Ershler, Gary H. Lyman, Martine Extermann, 2004-11-26 The prevention and treatment of cancer in older patients requires an individualized approach as age causes unpredictable results from patient to patient Completely revised and updated the Second Edition of Comprehensive Geriatric Oncology enables clinicians to choose the best possible cancer care Highlighting newly emerging issues in geriatric oncology it helps physicians promote cancer prevention Like its groundbreaking bestselling predecessor this new edition exhaustively reviews the biology of cancer and aging epidemiologic trends and clinical trials that concern cancer prevention and treatment in the elderly New chapters contain material on topics such as assessment fragility symptom management and emergencies and studies the effectiveness of training programs in geriatric oncology The book addresses issues of healthcare delivery including cost and evaluation of utility and outcome suggests new research approaches reviews existing guidelines for the prevention and treatment of cancer in the elderly and more Providing a frame of reference for the ongoing dialogue in the field of geriatric oncology this is a major reference work for basic population and clinical scientists interested in the issue and for practices ministering to older patients New Aspects in the Diagnosis and Treatment of Hodgkin's Disease Volker Diehl, Michael Pfreundschuh, Markus Loeffler, 2012-12-06 In the field of Hodgkin s lymphoma many new data have been collected during the last decade both on the cell of origin of this disease and on more effective therapies to cure the majority of patients even in the advanced stages Therefore it seems to be justified to compile these new data in a special volume of Recent Results in Cancer Research This volume summarizes the contributions presented at the First International Symposium on Hodgkin s Disease that took place in Cologne FRG on October 2-3 1988 There is little doubt that the Hodgkin and Reed Sternberg H and RS cells and their variants represent the malignant population in Hodgkin s lymphoma however there is still a fierce debate as to the possible cell of origin of H and RS cells Many of the problems confounding earlier research into this question were related to the difficulty or virtual impossibility of obtaining purified populations of H and RS cells Most of the recent progress stems from the establishment of permanent cell lines of H and RS cells in culture

Cancer Treatment Reports, 1982      Neoplastic Diseases of the Blood Peter H. Wiernik, 2003-06-09 In this fourth edition of the classic work on malignant blood cancers the team of editors and over 100 international leaders in the field provide a comprehensive text on the diagnosis and treatment of all hematologic malignancies both common and rare The sixty two chapters are divided into sections on Chronic Leukemias and Related Disorders Acute Leukemias Myeloma and Related Disorders Lymphomas and Supportive Care with a devoted editor for each section This extensively revised and updated edition reflects the tremendous progress in the science and treatment of hematologic malignancies during the eight years since the third edition in 1995 Revisions and new chapters include coverage of stem cell transplantation molecular genetics monoclonal antibodies and new treatment modalities The excellent discussions of current therapies for all hematologic neoplasms are more detailed than those in general oncology or hematology texts making this an essential reference for all hematologists and oncologists      NK Cells and Other Natural Effector Cells Ronald B. Herberman, 2012-12-02 NK Cells and Other Natural Effector Cells reviews the state of knowledge on NK cells and other natural effector mechanisms The coverage of immune effector systems ranges from basic studies on their nature regulation and mechanisms of action to important practical issues such as their role in host resistance their modulation by therapeutic intervention and alterations of their activity in disease The book is organized into 12 parts Parts I and II examine the characteristics of NK cells and other natural effector cells respectively Part III focuses on the cell lineage of NK and related effector cells providing evidence for or against T cell lineage for or against macrophage lineage and for or against other or separate lineage Part IV deals with the genetics of natural resistance in the mouse and rat Part V presents studies on the regulation of cytotoxic activity Part VI examines the specificity of natural effector cells covering the nature of target cell structures and the nature of recognition receptors in effector cells Part VII discusses the cytotoxicity by cultured lymphoid cells while Part VIII turns to the mechanisms of cytotoxicity Part IX deals with natural cell mediated reactivity against primary tumor cells and against non tumor targets Part X examines NK cell tumors or the presence of NK cells at the site of tumor growth Part XI presents clinical studies with natural effector cells Part XII provides evidence for in vivo reactivity of natural effector cells      Cancer Metastasis David Lyden, Danny R. Welch, Bethan Psaila, 2011-04-25 Metastasis is responsible for a large burden of morbidity and mortality among cancer patients and currently few therapies specifically target metastatic disease Further scientific dissection of the underlying pathways is required to pave the way for new therapeutic targets This groundbreaking new text comprehensively covers the processes underlying cancer metastasis and the clinical treatment of metastatic disease Whereas previous volumes have been compendia of laboratory research articles the internationally renowned authors of this volume have summarized the state of the art research in the metastasis field A major section covers the cellular and molecular pathways of metastasis and experimental techniques and the systems and models applied in this field Subsequently the clinical aspects of the major cancer types are considered focusing on disease specific research and therapeutic approaches to metastatic disease The focus is on novel pathophysiological insights and emerging therapies future directions for research and unmet clinical needs are also discussed

