History of Technology Volume 29 Ian Inkster,2010-06-15 The common question from the western point of view is of the sort why did China lose its early leadership of productive technologies to Europe during the early modern period Answers to this seemingly clear enquiry vary from general cultural inwardness to the interferences of imperial governance This collection surveys such theories but alters the issue by raising the notion that Chinese technologies did not so much fail as move along a path different from that of Europe Our second collection on the Mindful Hand also shifts common ground by querying and modifying common views of the links between knowledge and technique in early modern European development Scientific or related knowledge was not brought to technique as a socio cultural gift from an educated elite to the working man Rather educated gents practitioners instrument makers craftsfolk and technicians of all kinds intermingled both socially and in terms of the recognition of technical problems as well as in the assemblage of the mental commercial and cognitive resources required to pursue innovative production projects Self-Organization of the Human Mind and the Transition From Paleolithic to Behavioral Modernity Kovalyov, Yury N.,Mkhitaryan, Nver M.,Nitsyn, Alexander Yu.,2019-11-22 There is no common understanding of the concept of the human mind its changes in different historical epochs forecasts for development or its influence on the phenomena of art and culture The connection between the evolution of the mind anatomical changes and social organization are not clear Through the theory of self organization of complex systems the essence of cultural changes in different historical periods and solutions to practical questions in the theory of art and design are better understood Self Organization of the Human Mind and the Transition From Paleolithic to Behavioral Modernity is a critical scholarly resource that examines the development of human consciousness as a realization of the laws of self organization or complex systems The theory of self organization of complex systems uses the mathematical apparatus of the wave model of S space The book also conducts a comparison of theoretical assumptions with specific cultural phenomena that are manifestations of the evolution of the mind Featuring a range of topics such as behavior rationality and culture this book is essential for archaeologists academicians anthropologists researchers sociologists professionals and students No Place to Run Tim Cook, 2011-11-01 Historians of the First World War have often dismissed the important role of poison gas in the battles of the Western Front In No Place to Run however Tim Cook shows that the serious threat of gas did not disappear with the introduction of gas masks By 1918 gas shells were used by all armies to deluge the battlefield and those not instructed with a sound anti gas doctrine left themselves exposed to this new chemical plague Cook uses fascinating primary sources diaries letters reminiscences published memoirs and the official archival record to illustrate the horror of gas warfare for the average trench soldier As the first chlorine clouds rolled across the fields during the 2nd Battle of Ypres soldiers were forced to stuff urine soaked handkerchiefs in their mouths in order to survive As the gas war evolved mustard gas plagued the soldiers at the front as it lay active in mud and snow for weeks on end There was no escape from the pervasive nature of poison gas Entering the dug outs it attacked men when they were least ready In response the Canadian Corps had to develop an anti gas doctrine a process that Cook describes in full No Place to Run provides a challenging re examination of the function of gas warfare in the First World War including its important role in delivering victory in the campaign of 1918 and its curious postwar legacy It will be of interest both to historians and military buffs A Catalogue of Many Thousand Volumes Lately Purchased, Including the Valuable Libraries of the Rev. (Re)Nationalization of Memory Kornelia Kończal,A. Dirk Moses,2023-06-27 This book charts and traces state mandated or state encouraged patriotic histories that have recently emerged in many places around the globe Such patriotic histories can revolve around both affirmative interpretations of the past and celebration of national achievements They can also entail explicitly denialist stances against acknowledging responsibility for past atrocities even to the extent of celebrating perpetrators Whereas in some cases patriotic history takes the shape of a coherent doctrine in others they remain limited to loosely connected narratives By combining nationalist and narcissist narratives and by disregarding or distorting historical evidence patriotic history promotes mythified monumental and moralistic interpretations of the past that posit partisan and authoritarian essentialisms and exceptionalisms Whereas the global debates in interdisciplinary memory studies revolve around concepts like cosmopolitan global multidirectional relational transcultural and transnational memory to mention but a few the actual socio political uses of history remain strikingly nation centred and one dimensional This volume collects fifteen caste studies of such nationalizations of history ranging from China to the Baltic states They highlight three features of this phenomenon the ruthlessness of methods applied by many state authorities to impose certain interpretations of the past the increasing discrepancy between professional and political approaches to collective memory and the new post truth context This book will be of interest to students and researchers of international politics the radical right and global history It was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Genocide Research Queenwood gazette (ed. by the First class).
