Hereford Map:

The Hereford Map Scott D. Westrem, 2001 The Hereford Map a depiction of the inhabited world drawn around 1300 is among the largest surviving examples of medieval mappamundi It measures 1 59 meters by ca 1 30 meters 52 1 2 inches by c 52 inches On it appear some 1 091 inscriptions or legends most of these are placed adjacent to a painted figure of what they identify They range from simple place names to long descriptions containing historical ethnographical theological and zoological information The book's introduction offers essential background on the Map's history sources and scholarship Particularly important is an explanation of its close relationship to a text recently discovered Expositio mappe mundi a work most composed a century before the Map was made Right facing pages contain for each legend 1 an exact line for line transcription 2 an edited version of this transcription and 3 an English translation Left facing pages offer commentary on each legend giving information about its literary and cartographical source the item it identifies and textual problems Included in the book is a colour illustration of the entire Map approximately 40% of its actual size as well as detail photographs taken in January 2001 under special conditions enabling readers to see each legend precisely as well as to locate all transcribed and translated text Because of its thorough examination of all aspects of the Map this book is a tribute to the richest most complicated surviving example of medieval cartography as well as an essential tool about medieval culture

The Hereford World Map P. D. A. Harvey, 2006 The famous Hereford world map the Mappa Mundi dates from around 1300 and was painted on one skin of calf parchment In setting the Hereford world map in context Harvey and his 24 collaborators introduce us to medieval ideas of the world and man's place in it The World Map, 1300-1492 Evelyn Edson, 2007-05-30 In the two centuries before Columbus mapmaking was transformed The World Map 1300 1492 investigates this important transitional period of mapmaking Beginning with a 1436 atlas of ten maps produced by Venetian Andrea Bianco Evelyn Edson uses maps of the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries to examine how the discoveries of missionaries and merchants affected the content and configuration of world maps She finds that both the makers and users of maps struggled with changes brought about by technological innovation the compass quadrant and astrolabe rediscovery of classical mapmaking approaches and increased travel To reconcile the tensions between the conservative and progressive worldviews mapmakers used a careful blend of the old and the new to depict a world that was changing and growing before their eyes This engaging and informative study reveals how the ingenuity creativity and adaptability of these craftsmen helped pave the way for an age of discovery Maps and Monsters in Medieval England Asa Simon Mittman, 2013-09-13 This study centers on issues of marginality and monstrosity in medieval England In the middle ages geography was viewed as divinely ordered so Britain's location at the periphery of the inhabitable world caused anxiety among its inhabitants Far from the world's holy center the geographic margins were considered monstrous Medieval geography for centuries scorned as crude is now the subject of several careful studies Monsters have likewise been the subject of recent attention in the growing field of monster studies though few works situate these creatures firmly in their specific historical contexts This book sits at the crossroads of these two discourses geography and monstrosity treated separately in the established scholarship but inseparable in the minds of medieval authors and artists The King's Two Maps Daniel Birkholz,2004-03-01 While a culture may have a dominant way of mapping its geography is always plural and there is always competition among conceptions of space Beginning with this understanding this book traces the map's early development into an emblem of the state and charts the social and cultural implications of this phenomenon This book chronicles the specific technologies both material and epistemological by which the map shows itself capable of accessing organizing and reorienting a tremendous range of information

Maps and Travel in the Middle Ages and the Early Modern Period Ingrid Baumgärtner, Nirit Ben-Aryeh Debby, Katrin Kogman-Appel, 2019-03-04 The volume discusses the world as it was known in the Medieval and Early Modern periods focusing on projects concerned with mapping as a conceptual and artistic practice with visual representations of space and with destinations of real and fictive travel Maps were often taken as straightforward objective configurations However they expose deeply subjective frameworks with social political and economic significance Travel narratives whether illustrated or not can address similar frameworks Whereas travelled space is often adventurous and speaking of hardship strange encounters and danger city portraits tell a tale of civilized life and civic pride The book seeks to address the multiple ways in which maps and travel literature conceive of the world communicate a Weltbild depict space and or define knowledge The volume challenges academic boundaries in the study of cartography by exploring the links between mapmaking and artistic practices The contributions discuss individual mapmakers authors of travelogues mapmaking as an artistic practice the relationship between travel literature and mapmaking illustration in travel literature and imagination in depictions of newly explored worlds

The Tithe Maps of England and Wales Roger J. P. Kain, Richard R. Oliver, 1995-07-20 A reference work on the tithe maps of England and Wales for historians geographers and lawyers

Nomadic Cinema Alison Griffiths, 2025-04-15 From In Borneo the Land of the Head Hunters to The Epic of Everest to Camping Among the Indians the early twentieth century was the heyday of expedition filmmaking As new technologies transformed global transportation and opened new avenues for documentation and as imperialism and capitalism expanded their reach Western filmmakers embarked on journeys to places they saw as exotic seeking to capture both the monumental and the mundane Their films portrayed far flung locales the hardships of travel and the day to day lives of Indigenous people through a deeply colonial lens Nomadic Cinema is a groundbreaking history of these films analyzing them as visual records of colonialism that also offer new possibilities for recognizing Indigenous histories Alison Griffiths examines expedition films made in Borneo Central Asia Tibet Polynesia and the American Southwest reinterpreting them from decolonial perspectives to provide alternative accounts of exploration She considers the individuals and institutions including the American Museum of Natural History responsible for creating the films the spectators who sought them out and the Indigenous intermediaries whose roles white explorers minimized Ambitious and interdisciplinary Nomadic Cinema ranges widely from the roots of expedition films in medieval cartography and travel writing to still emerging technologies of virtual and augmented reality Highlighting the material conditions of filmmaking and the environmental footprint left by exploration this book recovers Indigenous memory and sovereignty from within long buried sources Geography ,1920 A World Transformed Lisa Deam,2015-03-30 On the edge of medieval maps monsters roam In the west pilgrims take well traveled roads to Rome and Compostela In the east Old Testament history unfolds And at the center in the city of Jerusalem Jesus saves the world In A World Transformed Lisa Deam takes us on an incredible journey through medieval maps Despite their curious appearance these maps as Deam shows are surprisingly modern In their monstrous marvelous sights lie treasure troves of wisdom to guide twenty first century Christians on their walk with God Each chapter in this geographical journey links medieval maps to biblical concepts and spiritual practices that transform our faith and our world Mapping Narrations - Narrating Maps Ingrid Baumgärtner,2022-06-06 This volume offers the author s central articles on the medieval and early modern history of cartography for the first time in English translation A first group of essays gives an overview of medieval cartography and illustrates the methods of cartographers Another analyzes world maps and travel accounts in relation to mapped spaces A third examines land surveying cartographical practices of exploration and the production of Portolan atlases

