Focus On East Asia:

East Asia and the World Economy Alvin Y. So, Stephen Chiu, 1995-07-13 What role do East Asian states play in the world economy Can the world systems model originally designed for studying development in Europe and North America be applied to East Asia To what extent has the rivalry between the United States and Japan had an impact on the development of East Asia Examining these and other key questions the authors offer a clear comprehensive analysis of the economic development of East Asia Offering a unique perspective this book examines the origins and transformation of East Asia from a world systems analysis In contrast to the literature s focus on market culture state and dependency East Asia and the World Economy points to the crucial role of geopolitical and regional factors in East Asian development The authors provide a cohesive review of the world systems model as it applies to East Asia exploring its intellectual heritage the historical context through which it arose its basic assumptions and its policy implications To illustrate how this model works in East Asia the authors examine the economies of Hong Kong Taiwan China North Korea and Japan The result is a fascinating study that demonstrates how the world systems model provides a more focused explanation of East Asia s peculiar pattern of development For scholars and students in the fields of political science economics Asian studies international affairs and development studies this book is a must This book applies world systems analysis to explain the peculiar pattern of East Asian development over the past two centuries It offers a fresh and fascinating approach to the study of economic and political evolution in the East asian nations The volume is well organized and written for both scholars and students It will make an excellent text for an undergraduate course in East Asian Economics and politics Choice

Inertia of History Yan Xuetong, 2019-07-18 This book predicts possible international changes that may occur between 2013 and 2023 It forecasts that China will become a global superpower no later than 2023 and that a bipolar world will be formed with a strategic rivalry between China and the US China may also further reduce the disparity in capability with the US while other major powers will witness an enlarged capability gap with both China and the US Therefore this bipolarization will drive the world center to shift from Europe to East Asia In East Asia Japan will become a lesser state North Korea will keep its nuclear arsenal but stop nuclear tests and the maritime disputes in South China Sea will no longer be the major problem to ASEAN countries by 2023 In Europe Germany will dominate the EU while it is decentralized the UK will withdraw from the EU and Russia will deteriorate dramatically under Putin's rule Globalization will also worsen polarization at both domestic and international levels and India will lag behind China even further the Middle East will suffer from the rivalry among regional powers and Africa will be further marginalized

Regional Community Building in East Asia Lee Lai To, Zarina Othman, 2016-09-01 This volume is a collection of papers written by nationals or former nationals of the respective country in ASEAN and Northeast Asia Unlike other works written by scholars outside ASEAN or East Asia it offers an insider's point of view of the 10 ASEAN states China Japan and South Korea on regional community building While a nationalist perspective may permeate throughout the study it is also clear that pursuing regional cooperation is considered to be important by the respective author denoting the non exclusivity between nationalism and regionalism and the mutual reinforcement of the two Each author of this volume has made a deliberate effort to introduce and survey the developmental challenges and experiences of his or her country from a historical perspective All authors without exception have emphasized the importance and advantages in staying with ASEAN or linking up with ASEAN by China Japan and South Korea in political security economic and socio cultural terms Their papers also reveal that the self help and self strengthening mechanism emphasized by the ASEAN Plus Three process will take time to bear fruits In the meantime it seems that bilateral interactions and cooperation between ASEAN and Northeast Asian states remain to be more dominant as shown in this study One can argue that bilateral interactions are the building block of multilateralism interactions To be sure there is a deliberate effort in this study to highlight unity in diversity in East Asia in general and ASEAN in particular

Foreign Correspondence John Maxwell Hamilton, Regina G. Lawrence, 2013-09-13 Despite the importance of foreign news its history transformation and indeed its future have not been much studied The scholarly community often calls attention to journalism's shortcomings covering the world yet the topic has not been systematically examined across countries or over time The need to redress this neglect and the desire to assess the impact of new media technologies on the future of journalism including foreign correspondence provide the motivation for this stimulating exciting and thought provoking book While the old economic models supporting news have crumbled in the wake of new media technologies these changes have the potential to bring new and improved ways to inform people of foreign news In an increasingly globalized era journalism is being transformed by the effortlessly quick sharing of information across national boundaries As such we need to reconsider foreign correspondence and explore where such reporting is headed This book discusses the current state and future prospects for foreign correspondence across the full range of media platforms and assesses developments in the reporting of overseas news for audiences governments and foreign policy in both contemporary and historical settings around the globe As Emmy Award and Pulitzer Prize winning correspondent Serge Schmemmann reminds us in this book quality journalism and unbiased reporting are as valid and necessary today as they ever were one of the primary tasks of journalists and scholars as they

The role of agriculture in economic development. Focusing on linkages beyond agriculture Veena Soni, 2020-06-19 Academic Paper from the year 2020 in the subject Economics Economic Cycle and Growth language English abstract Those of us who preach the gospel of agriculture with evangelical zeal find the text compelling and convincing We are regularly possessed by the spirit only to look around and see out colleagues in other sectors in country management or even our senior management doubting yawning or subtly edging towards the door We face the implicit query If agriculture can do such great things why have they not yet happened The past decade has been one of agro pessimism The promises that agricultural development seem to hold did not materialise This pessimism seemed to coincide with pessimism about Sub Saharan Africa Especially for Sub Saharan Africa the hope was that economic development would be brought about by agricultural development After the success of the green revolution in Asia the hope was that a similar agricultural miracle would transform African economies But this hope never materialised agricultural productivity did not increase much in SSA and worse the negative effects of the green revolution in Asia became more apparent such as pesticide overuse and subsequent pollution Also in Asia the yield increases tapered off The sceptics put forward several arguments why agriculture is no longer an engine of growth For instance the liberalisation of the 1990s and greater openness to trade has lead to a reduction in the economic potential of the rural sector cheap imported Chinese plastic buckets out compete the locally produced pottery On the other hand it does mean cheaper imported supplies With rapid global technical change and increasingly integrated markets prices fall faster than yields rise So rural incomes fall despite increased productivity if they are net producers The integration of rural with urban areas means that healthy young people move out of agriculture head to town leaving behind the old the sick and the dependent It is often also the men who move to urban areas leaving women in charge of the farm This has resulted in the increased sophistication of agricultural markets and value chains which excludes traditional smallholders who are poorly equipped to meet the demanding product specifications and timeliness of delivery required by expanding supermarkets The natural resource base on which agriculture depends is poor and deteriorating Korea Focus on Current Topics ,1997
