

From résumés to personal ads, from talk shows to self-help groups, autobiographical storytelling has become a central theme of American culture. Getting a Life is an innovative examination of how personal narratives have become central in circulating multiple, overlapping, provisional identities--and how those identities are negotiated or resisted in everyday life.

"So innovative that it will stand as a model for refiguring the field of autobiography." Caren Kaplan, University of California, Berkeley

"These essays forge a new path in a well-established field of inquiry by challenging a number of heretofore unexamined assumptions about how a 'life' is constituted, judged worthy of attention, and made representable."

The Wunderkammer of Lady Charlotte Guest Erica Obey, 2007 Lady Charlotte's translation of the Mabinogion opens a window into several important nineteenth century intellectual issues It sheds light on the interrelationships among antiquarianism philosophy folklore collection and children's literature that underlie the works of such seminal creators of the Victorian fairy tale as the Brothers Grimm

The Autobiographical Documentary in America Jim Lane, 2002-04-29 Since the late 1960s American film and video makers of all genres have been fascinated with themes of self and identity Though the documentary form is most often used to capture the lives of others Jim Lane turns his lens on those media makers who document their own lives and identities He looks at the ways in which autobiographical documentaries including Roger and Me Sherman's March and Silverlake Life raise weighty questions about American cultural life What is the role of women in society What does it mean to die from AIDS How do race and class play out in our personal lives What does it mean to be a member of a family Examining the history diversity and theoretical underpinnings of this increasingly popular documentary form Lane tracks a fundamental transformation of notions of both autobiography and documentary

New Forms of Self-Narration Ana Belén Martínez

García,2020-08-21 This book is a timely study of young women's life writing as a form of human rights activism. It focuses on six young women who suffered human rights violations when they were girls and have gone on to become activists through life writing: Malala Yousafzai, Hyeonseo Lee, Yeonmi Park, Bana Alabed, Nujeen Mustafa, and Nadia Murad. Their ongoing life writing projects diverge to some extent but all share several notable features: they claim a testimonial collective voice; they deploy rights discourse; they excite humanitarian emotions; they link up their context-bound plight with bigger social justice causes; and they use English as their vehicle of self-expression and self-construction. This strategic use of English is of vital importance as it has brought them together as icons in the public sphere within the last six years. New Forms of Self-Narration is the first ever attempt to explore all these activists' life writing texts side by side, encompassing both the written and the audiovisual material online and offline, and taking all texts as belonging to a unique single though multifaceted project.

Everybody's Autonomy Juliana Spahr,2001-01-11 Everybody's Autonomy is about reading and identity. Experimental texts empower the reader by encouraging self-governing approaches to reading and by placing the reader on equal footing with the author.

The Biographical Turn Hans Renders, Binne de Haan, Jonne Harmsma,2016-09-13 The Biographical Turn showcases the latest research through which the field of biography is being explored. Fifteen leading scholars in the field present the biographical perspective as a scholarly research methodology investigating the consequences of this bottom-up approach and illuminating its value for different disciplines. While biography has been on the rise in academia since the 1980s, this volume highlights the theoretical implications of the biographical turn that is changing the humanities. Chapters cover subjects such as gender, religion, race, new media, and microhistory, presenting biography as a research methodology suited not only for historians but also for explorations in areas including literature studies, sociology, economics, and politics. By emphasizing agency, the use of primary sources, and the critical analysis of context and historiography, this book demonstrates how biography can function as a scholarly methodology for a wide range of topics and fields of research. International in scope, The Biographical Turn emphasizes that the individual can have a lasting impact on the past and that lives that are now forgotten can be as important for the historical narrative as the biographies of kings and presidents. It is a valuable resource for all students of biography, history, and historical theory.

Luminous presence Alexandra Parsons,2021-11-02 Luminous presence Derek Jarman's life writing is the first book to analyse the prolific writing of queer icon Derek Jarman. Although he is well known for his avant-garde filmmaking, his garden, and his AIDS activism, he is also the author of over a dozen books, many of which are autobiographical. Much of Jarman's exploration of post-war queer identity and imaginative response to HIV/AIDS can be found in his books, such as the lyrical AIDS diaries, Modern Nature, and Smiling in Slow Motion. This book fully explores for the first time the remarkable range and depth of Jarman's writing. Spanning his career, Alexandra Parsons argues that Jarman's self-reflexive response to the HIV/AIDS crisis was critical in changing the cultural terms of queer representation from the 1980s onwards. Luminous presence is of great interest to students scholars and readers of queer histories in literature art and film Narrating the Self and Nation in Kenyan Autobiographical Writings Samuel Ndogo,2016 Author Samuel Ndogo offers an understanding of the autobiographical genre in contemporary Kenyan literature He draws attention to life writing as a form of cultural re imagination in post colonial Africa Taking into consideration contradictions and paradoxes of referentiality in life writing this book examines the autobiographies of Jaramogi Oginga Odinga Ngugi wa Thiong o Wangari Maathai and Bethwell Ogot The analysis dwells on self representations in correlation with imaginations of the Kenyan nation in these works Thus the study gives a critical account into the modern memoir the forms and styles it takes the ways in which these authors tend to understand and present their lives Series Contributions to African Research Beitr ge zur Afrikaforschung Vol 63 Subject African Studies Literary Criticism Intimate Ephemera Anna Poletti,2008-05-15 Intimate Ephemera is the first major study of autobiographical writing produced and consumed in a youth subculture Investigating the uses of the zine form for life writing it examines the recurrent themes in texts circulating in Australian zine culture including depression consumerism popular culture and political identity Intimate Ephemera also examines zine culture as a unique community of life writing and reading where handmade texts circulate in an economy of gifting and exchange utilising the postal system The book analyses the material diversity of zines as handmade objects examining the use of the photocopier and craft techniques in these limited edition publications bringing a focus to the role of the text object in communicating personal experience Identity Technologies Anna Poletti,Julie Rak,2014-01-31 Identity Technologies is a substantial contribution to the fields of autobiography studies digital studies and new media studies exploring the many new modes of self expression and self fashioning that have arisen in conjunction with Web 2 0 social networking and the increasing saturation of wireless communication devices in everyday life This volume explores the various ways that individuals construct their identities on the Internet and offers historical perspectives on ways that technologies intersect with identity creation Bringing together scholarship about the construction of the self by new and established authors from the fields of digital media and autobiography studies Identity Technologies presents new case studies and fresh theoretical questions emphasizing the methodological challenges inherent in scholarly attempts to account for and analyze the rise of identity technologies The collection also includes an interview with Lauren Berlant on her use of blogs as research and writing tools
