From The Cotton Field To The Computer Field:

From the Cotton Field to the Computer Field John Robert Finch, 2003-05-07 From the Cotton Field to the Computer Field is an autobiographical narrative about the life of John Robert Finch. It chronicles his journey through the military in the work force and within family exchanges. It also examines the challenges he faced as a black man from the south and his involvement as a descendant of a former slave. The narrative begins prelude with the author's motivation for writing the narrative. He expounds upon the cathartic rewards of writing the work as well as the pride that has come from knowing his roots. He writes about his family as cotton sharecroppers and its unending cycle of work for the landlord. Regardless of the how hard we worked or how many bales of cotton we produced in a season we never made enough money in the season to break even with the landlord. Thus the landlord had us hooked for another cotton life cycle. This book is fascinating, rich in history and cultural flavor. His work illustrates life as a constant process of ups and downs, obstacles and roadblocks but proves eloquently that challenges are surmountable and that faith should be kept in that among other things. From the Cotton Field to the Computer Field is a joy to read, easy and colloquial. From Cotton Fields to Mission Fields Fred M. Allen, 2021-02-18 As a thirteen year old boy on an East Texas farm, Fred M. Allen read a book about explorer missionary David Livingstone and was mesmerized. Many years later he stood at the edge of the mighty Victoria Falls and gazed upon a statue of Livingstone. By then Allen had spent a lifetime in service for the Lord. From Cotton Fields to Mission Fields reveals the experiences that led Allen to make it his mission to spread God's Word, beginning with his boyhood in Texas and extending to his decades of work as a missionary in Zambia. Allen began writing his stories for family and friends but realized how much his words could inspire others after being given a column in a weekly newspaper. Then his brother Duane Allen of the musical group The Oak Ridge Boys offered to share his stories on social media. Over and over people asked, "Are these stories in a book?" In this inspiring Christian memoir, Allen looks back on his life, collecting those stories in one place. His experiences highlight the importance of faith, hard work, and walking the path that God intended. From Cotton Fields to University Leadership Charlie Nelms, 2019-03-29 The renowned leader in higher education provides a testament to the power of aspiration, character, and education to overcome poverty and adversity. Michael L. Lomax, President, CEO, United Negro College Fund. Charlie Nelms had audaciously big dreams. Growing up black in the Deep South in the 1950s and 1960s, working in cotton fields and living in poverty, Nelms dared to dream that he could do more with his life than work for white plantation owners, sun up to sun down. Inspired by his parents who first dared to dream that they could own their own land and have the right to vote, Nelms chose education as his weapon of choice for fighting racism and inequality. With hard work, determination, and the critical assistance of mentors who counseled him along the way, he found his way from the cotton fields of Arkansas to university leadership roles. Becoming the youngest and the first African American chancellor of a predominately white institution in Indiana, he faced tectonic changes in higher education during those ensuing decades of globalization, growing economic disparity and political divisiveness From Cotton Fields to University Leadership is an uplifting story about the power of education the impact of community and mentorship and the importance of dreaming big In his memoir the realities of his life take on the qualities of a good docudrama providing the back story to the development of a remarkable educational leader His is the examined life filled with honesty humor and humility While this is uniquely Charlie s story it is a story that will lift the hearts of many and inspire future generations of leaders Betty J Overton Director National Forum on Higher Education for the Public Good
