History Of Soviet Air Power:

Soviet Aviation And Air Power Robin Higham, Jacob W Kipp, 2019-08-20 This book is the story of Russian aviation and Soviet Russia's progress in preparing its strength as an air power. It discusses the Russia-Germany connection post 1919, how Russians gained expertise from German know-how, and post-World War II progress from Stalin to Strategic Arms Limitation Talks.

Russian Aviation and Air Power in the Twentieth Century John Greenwood, Von Hardesty, Robin Higham, 2014-06-11 In the light of new archival material, the editors take a fresh look at Russian aviation in the twentieth century. Presenting a comprehensive view of Russian aviation from its genesis in the late czarist period to the present era, the approach is essentially chronological, with a major emphasis on the evolution of military aviation. The contributions are diverse, with appropriate attention to civilian and institutional themes.

Soviet Air Power Kenneth Whiting, 2020-01-29 This comprehensive examination of Soviet air power analyzes the three branches of the USSR Military Air Forces: Frontal Aviation, Long Range Aviation, and Military Air Transport and Naval Aviation, and the National Air Defense, emphasizing World War II and postwar developments.

A History of Soviet Air Power Robert A. Kilmarx, 1962 Air Power History Sebastian Cox, Peter Gray, 2013-11-05 The 20th century saw air power transformed from novelists' fantasy into stark reality. From string and canvas to precision weaponry, and stealth, air power has progressed to become not only the weapon of first political choice but often the only conceivable option. This rapid development has given rise to considerable debate and controversy, with those holding entrenched views rarely slow to shout their case. Many myths have grown over the period, ranging from the once-much-vaunted ability of air power to win wars alone through to its impact as a coercive tool. This volume examines the theory and practice of air power from its earliest inception. The contributors have been drawn from academia and the military and represent some of the world's leading proponents on the subject. All significant eras of air power employment are examined; some are evidently turning points, while others represent continuous development. Perhaps more importantly, the book highlights the areas that could be considered to be significant and invites the reader to enter the debate as to whether it constitutes a continuum, a turning point, or indeed a revolution.

The Influence of Airpower Upon History Robin Higham, Mark P. Parillo, 2013-02 Where will the next generation of farmers come from? What will their farms look like? Fields of Learning: The Student Farm Movement in North America provides a concrete set of answers to these urgent questions. Describing how, at a wide range of colleges and universities across the United States and Canada, students, faculty, and staff have joined together to establish on-campus farms as outdoor laboratories for agricultural and cultural education. From one-acre gardens to five-hundred-acre crop and livestock farms, student farms foster hands-on food system literacy in a world where the shortcomings of input-intensive conventional agriculture have become increasingly apparent. They provide a context in which disciplinary boundaries are bridged; intellectual and manual skills are cultivated together, and abstract ideas about sustainability are put to the test Editors Laura Sayre and Sean Clark have assembled a volume of essays written by pioneering educators directly involved in the founding and management of fifteen of the most influential student farms in North America Arranged chronologically Fields of Learning illustrates how the student farm movement originated in the nineteenth century gained ground in the 1970s and is flourishing today from the University of California Davis to Yale University from Hampshire College to Central Carolina Community College from the University of Montana to the University of Maine

The Soviet Air Force Since 1918 Alexander Boyd,1977 The Soviet Air Force in World War II Ray Wagner,1973

Red Air Sanu Kainikara,2007-10 The Russian Air Force carries the mantle of the erstwhile Red Air Force of the Soviet Union and has a long and illustrious history backed by grand traditions and customs The Russian Air Force is still coming to grips with its changed circumstances after the collapse of the Soviet Union and is perhaps in the best shape of the three armed forces to be able to lend credence to the Russian Federation's claim to international influence and power projection capabilities Doctrine is the reflection of a nation's character and air power doctrine is influenced by the strategic culture of a nation Nowhere else is this more apparent than in the case of the Russian Air Force The Red Air Force has been directly influenced by the political upheavals in the Soviet Union and now Russia but has displayed exemplary resilience in continuing to provide adequate support for government policies The impact of political ideology on the development of doctrine and air power has not been greater in any other air force around the world This book is an extension of a doctoral thesis produced in 2005 and is essential reading for anyone trying to come to grips with the intricate relationship that exists between national security imperatives political ideology and the development of military doctrine Back cover

Air Power in the Nuclear Age, 1945-82 M.J. Armitage,R. A. Mason,1983-06-18 Military Air Power in Europe Preparing for War Norman Ridley,2023-01-24 The First World War had seen the mechanization of warfare Battle fronts had become immobilized in the grip of machine guns and heavy artillery leading to slaughter on an unprecedented scale The end of the war saw exhausted governments extricating themselves from the carnage but some leaders were concerned that sooner or later another major war would follow As France's Marshal Foch put it the Treaty of Versailles was only a twenty year truce The overriding concern was to find ways in future of avoiding the kind of static battle fronts that had consumed so many in such futile efforts Military aviation was seen as the one great innovation that had the potential to do this by revolutionizing warfare It would not only augment the effectiveness of ground forces in a tactical role but it also had the means of reaching out strategically beyond the battlefronts to strike at the enemy's trade supplies communications and industrial production All through the war military aviation had been firmly under the control of army commanders but there was soon a fierce debate over the way it should develop The development of an air doctrine within each of the major European powers was fraught with difficulty as the nascent air arms struggled with varying degrees of success to free themselves from army control to find a new independent identity This book examines the way in which these air arms competed for prominence within the military structures of six major European nations Germany Britain France Soviet Union Poland and Italy with different resources ambitions and philosophies in the years from the beginning of aviation right up to the start of the Second World War Air Corps News Letter ,1964 Air Power in the Age of Total War John Buckley,2006-05-09 Warfare in the first half of the 20th century was fundamentally and irrevocably altered by the birth and subsequent development of air power This work assesses the role of air power in changing the face of battle on land and sea Utilizing late 1990s research the author demonstrates that the phenomenon of air power was both a cause and a crucial accelerating factor contributing to the theory and practice of total war For instance the expansion of warfare to the homefront was a direct result of bombing and indirectly due to the extent of national economic mobilization required to support first rate air power status In addition the move away from the principle of total war with the onset of the Cold War and the replacement of air power by ICBMs is thoroughly examined This work should provide students of international history war studies defence and strategic studies with an insight into 20th century warfare The Soviet Air Force in World War II Soviet Union. Ministerstvo oborony, Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. Ministry of Defence,1973 Foundations of Russian Military Flight, 1885-1925 James K Libbey,2019-05-15 Foundations of Russian Military Flight focuses on the early use of balloons and aircraft by the Russian military The best early Russian aircraft included flying boats designed by Dimitrii Grigorovich and large reconnaissance bombers created by Igor Sikorsky As World War I began the Imperial Russian Navy made use of aircraft more quickly than the army Indeed the navy established a precursor to the aircraft carrier The Imperial Russian Army came to respect over time the work of aircraft that evolved from reconnaissance and bomber to fighter planes Over 250 army pilots during the war received awards of high distinction for their wartime flights After the 1917 revolution both the new Bolshevik government and the reactionary White forces created air arms to combat each other In the 1920s the Soviet Union and Germany negotiated agreements that allowed Germany to violate the Treaty of Versailles by building military aircraft and training German military pilots in the USSR This provided the Soviet Union access to the latest aviation technology and prevented them from falling too far behind the West in this crucial sphere Case Studies in Strategic Bombardment R.
