they both offer unique perspectives on what happens to people who live on what is perceived as the wrong side of an arbitrarily drawn border Drawing from the personal stories of members of these two minority communities regarding their struggle with displacement discrimination and cultural assimilation as well as comprehensive historical analysis this book examines how historical traumas national policies and sociopolitical dynamics have influenced contemporary minority memory and identity formation By incorporating interviews with community leaders civil society representatives and state officials this book offers a rich multifaceted perspective on the processes of memory and identity formation that underscores the broader implications of these processes for international relations in the region and minority rights G l M G r pulls together theories of nationalism collective memory and narrative practice to highlight the unique process of minority memory work and its role in sustaining minority identity and their advocacy efforts

Race, Identity, and Representation in Education Cameron McCarthy, 1993 Despite differing orientations the contributors here all share a common concern for stressing the importance of social context nuance and language in understanding the dynamics of race relations

Alternative Spaces, Identity and Language in Afrofuturist Writing

Tugba Akman Kaplan,2024-01-09 Where does the journey of wanting to become an android begin Going beyond the state of being a human is the only chance that some of the Afrofuturists believe they have This is the result of struggling for equality for so many years yet not achieving much Is this a new phenomenon that has its roots the modern age though This book argues that it is not Even though Afrofuturism is a newly formed term the ideas related to it have roots that go back more than a hundred years The book will not only help readers to trace back to Afrofuturism s roots but also help them to compare and contrast some proto Afrofuturistic authors such as Zora N Hurston and Ralph Ellison with the Afrofuturist writer Octavia Butler

Constructions of Space V Gert T.M. Prinsloo,Christl M. Maier,2013-02-14 This volume investigates the inherent spatiality of human existence and how it affects human behaviour ideology identity and orientation from different perspectives

Place and the Politics of Identity Michael Keith,Steve Pile,2004-11-23 In the last two decades new political subjects have been created through the actions of the new social movements often by asserting the unfixed and overdetermined character of identity Further in attempting to avoid essentialism people have frequently looked to their territorial roots to establish their constituency A cultural politics of resistance as exemplified by Black politics feminism and gay liberation has developed struggles to turn sites of oppression and discrimination into spaces of resistance This book collects together perspectives which challenge received notions of geography which are in danger of becoming anachronisms without a language to articulate the new space of resistance the new politics of identity

Women, Body, Illness Pamela Moss,Isabel Dyck,2003-04-14 This provocative and moving work explores concepts of body and space to better understand the daily lives and struggles of women with chronic illness Moss and Dyck show how such women coping with associated notions of illness health and being female restructure their physical and social environments through the strategies they choose to accommodate disabling illnesses such as chronic fatigue syndrome multiple sclerosis or rheumatoid arthritis Strategies might include disclosing or concealing illness from employers and friends seeking or rejecting emotional support through old friends and new contacts and pursuing or resisting specific diagnoses from the biomedical community Featuring a wealth of original research and personal stories Women Body Illness tells the tales of chronically ill women forging networks of support redefining themselves and challenging what it is to be ill

In-Between Border Spaces in the Levant Daniel Meier,2020-12-17 This book focuses on interstitial spaces or in between borders in the Middle East Using various case studies it raises the question how actors living in these regions perform their belonging despite the apparent constraints of history and politics In recent years the Middle East has seen States attempts to shape buffer zones or safe zones in border regions for example in Syria s borderlands in the aftermath of the civil war Typically studies on in between borders refer to three interrelated aspects space territorial symbolic power states or non state actors and identity definition of the self other In this volume the authors investigate these axes of research through the notions of sovereignty and belonging in order to assess how these concepts may highlight in betweenness through a political dimension Stemming from a perception of the borders as processes these various studies aim to explore the theoretical potential of in between border spaces to re think sovereignty and identity belonging in such interstitial zones While notions such as heterotopia margins liminality borderlands buffer zones no man s land or frontiers will be explored each case study highlights how actors territory and powers relate to each other in order to improve our understanding of historical and political process that are shaping identities under spatial constraints The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the journal Mediterranean Politics

Place and Identity in the Lives of Antony, Paul, and Mary of Egypt Peter Anthony Mena, 2019-04-24 In this book Peter Anthony Mena looks closely at descriptions of space in ancient Christian hagiographies and considers how the desert relates to constructions of subjectivity By reading three pivotal ancient hagiographies the Life of Antony the Life of Paul the Hermit and the Life of Mary of Egypt in conjunction with Gloria Anzald a s ideas about the US Mexican borderlands la frontera Mena shows readers how descriptions of the desert in these texts are replete with spaces and inhabitants that render the desert a borderland or frontier space in Anzald a n terms As a borderland space the desert functions as a device for the creation of an emerging identity in late antiquity the desert ascetic Simultaneously the space of the desert is created through the image of the saint Literary critical religious studies and historical methodologies converge in this work in order to illuminate a heuristic tool for interpreting the desert in late antiquity and its importance for the development of desert asceticism Anzald a s theories help guide a reading especially attuned to the important relationship between space and subjectivity