Controversies in the Management of Lymphomas John M. Bennett, 2012-12-06 Where do you begin to look for a recent authoritative article on the diagnosis or management of a particular malignancy The few general oncology textbooks are generally out of date Single papers in specialized journals are informative but seldom comprehensive these are more often preliminary reports on a very limited number of patients Certain general journals frequently publish good in depth reviews of cancer topics and published symposium lectures are often the best overviews available Unfortunately these reviews and supplements appear sporadically and the reader can never be sure when a topic of special interest will be covered Cancer Treatment and Research is a series of authoritative volumes which aim to meet this need It is an attempt to establish a critical mass of oncology literature covering virtually all oncology topics revised frequently to keep the coverage up to date easily available on a single library shelf or by a single personal subscription We have approached the problem in the following fashion First by dividing the oncology literature into specific subdivisions such as lung cancer genitourinary cancer pediatric oncology etc Second by asking eminent authorities in each of these areas to edit a volume on the specific topic on an annual or biannual basis Each topic and tumor type is covered in a volume appearing frequently and predictably discussing current diagnosis staging markers all forms of treatment modalities basic biology and more

Differential Diagnosis in Orthopaedic Oncology Adam Greenspan, Gernot Jundt, Wolfgang Remagen, 2007 This volume presents both the radiologists and the pathologists approach to differential diagnosis of musculoskeletal tumors and tumor like lesions and details the radiologic and histopathologic features helpful in confirming a diagnosis The book is illustrated with over 1 200 radiographs CT and MR images full color photomicrographs and schematic drawings Tables list important diagnostic features and schematic drawings summarize both radiologic and pathologic differential diagnoses This edition includes state of the art information on PET thin section CT 3 D CT MRI enzyme histochemistry immunohistochemistry flow cytometry cytogenetics and molecular cytogenetics The new co author Gernot Jundt was instrumental in revising the WHO classification of musculoskeletal lesions Illustrations have been updated and improved captions begin with the diagnosis

Cancer Treatment Symposia, 1983

Workshop on Patterns of Failure After Cancer Treatment, 1983 Learning While Caring Samuel Hellman, 2016-11-10 In the last half century a revolution in biology and medicine has taken place bringing about emerging practical philosophical and societal issues with which academia in general and medicine and oncology in particular must grapple One witness to this revolution is Samuel B Hellman a radiation oncologist who has served as Dean of the Pritzker School of Medicine at the University of Chicago Physician in Chief at Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center Chair of Radiation Therapy at Harvard Medical School President of the American Society of Clinical Oncology President of the American Society of Therapeutic Radiology and Oncology and co editor with Dr Vincent DeVita of seven editions of Cancer

Principles and Practice of Oncology the premier oncology text in the world Learning While Caring offers a collection of Dr Hellman s essays and articles in which he delves into the issues brought about by advances and changes in medicine over the last fifty years The essays are organized into five sections Medical Ethics and Learning Academic Medicine Research Perceptions of Cancer and Heroes Each section is introduced by a new commentary from Dr Hellman on the historical aspects and current significance of the issues presented in that section s essays Throughout Dr Hellman interweaves reflections on major aspects of his professional career and the times in which they occurred as examples of the challenges and controversies that confront oncology medicine and academia The book concludes with Summing Up reviewing changes in medical practice and biological science and concluding that despite these huge changes certain things remain the same especially the primary obligation of the doctor to the patient and the need to seek and test new knowledge Dr Hellman writes We are currently at the end of the beginning of the revolution in biology and medicine resulting from the understanding of how genetic information was passed generationally Our capacities are far greater now but the essence of medical practice and our responsibility to the patient remains the same Childhood Cancer: Triumph Over Tragedy J. M. Vaeth,1982-02-08

