Idea-Based Learning Edmund J. Hansen,2023-07-03 Synthesizing the best current thinking about learning course design and promoting student achievement this is a guide to developing college instruction that has clear purpose is well integrated into the curriculum and improves student learning in predictable and measurable ways The process involves developing a transparent course blueprint focused on a limited number of key concepts and ideas related tasks and corresponding performance criteria as well as on frequent practice opportunities and early identification of potential learning barriers Idea based Learning takes as its point of departure the big conceptual ideas of a discipline that give structure and unity to a course and even to the curriculum as opposed to a focus on content that can lead to teaching sequences of loosely related topics and aligns with notions of student centered and outcomes based learning environments Adopting a backwards design model it begins with three parallel processes first identifying the material that is crucial for conceptual understanding second articulating a clear rationale for how to choose learning outcomes based on student needs and intellectual readiness and finally aligning the learning outcomes with the instructional requirements of the authentic performance tasks The resulting syllabi ensure cohesion between sections of the same course as well as between courses within a whole curriculum assuring the progressive development of students skills and knowledge Key elements of IBL include Helping students see the big picture Building courses around one or more authentic performance tasks that illuminate the core concepts of the discipline Clearly identifying performance criteria for all tasks Incorporating practice in the competencies that are deemed important for students success By placing the onus of learning on the student liberating faculty to take on the role of learning coaches Designing tasks that help students unlearn simplistic ideas and replace them with improved understandings Edmund Hansen expertly guides the reader through the steps of the process providing examples along the way and concluding with a sample course design document and syllabus that illustrate the principles he propounds Holt Science and Technology Holt Rinehart & Winston, Holt, Rinehart and Winston Staff, 2004-01-01 Ate Science Plus 2002 LV Red Holt Rinehart & Winston, 2001-02 Deep Active Learning Kayo Matsushita, 2017-09-12 This is the first book to connect the concepts of active learning and deep learning and to delineate theory and practice through collaboration between scholars in higher education from three countries Japan the United States and Sweden as well as different subject areas education psychology learning science teacher training dentistry and business It is only since the beginning of the twenty first century that active learning has become key to the shift from teaching to learning in Japanese higher education However active learning in Japan as in many other countries is just an umbrella term for teaching methods that promote students active participation such as group work discussions presentations and so on What is needed for students is not just active learning but deep active learning Deep learning focuses on content and quality of learning whereas active learning especially in Japan focuses on methods of learning Deep active learning is placed at the intersection of active learning and deep learning referring to learning that engages students with the world as an object of learning while interacting with others and helps the students connect what they are learning with their previous knowledge and experiences as well as their future lives What curricula pedagogies assessments and learning environments facilitate such deep active learning This book attempts to respond to that question by linking theory with practice Teaching Science for All Children , 2005 This compact paperback volume provides preservice teachers with STRATEGIES AND METHODS of teaching science in the K 8 classroom using Inquiry The authors integrate the NSE standards constructivism and technology into their popular E approach to teaching Exploration Explanation Expansion and Evaluation make up the 4 E s of the learning cycle model first invented by Robert Karplus as part of the Science Curriculum Improvement Study in the 1960s Teaching Science for All Children Inquiry Methods for Constructing Understanding provides methods for future teachers to foster awareness among their students of the nature of science to implement skills in the classroom using science inquiry processes and to develop in their students an