Bondage of Boundaries and Identity Politics in Postcolonial Africa Ndlovu-Gatsheni, Sabelo J., Mhlanga, Brilliant, 2013-10-20 What has confounded African efforts to create cohesive prosperous and just states in postcolonial Africa What has been the long term impact of the Berlin Conference of 1884-5 on African unity and African statehood Why is postcolonial Africa haunted by various ethno national conflicts Is secession and irredentism the solution Can we talk of ethno futures for Africa These are the kinds of fundamental questions that this important book addresses Sabelo J Ndlovu Gatsheni and Brilliant Mhlanga s book introduces the metaphor of the northern problem to dramatise the fact that there is no major African postcolonial state that does not enclose within its borders a disgruntled minority that is complaining of marginalization domination and suppression The irony is that in 1963 at the formation of the OAU postcolonial African leaders embraced the boundaries arbitrarily drawn by European colonialists and institutionalised the principle of inviolability of bondage of boundaries thereby contributing to the problem of ethno national conflicts The successful struggle for independence of the Eritrean people and the secession of South Sudan in 2011 have encouraged other dominated and marginalised groups throughout Africa to view secession as an option Ndlovu Gatsheni and Mhlanga successfully assembled competent African scholars to deal exhaustively with various empirical cases of ethno national conflicts throughout the African continent as well as engaging with such pertinent issues as Pan Africanism as a panacea to these problems This important book delves deeper into complex issues of space languages conflict security nation building war on terror secession migration citizenship militias liberation violence and Pan Africanism Identity Struggles Dorien Van De Mieroop, Stephanie Schnurr, 2017-04-15 This collection provides a kaleidoscopic view of a range of identity struggles in the workplace context It features twenty two case studies that present an eclectic mix of workplaces in different socio cultural contexts They include among others household workers in Peru and Hong Kong female professionals in India and the UK social workers in Botswana and on Canadian reserves tourist guides in Europe and construction workers in New Zealand The volume addresses important questions on professional competence group membership sometimes competing expectations and identity boundaries The chapters establish that identity struggles are a reflection of issues of knowledge competing norms and attempts for social change The City as Power Alexander C. Diener, Joshua Hagen, 2018-09-18 This interdisciplinary book considers national identity through the lens of urban spaces By bringing together scholars from a range of disciplines The City as Power provides broad comparative perspectives about the critical importance of urban landscapes as forums for creating maintaining and contesting identity and belonging Rather than serving as passive backdrops urban spaces and places are active mediums for defining categories of inclusion and exclusion With an international scope and ready appeal to visual learners the book offers a compelling survey of historical and contemporary efforts to enact state ideals express counter narratives and negotiate global trends in cities The contributors show how successive regimes reshape cityscapes to mirror their respective socio political agendas perspectives on history and assumptions of power Yet they must do so within the legal ethnic religious social economic and cultural geographies inherited from previous regimes Exploring the rich diversity of urban space place and national identity the book compares core elements of identity projects in a range of political cultural and socioeconomic settings By focusing on the built form and urban settings for social movements protest and even organized violence this timely book demonstrates that cities are not simply lived in but also lived through Cities' Identity Through Architecture and Arts Anna Catalani, Zeinab Nour, Antonella Versaci, Dean Hawkes, Hocine Bougdah, Adolf Sotoca, Mahmoud Ghoneem, Ferdinando Trapani, 2018-05-01 Every city has its unique and valuable identity this identity is revealed through its physical and visual form it is seen through the eyes of its residents and users The city develops over time and its identity evolves with it Reflecting the rapid and constant changes the city is subjected to Architecture and Arts is the embodiment of the cultural historical and economical characteristics of the city This conference was dedicated to the investigation of the different new approaches developed in Architecture and Contemporary arts It has focused on the basis of urban life and identities This volume provides discussions on the examples and tendencies in dealing with urban identities as well as the transformation of cities and urban cultures mentioned in terms of their form identity and their current art Contemporary art when subjected to experiments continues to be produced in various directions to be consumed and to put forward new ideas Art continuously renews itself from new materials to different means of communication from interactive works to computer games from new approaches to
