Powell,2009-04-20 Writing Theory and History of the Technology of Civilization traces the origins of writing tied to speech from ancient Sumer through the Greek alphabet and beyond Examines the earliest evidence for writing in Mesopotamia in the fourth millennium BC the origins of purely phonographic systems and the mystery of alphabetic writing Includes discussions of Ancient Egyptian Chinese and Mayan writing Shows how the structures of writing served and do serve social needs and in turn create patterns of social behavior Clarifies the argument with many illustrations The History and Power of Writing Henri-Jean Martin,1994-05-16 Cultural history on a grand scale this immensely readable book the summation of decades of study by one of the world s great scholars of the book is the story of writing from its very beginnings to its recent transformations through technology Traversing four millennia Martin offers a chronicle of writing as a cultural system a means of communication and a history of technologies He shows how the written word originated how it spread and how it figured in the evolution of civilization Using as his center the role of printing in making the written way of thinking dominant

Martin examines the interactions of individuals and cultures to produce new forms of writing in the many senses of authorship language rendition and script Martin looks at how much the development of writing owed to practical necessity and how much to religious and social systems of symbols He describes the precursors to writing and reveals their place in early civilization as mnemonic devices in service of the spoken word The tenacity of the oral tradition plays a surprisingly important part in this story Martin notes and even as late as the eighteenth century educated individuals were trained in classical rhetoric and preferred to rely on the arts of memory Finally Martin discusses the changes to writing wrought by the electronic revolution offering invaluable insights into the influence these new technologies have had on children born into the computer age

A History of Writing Albertine Gaur,1994 Writing as Handwork Colette Sirat,2006 Most research on writing has been from the standpoint either of the system alphabet language etc or the reader Very little has examined the history of writing from the viewpoint of the producer of the handwritten script This book examines Homo sapiens as a writer without separating different kinds of scripts and documents in a particular era and focuses on the physical aspects of scripts There are five dimensions to this wide ranging study writing schools where the art is acquired the design of manuscripts the different kinds of scripts used by writers the postures assumed during writing and the movements it involves and the personal characteristics of handwriting
