Eleven papers extend discussion of the role and importance of the landscape and the wider environment to past societies and to the understanding and interpretation of their material remains into consideration of the significance of the celestial environment the skyscape The role of the sky for past societies has been relegated to the fringes of archaeological discourse Nevertheless archaeoastronomy has developed a new rigour in the last few decades and the evidence suggests that it can provide insights into the beliefs practices and cosmologies of past societies Skyscapes explores the current role of archaeoastronomical knowledge in archaeological discourse and how to integrate the two It shows how it is not only possible but even desirable to look at the skyscape to shed further light on human societies This is achieved by first exploring the historical relationship between archaeoastronomy and academia in general and with archaeology in particular The volume continues by presenting case studies that either demonstrate how archaeoastronomical methodologies can add to our current understanding of past societies their structures and beliefs or how integrated approaches can raise new questions and even revolutionise current views of the past The Chautauquan ,1895 Railway International Passenger and Ticket Agents Journal ,1917

June Scudeler and Sabrina Zacharias Global Indigenous Horror is a collection of essays that positions Indigenous Horror as more than just a genre but as a narrative space where the spectral and social converge where the uncanny becomes a critique and the monstrous mirrors the human While contentions swirl around the genre category this exploratory anthology is the first critical edited collection dedicated solely to ways of theorizing and analyzing Indigenous Horror literature The essays curated by scholar Naomi Simone Borwein ask readers to consider what Global Indigenous Horror is and to whom The volume opens with a preface by international bestselling horror writer Shane Hawk enrolled Cheyenne Arapaho Hidatsa and Potawatomi descent followed by an overview of Global Indigenous Horror trends aesthetics and approaches The carefully selected contributions explore Indigenous Horror literature and mixed media narratives worldwide unraveling the intricate dynamics between the local and global traditional and contemporary and human and monstrous Contributor chapters are grouped not by geographical or cultural variation but along a spectrum from a strong emphasis on ways of knowing to a critical inspection of Horror through Indigenous Gothic aesthetics across cultural boundaries and against and beyond nation states
