The Bad Daughter Joy Fielding, 2018-02-27 A gripping edge of your seat thriller of family intrigue and dark secrets from the author of Someone Is Watching and See Jane Run There was no shortage of words she could use to describe her father almost none of them complimentary Serves you damn right she thought A voice mail from her estranged sister Melanie sends Robin's heart racing and her mind spiraling in a full blown panic attack Melanie's message is dire Their father his second wife and his twelve year old stepdaughter have been shot likely in a home invasion and lie in the hospital in critical condition It's been more than five years since Robin turned her back on her father when he married her best friend Five years since she said goodbye to her hometown of Red Bluff California and became a therapist More than two years since Robin and Melanie have spoken Yet even with all that distance and time and acrimony the past is always with Robin Now she must return to the family she left behind As she attempts to mend fences while her father clings to life Robin begins to wonder if there is more to the tragedy than a botched burglary attempt It seems that everyone Robin's mercurial sister her less than communicative nephew her absent brother and even Tara her father's wife has something to hide And someone may have put them all in grave danger New York Times bestselling author Joy Fielding has written a gripping edge of your seat thriller of family intrigue and dark secrets The Bad Daughter explores the deadly differences between the lies we want to believe and the truths we wish not to know Praise for The Bad Daughter So expert is Joy Fielding at seeding clues that readers will never see the final plot twist coming The acutely portrayed family dynamics lend pathos and a certain schadenfreudian frisson to the proceedings An author who knows her way around suburban angst Kirkus Reviews Fielding a sure hand at psychological suspense amps up tension nicely here as the narrative reaches a high energy conclusion Booklist Keeps the reader turning the pages until the bombshell final shocker Publishers Weekly

The Haunted Air F. Paul Wilson, 2004-04-19 Donated Brother Jacob George Eliot, 2016-01-15 CHAPTER I Among the many fatalities attending the bloom of young desire that of blindly taking to the confectionery line has not perhaps been sufficiently considered How is the son of a British yeoman who has been fed principally on salt pork and yeast dumplings to know that there is satiety for the human stomach even in a paradise of glass jars full of sugared almonds and pink lozenges and that the tedium of life can reach a pitch where plum buns at discretion cease to offer the slightest excitement Or how at the tender age when a confectioner seems to him a very prince whom all the world must envy who breakfasts on macaroons dines on meringues sups on twelfth cake and fills up the intermediate hours with sugar candy or peppermint how is he to foresee the day of sad wisdom when he will discern that the confectioner s calling is not socially influential or favourable to a soaring ambition I have known a man who turned out to have a metaphysical genius incautiously in the period of youthful buoyancy commence his career as a dancing master and you may imagine the use that was made of this initial mistake by opponents who felt themselves bound to warn the public against his doctrine of the Inconceivable He could not give up his dancing lessons because he made his bread by them and metaphysics would not have found him in so much as salt to his bread It was really the same with Mr David Faux and the confectionery business His uncle the butler at the great house close by Brigford had made a pet of him in his early boyhood and it was on a visit to this uncle that the confectioners shops in that brilliant town had on a single day fired his tender imagination He carried home the pleasing illusion that a confectioner must be at once the happiest and the foremost of men since the things he made were not only the most beautiful to behold but the very best eating and such as the Lord Mayor must always order largely for his private recreation so that when his father declared he must be put to a trade

Another Time Vicki Ostenfeld, 2024-02-02 As the tumultuous tide of the Second World War ebbs Frank and Amy stand on the precipice of change their futures hanging in the balance In the waning days of conflict this sergeant of the Australian Army and his counterpart an intrepid Army nurse are compelled to confront the daunting choices that await them as peace promises to restore normalcy With the cessation of war comes the inevitability of their separation

Amy yearns to embrace a new beginning in Sydney with dreams of donning the physician's coat while Frank envisions a pastoral life in Tasmania cultivating world class Merino wool on his family's farm. The question that looms over them is one of compromise: can their individual aspirations weave together to form a shared tapestry of life? Their quest for answers is fraught with dilemmas knowing that each step taken will etch permanent marks on their lives and those of future generations. Spanning half a century, Another Time is a rich tapestry of familial ties, an emotional odyssey through love and loss, fidelity and betrayal set against the rapidly shifting moral landscape of the 20th Century forever altered in the aftermath of conflict.

Semeia 47 Elisabeth Schüssler Fiorenza, 2025-02-20 Semeia 47 is a groundbreaking collection of essays that presents early work by African American and Asian biblical scholars whose influence on biblical hermeneutics pushed the academy beyond historical critical methods toward readings that engaged struggles for justice, self-determination and freedom. Katie Geneva Cannon, Kwok Pui Lan and Vincent L. Wimbush explore theoretical frameworks for biblical interpretation. Cheryl Townsend Gilkes, Renita Weems, Clarice J. Martin and Sheila Briggs's readings of texts from Psalms, Hosea, Acts and Philippians demonstrate liberating responses that challenge Euro-American interpretation and racial rhetoric.