PET in Clinical Oncology Helmut J. Wieler,2000 PET in Clinical Oncology describes the use of Positron Emission Tomography PET in the diagnosis and management of malignant tumors Experts from Germany and the United States present basics technical details and clinical aspects for both standard and new PET techniques The book illustrates the importance of PET in comparison to other imaging techniques Generously supplemented with charts tables and illustrations each chapter provides the reader with well delineated descriptions from the basic technical situation through the clinical use of PET This book is helpful to all those dealing with the diagnosis and therapy of cancer Flow Cytometry,

Immunohistochemistry, and Molecular Genetics for Hematologic Neoplasms Tsieh Sun,2012-01-19

Immunophenotyping is the most powerful tool in the routine diagnosis of hematologic neoplasms Immunohistochemical technique is used in histology labs for this purpose while flow cytometry is used in clinical labs Although separately these 2 techniques are very useful in detecting lymphomas and leukemias the combination of both creates a very powerful and definitive diagnostic tool The addition of molecular genetics to the book makes it an all encompassing reference text

Tumors of the Bones and Joints Robert E. Fechner,Stacey E. Mills,1993 Cancer, Radiation Therapy, and the Market Barbara Bridgman Perkins,2017-08-16 Appraising cancer as a major medical market in the 2010s Wall Street investors placed their bets on single technology treatment facilities costing 100 300 million each Critics inside medicine called the widely publicized proton center boom crazy medicine and unsustainable public policy There was no valid evidence they claimed that proton beams were more effective than less costly alternatives But developers expected insurance to cover their centers staggeringly high costs and debts Was speculation like this new to health care Cancer Radiation Therapy and the Market shows how the radiation therapy specialty in the United States later called radiation oncology coevolved with its device industry throughout the twentieth century Academic engineers and physicians acquired financing to develop increasingly powerful radiation devices initiated companies to manufacture the devices competitively and designed hospital and freestanding procedure units to utilize them In the process they incorporated market strategies into medical organization and practice Although palliative benefits and striking tumor reductions fueled hopes of curing cancer scientific research all too often found serious patient harm and disappointing beneficial impact on cancer survival This thoroughly documented and provocative inquiry concludes that public health policy needs to re evaluate market driven high tech medicine and build evidence based health care systems

Malignant Lymphomas and Hodgkin's Disease:

Experimental and Therapeutic Advances Franco Cavalli, Gianni Bonadonna, Marcel Rozenzweig, 2012-12-06 Malignant lymphomas remain a fascinating research topic for clinicians as well as basic scientists Rapidly increasing technical sophistication expanded knowledge and broader implications of new findings underline the need for a forum to integrate the latest developments in the multiple areas involved in the challenging study of lymphoid malignancies This volume includes contributions of renowned experts and is based on a selection of papers presented at the Second International Conference on Malignant Lymphomas that was held in Lugano Switzerland in June 1984 Updated information is provided on various experimental fields including cell biology immunology genetics and cell biochemistry Particular attention has been given to special clinical entities such as the lymphomas associated with the Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome Recent advances in the treatment of Hodgkin's disease Non-Hodgkin's lymphomas and childhood lymphomas are highlighted with emphasis on growing experience with new therapeutic approaches including monoclonal antibodies and bone marrow transplantation The contents of the volume reflect and translate numerous avenues of exploration While there might be some unavoidable overlap most appear essentially complementary The intent of the Program Committee of the Second International Conference on Malignant Lymphomas was to promote further interactions between all those who are devoting major efforts to elucidate the nature of these diseases or their optimal therapy This volume will hopefully amplify this objective The Editors wish to thank the contributors for delivering the manuscripts on schedule
