Ungendering Menstruation Ela Przybylo, 2025-05-13 Why and how menstrual pain needs to be incorporated into discussions of gender embodiment and disability Honing a cranky approach to being a menstruating body expected to accept and embrace trauma Ungendering Menstruation examines menstrual suppression toxicity and the cooptation of menstrual positivity rhetoric Drawing on their own experiences as a toxic shock survivor and a menstrual pain and period dysphoria sufferer Ela Przybyo questions why on what terms and for whom menstruation has been fixed around experiences of pain Instead they present a vision for menstrual justice that refuses the womaning of bleeding and the further erasure dismissal and denial of menstrual pain as real pain If menstruating is framed as somatechnically elective Przybyo contends it provides avenues for both celebrating and appreciating cultures of bleeding as well as for remaining critical of the ways in which bleeding has been used as a transphobic and sexist tool to fix gender in place

Lectures on the Psychology of Women Joan C. Chrisler, Carla Golden, Patricia D. Rozee, 2012-12-21 Designed as a supplement in courses on the psychology of women the psychology of gender and gender role development this collection of short accessible lectures written by experienced and committed teachers spotlights topics that often receive less in depth coverage in core textbooks While topically arranged to align with standard texts each favorite lecture stands alone essentially instructors can assign the readings to meet their own course needs Among the student friendly features are the informal writing styles with each author speaking directly to the reader questions and ideas that encourage critical thinking and biographical statements and photographs that introduce each contributor The authors represent a variety of personal backgrounds and experiences but they believe in the importance of gender equality To that point the book addresses common feminist themes including the social construction of gender power the value of diversity inclusive language the global status of women and the value of social activism

Gender and the Social Construction of Illness Judith Lorber, 1997-05-30 Reconfigures familiar concepts in medical sociology to explore how gender race class ethnicity and culture influence both the experience of symptoms of physical illnesses and the treatment of the symptoms by the medical establishment Also offers a gender informed analysis of the knowledge base and underlying assumptions about illness and the way questions are asked and research priorities are set Paper edition unseen 17 95 Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Paradoxes of Gender Judith Lorber, 1994-01-01 In this pathbreaking book a well known feminist and sociologist who is also the Founding Editor of Gender why transvestites transsexuals and hermaphrodites do not affect the conceptualization of two genders and two sexes in Western societies why most of our cultural images of women are the way men see them and not the way women see themselves why all women in modern society are expected to have children and be the primary caretaker why domestic work is almost always the sole responsibility of wives even when they earn more than half the family income why there are so few women in positions of authority when women can be found in substantial numbers in many occupations and professions why women have not benefited from major social revolutions Lorber argues that the whole point of the gender system today is to maintain structured gender inequality to produce a subordinate class women that can be exploited as workers sexual partners childbearers and emotional nurturers Calling into question the inevitability and necessity of gender she envisions a society structured for equality where no gender racial ethnic or social class group is allowed to monopolize economic educational and cultural resources or the positions of power Sexuality Counseling Kay Frances Schepp,2013-08-21 First published in 1986 Sex education is a necessary component of sexuality counseling A practitioner needs to be a sensitive effective educator in order to help people remedy sex related problems and prevent future ones This program is about professional counseling and assumes that the reader has training or intends to obtain it in an established helping profession
