Everyday Religion Nancy T. Ammerman,2006-12-14 Social scientists sometimes seem not to know what to do with religion In the first century of sociology s history as a discipline the reigning concern was explaining the emergence of the modern world and that brought with it an expectation that religion would simply fade from the scene as societies became diverse complex and enlightened As the century approached its end however a variety of global phenomena remained dramatically unexplained by these theories Among the leading contenders for explanatory power to emerge at this time were rational choice theories of religious behavior Researchers who have spent time in the field observing religious groups and interviewing practitioners however have questioned the sufficiency of these market models Studies abound that describe thriving religious phenomena that fit neither the old secularization paradigm nor the equations predicting vitality only among organizational entrepreneurs with strict orthodoxies In this collection of previously unpublished essays scholars who have been immersed in field research in a wide variety of settings draw on those observations from the field to begin to develop more helpful ways to study religion in modern lives The authors examine how religion functions on the ground in a pluralistic society how it is experienced by individuals and how it is expressed in social institutions Taken as a whole these essays point to a new approach to the study of religion one that emphasizes individual experience and social context over strict categorization and data collection      One-Sided Arguments Douglas Walton,1999-08-12 A practical manual for evaluating bias that will be useful to anyone who has to deal with arguments whether in academic reading or writing or in everyday conversation      Virtual Water Tony Allan,2011-04-08 The groundbreaking new concept that reveals the true and hazardous extent of our everyday water consumption How much water does it take to make a cup of coffee The answer may shock you 140 litres That s the true amount of water used in growing producing packaging and shipping the beans you use to make your morning coffee Your lunchtime hamburger takes 2 400 litres and that favourite pair of blue jeans a whopping 11 000 litres In fact all the goods we buy from food to clothing to computers have a water cost in the form of virtual water the powerful new concept that reveals the hidden facts of our real water consumption At a time when the world s resources are being used up at increasingly alarming rates what can we do to help tackle the threat to our planet s most precious resource World water expert Tony Allan creator of the virtual water concept shows the way In this stimulating and enjoyable book he exposes the real impact of our modern lifestyle and shows how we as individuals and governments globally can make a vital contribution to managing our water use in a more sustainable and planet friendly way      Pictures of Personality John Lopker,2000 The Picture of Personality reveals the first and only universal picture language of personality The Guide deciphers the first and only standard set of definitions for human typology The Guide shows how human nature mirrors Mother Nature The push and pull of polar opposites creates our personality Like day and night we divide into a Light Side and a Dark Side that seek reunion The conflict between our two sides creates the human journey the search for the center      The Moral Metaphor System Ning Yu,2022-06-27 This book investigates moral metaphors in English and Chinese applying conceptual metaphor theory to a comparative study of the linguistic manifestation of the moral metaphor system rooted in the domains of bodily and physical experience Ning Yu sheds light on the metaphorical nature of moral cognition and how it is systematically manifested in language and explores the potential commonalities that define moral cognition in general as well as the differences that characterize distinct cultures The work investigates moral cognition at the cultural level as reflected in language based on linguistic evidence from both English and Chinese and to a limited extent multimodal evidence from the corresponding cultures The moral metaphor system is taken to consist of three major subsystems referred to as physical visual and spatial These subsystems are clusters of conceptual metaphors whose source concepts are from domains of embodied experiences in the physical world and which are formulated in contrastive categories with bipolar values for the target concepts of moral and immoral The study is characterized by two keywords system and systematicity The former refers to the fact that metaphors conceptual and linguistic are connected within networks and the latter to the need for those metaphors to be studied in such networks