Experiencing Medieval Art Herbert L. Kessler,2019-09-10 Across the nine thematic chapters of Experiencing Medieval Art renowned art historian Herbert L Kessler considers functional objects as well as paintings and sculptures the circumstances processes and materials of production the conflictual relationship between art objects and notions of an ineffable deity the context surrounding medieval art and questions of apprehension aesthetics and modern presentation He also introduces the exciting discoveries and revelations that have revolutionized contemporary understanding of medieval art and identifies the vexing challenges that still remain With 16 color plates and 81 images in all including the stained glass of Chartres Cathedral the mosaics of San Marco and the Utrecht Psalter as well as newly discovered works such as the frescoes in Rome s aula gotica and a twelfth century aquamanile in Hildesheim Experiencing Medieval Art makes the complex history of medieval art accessible for students of art history and scholars of medieval history theology and literature Geography and Religious Knowledge in the Medieval World Christoph Mauntel,2021-06-08 In the medieval world geographical knowledge was influenced by religious ideas and beliefs Whereas this point is well analysed for the Latin Christian world the religious character of the Arabic Islamic geographic tradition has not yet been scrutinised in detail This volume addresses this desideratum and combines case studies from both traditions of geographic thinking The contributions comprise in depth analyses of individual geographical works as for example those of al Idrisi or Lambert of Saint Omer different forms of presenting geographical knowledge such as TO diagrams or globes as well as performative aspects of studying and meditating geographical knowledge Focussing on texts as well as on maps the contributions open up a comparative perspective on how religious knowledge influenced the way the world and its geography were perceived and described in the medieval world

Cartographies of Exclusion Asa Simon Mittman, 2024-06-18 From the battles over Jerusalem to the emergence of the Holy Land from legally mandated ghettos to the Edict of Expulsion geography has long been a component of Christian Jewish relations Attending to world maps drawn by medieval Christian mapmakers Cartographies of Exclusion brings us to the literal drawing board of Christendom and shows the creation in real time of a mythic state intended to dehumanize the non Christian people it ultimately sought to displace In his close analyses of English maps from the twelfth and thirteenth centuries Asa Mittman makes a valuable contribution to conversations about medieval Christian perceptions of Jews and Judaism Grounding his arguments in the history of anti Jewish sentiment and actions rampant in twelfth and thirteenth century England Mittman shows how English world maps of the period successfully Othered Jewish people by means of four primary strategies conflating Jews with other groups spreading libels about Jewish bodies beliefs and practices associating Jews with Satan and most importantly cartographically mislocating Jews in time and space On maps Jews were banished to locations and historical moments with no actual connection to Jewish populations or histories Medieval Christian anti Semitism is the foundation upon which modern anti Semitism rests and the medieval mapping of Jews was crucial to that foundation Mittman's thinking offers essential insights for any scholar interested in the interface of cartography politics and religion in premodern Europe

The Art, Science, and Technology of Medieval Travel Robert Odell Bork, Andrea Kann, 2008 This sixth volume in the AVISTA series considers medieval travel from a variety of interdisciplinary perspectives placing the physical practice of transportation in the larger context of medieval thought about the world and its meaning The papers included cover vehicle design and logistical management the practicalities of how travellers oriented themselves and the symbolism of the landscapes and maps created in the Middle Ages

A History of the World in 12 Maps Jerry Brotton, 2013-11-14 A New York Times Bestseller Maps allow the armchair traveler to roam the world the diplomat to argue his points the ruler to administer his country the warrior to plan his campaigns and the propagandist to boost his cause rich and beautiful Wall Street Journal Throughout history maps have been fundamental in shaping our view of the world and our place in it But far from being purely scientific objects maps of the world are unavoidably ideological and subjective intimately bound up with the systems of power and authority of particular times and places Mapmakers do not simply represent the world they construct it out of the ideas of their age In this scintillating book Jerry Brotton examines the significance of 12 maps from the almost mystical representations of ancient history to the satellite derived imagery of today He vividly recreates the environments and circumstances in which each of the maps was made showing how each conveys a highly individual view of the world Brotton shows how each of his maps both influenced and reflected contemporary events and how by considering it in all its nuances and omissions we can better understand the world that produced it Although the way we map our surroundings is more precise than ever before Brotton argues that maps today are no more definitive or objective than they have ever been Readers of this beautifully illustrated and masterfully argued book will never look at a map in quite the same way again A fascinating and panoramic new history of the cartographer's art The Guardian The intellectual background to these images is conveyed with beguiling erudition There is nothing more subversive than a map The Spectator A mesmerizing and beautifully illustrated book The Telegraph
